Runaway

Had it not been for a weight which retarded the progress of a runaway horse attached to a heavily loaded wagon of the Waltham tallow company, a serious accident would doubtless have occurred in Nonantum square Monday morning. As it was numerous pedestrians narrowly escaped being run down and the heavy wagon was overturned, narrowly missing the plate glass windows of a Washington-street store.

The outfit was standing front of Hayden's market about 8:30 o'clock, the wagon heavily loaded with barrels of market refuse, when the horse took fright at an automobile.

With the weight bumping along beside him the animal dashed through Nonantum square into Washington street towards Boston, swung dangerously near several Boston elevated surface cars which were waiting at the square and then turned back into the other side of Washington street. The wheels struck the curb and the wagon went over with a crash. The contents of the barrels were scattered over the sidewalk in every direction. The horse escaped with a few scratches.

Stolen Milk

Mystery surrounding the frequent disappearance of the Sunday morning supply of milk from certain dwellings in Auburndale was cleared up by the arrest Sunday of Daniel Parkinson, 27 years old, living on Concord avenue, Lexington, the police believe. In court Monday morning Parkinson was charged with the larceny of three quarts of milk from the doorstep of Edward Torsenson's house and was fined $10. Thefts of full milk jars Sunday mornings became so numerous in Auburndale that early Sunday patrolmen Dolan and Bates concealed themselves in one of Torsenson's buildings before daylight and awaited developments. As a result of the vigil they arrested Parkinson, himself a milkman, about 5 o'clock, having caught him, it is alleged, in the act of taking three quarts of milk from the house.

Base Ball

Newton high and Ringe manual training schools played a 12-inning tie game, 5 to 5 Friday afternoon on the Newton A. A. grounds at Newton Centre. The contest was one of the best high school games played here in recent years. Newton high took the lead by scoring one run in the first and following with two in the third and one each in the fourth and fifth innings. Ringe then took a decided brace and scored one in the sixth and four in the ninth. The rest of the game was a veritable pitchers' battle and at the end of 12 innings neither team had scored again. The game was then called on account of darkness. The star playing took place in the ninth inning. James came to the bat first for Ringe and fanned. Skilton scored a home run. Clark went out on a fly to Donahue, and Hugelmann got a single, reaching third base on a single by Harrington. A bad throw to first by Eaton then let home Hugelmann and Harrington, putting Newton on third base. O'Brien made a single and Horgan scored. Hayes went out on a fly to Ely, retiring the team. Bradford pitched a star game for Newton high, striking out 18 and allowing but one base on balls. Ryan played a good game at first base and the fielding was generally excellent. O'Brien, who went into the box during the last of the game for Ringe, made an unusual record. In the last three innings he struck out three men in each inning and allowed three men to reach first on balls.

Real Estate

Through the office of John T. Burns, 363 Centre street, Newton, the Hills estate, 96 Shorncliffe road, Newton, has been sold to Mr. E. W. Hodgson of Hyde Park. This property is in the Farlow Hill district and consists of a 10 room house and 13,000 feet of land, the whole being assessed for $9400. Mr. Hodgson will occupy the house.

Through the above office the furnished house at 56 Elliott street, has been rented to Mr. A. S. Campbell of Newton. Also the house at 124 Boyd street, Newton, to Mr. H. F. Arnold, Jr.

Henry H. Read has leased Mrs. Geo.

B. King's house, No. 284 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands, to Mr. Edward H. Rohey of Boston.

Through the office of Alvord Bros., the following houses have been rented. Newton Centre: 177 Homer street, for W. B. Young to Mr. W. M. Beckett; 139 Langley road, for J. R. Underwood to A. S. Bailey; Dudley street, for H. G. Pearson to Francis Allen; 86 Oxford road, for Clara L. B. Nichols to Benjamin Dobson; 20 Oxford road, for H. E. Habcock to L. F. Eaton. Newton Highlands: 1564 Centre street, for E. J. Lane to E. G. Bailey. Newton: 34 Channing street, for L. G. Neville to C. E. Felch. Newtonville: 11 Washington terrace, for Dr. Rollins to W. M. Morse. West Newton: 262 Otis street, for E. E. Adams to W. E. Farrington. Auburndale: 112 Woodbine street, for the Mason estate to D. Mikol.

Two very noticeably Newton transfers of real estate have gone to record and comprise the two largest individual sales which have been made in the Auburndale district for several years. One was the Benjamin F. Hackett estate on Woodland road comprising house and 1 1/2 acres of land all assessed for $1500, and sold to Dr. A. C. Warren of Mass. Tech. The other was the Ida H. Jarvis estate on Central street, comprising an acre of land with large house, stable and outhouses, all assessed for $9500. Though terms in both cases were private it is understood that the first mentioned place sold very much in excess to assessed valuation and the latter about valuation. E. Arthur Robinson was the broker in both cases.

"Cupid M. D." Selections Out

The words and music of "My Teddy Bear", sung with so much success at the recent production of "Cupid M. D." at the Hunnewell club, have been published and placed on sale at Hubbard's drug store, Newton. Two other numbers, "My Love and I" and "We Are Going to be Married" are in preparation and will be out next week. The publication of these very pleasing songs, music by Henry T. Wade and lyrics by Leverett Bentley, has come in response to a very popular demand. The Graphic has already spoken of the genuine merit which they possess and that opinion is shared by all who have heard them. Copies of the songs may be bought for 25 cents each.

Police Paragraphs

The beautiful and artistic Gas and Electric Table Lamps as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin, corner Congress Sts., Boston, make most acceptable Wedding Gifts. In their show rooms may be seen one thousand lamps lighted at one time.

J. F. Robbaa, a tailor living at 40 Homer street, Newton Centre, was arraigned in court Monday morning for alleged assault and battery on Frederick W. Bakeman of 51 Cypress street, Newton Centre. He was found guilty and fined $25, which he paid. Bakeman testified that he had gone into an express office in the same building occupied by Robbaa's shop to pay a bill. Robbaa, he asserted, started an altercation, chased him out onto the street and drew a revolver.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Will you be so kind as to correct a statement made in the GRAPHIC of April 12 to the effect that the testimony of the Police Officers in the recent suit in the U. S. District Court, Mrs. McGuirk versus four police officers, was of such a character that it was whispered, "I was present during the four days of the trial and solemnly affirm that the said testimony was given in a clear voice that was distinctly heard any where in the Court Room."

The last joint whist with the Newton club was played Monday evening. The Newton club men, as usual, winning first place. The scores were as follows:

Delano and Copeland plus 9
Hall and Snyder 7
Marston and Sherman 7
Gleason and Marble 7
Cummings and Buffum 5
Priest and Brown 5
Watson and Brimblecom 1
Sprague and Forbes minus 2
Eustis and Edmonds 4
Sawyer and Miller 4
Marshall and Sampson 6
Uhlir and Smith 10
White and Bonney 12

CITY HALL NOTES

Mr. Frank H. Howes has been elected chairman of the trustees of the Free Library, in place of the late Edwin B. Haskell.

Col. Kingsbury, the City Clerk, is in Washington, D. C., attending the dedication of the monument to General McClellan by the Society of the Army of the Potomac.

The assessors started this week on their annual roundup of taxable property. Success to their efforts.

The breaking of a carboy of formaldehyde last week in iCity Hall cellar caused considerable discomfort to the employees in the basement offices.

At the civil service examination Tuesday, four were examined for clerks, four for firemen and six for police.

No summer season by a stock company ever opened in this city under more encouraging conditions than did John Craig's last Monday at the Globe Theatre, and in the choice of the Belasco play, "The Heart of Maryland", this popular actor made a wise selection for crowded houses have been the rule all of the week. The play is one that possesses all the requisite elements for popularity. It tells a remarkable strong story, one that holds the attention of an audience to the very last. Thus with its splendid opportunities for scenic embellishment, its good character drawing and its famous belfry act—the curfew swinging by Maryland Calvert which always arouses an audience to a wild state of enthusiasm, it is no wonder that Mr. Craig is constrained to keep the piece on for a second week. Both Mr. Craig as Colonel Alan Kendrick and Mary Young as Maryland Calvert have won great praise for their splendid work all this past week.

Charles W. Ellis

—Mr. Charles W. Ellis died at his home on Highland avenue Saturday of heart trouble after a long and painful illness. He was formerly in business in New York and was a late member of the Produce Exchange of that city. He retired from business a few years ago. Deceased was a native of Newton and was 70 years of age. He is survived by a widow, who was the daughter of the late Ex-Gov. William Claflin, and two daughters, the Misses Mar. A. and Annie Ellis. Funeral services were held from the Newton Cemetery Chapel Tuesday at two o'clock, Rev. J. T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Congregational church, officiating. Mr. Anthony B. Reese sang two favorite hymns of the deceased, "What Ere My God Ordains Is Right," and, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The remains were placed in the receiving tomb.

Y. M. C. A.

At 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Cabot park, the first of a series of games for the championship of Newton will be played between the newly organized Newton Independents and the crack Y. M. C. A. team. Each team has won one game this season, the Independents having defeated the Watertowns on April 19th, 23-3 and on last Saturday the Y. M. C. A. downed the Waltham Athletics 6-5, after 10 innings of good fast work.

The game this week will undoubtedly be a pitcher's battle, for Sullivan of the Independents is in grand form, while Howard and Hanson let down the Athletics with 2 and 3 hits respectively. The teams will line up as follows:

Independents. Y. M. C. A.
Donahue 2nd base Chase
Lewis 3rd base Thomas Sullivan 1st base Stanton
Reagan left field Haskell
Cavanaugh centre field Day
W. Sullivan pitcher Howard

Lyons catcher Barry
White short stop La Rose
Hession right field Howard

Clubs and Lodges

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular druggist printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

Our representatives at the General Court, Messrs. Lothrop, Garcelon and Bishop have worthily upheld the city of Newton in the various matters which have recently been acted upon. All were recorded on the right, but unfortunately unpopular side of the bill giving Spanish War veterans, 15 per cent bonus on all civil service examinations. They were also on the right side of the proposition to spend nearly $100,000 for purchase of militia uniforms this year instead of apportioning that amount over three years. As Newton pays one fifth-th of the state tax, our individual share of this one item is nearly $2,000.

The speeches and discussions before the Civic Club this week were intensely interesting, altho on a wide range of topics. Dr. Spaulding gave an exceedingly practical talk on the reasons and proposed work of the coming technical high school. Mr. Powers made a strong plea against competition in telephone service and was in his usual happy vein.
Mr. Whitney told some interesting facts about our water system and cleverly avoided the question of meter rates.
Congressman Weeks spoke strongly against the present criticism of public service corporations, particularly railroads. All in all it was a most instructive meeting.

We hope all our readers have seen Police Commissioner O'Meara's strong letter in the Boston papers this week,
urging the defeat of the bill giving Spanish War Veterans 15 per cent bonus on all civil service examinations. He shows clearly the effect it would have on the Boston police department, an effect which, in a limited degree would be felt in Newton. Kill the bill.

The new ordinance prohibiting the throwing or placing of rubbish or waste in the public streets is evidently unknown and is certainly not enforced. Let every one get into the Boston habit and refrain from throwing old newspapers, banana skins, and like waste matter about the streets.

Civic Club

The spring meeting of this club, composed of present and past members of the Newton city government, was held at the Newton clubhouse, Newtonville, Tuesday evening. President Henry Bally was in the chair and the speakers and guests were Congressman John W.
Weeks, Hon. Samuel L. Powers, both members of the club, Supt. of Schools Spaulding and Water Commissioner J.
C. Whitney.

Capt. Weeks gave a most interesting address on Railroads referring humorously to the New York Central situation as to local transportation and then stating in his usual concise and convincing manner, the railroad situation in the entire country. He deplored the effect the recent criticism on railroad management was having on well governed roads and the difficulty good public service corporations were having in consequence in financing large enterprises.

Mr. Powers said he ought to have had the subject of railroads assigned him as he was president of more railway corporations than any man present. He spoke most entertainingly on the subject of telephones, showing the enormous growth in the last twenty years, asserting that the United States had more than two-thirds of the telephones of the world. Brookline with 1 telephone to each 5 inhabitants had the most telephones in the country. Newton had 1 telephone to each 7 of population and Boston had the most telephones of any large city. Mr. Powers gave arguments against competition in the telephone business and showed how the average price of telephones had been reduced over one half during the past ten years.

Dr. Spaulding spoke on the proposed new technical high school. He told of the great need for such a school, on account of the great changes in out-of-school educational facilities; the need of some training of the hands by the professional man, the advantages to those in mercantile and mechanical industries.
Training of girls to be better home makers was especially emphasized by Dr.
Spaulding and his remarks were given the closest attention.

Mr. Whitney, the Water Commissioner, told the Club about the water system, its possibilities for the future, and suggested the raising of the dam at Upper Falls in order to increase the water bearing area above that point. Some interesting questions were ready to be asked Mr. Whitney bearing on meter rent and water rates, but the lateness of the hour shut off what might have been a most interesting discussion.

A light lunch followed the speaking.

Spilled Milk

A Wauwasset Farm milk wagon driven by George Davis, while crossing the tracks Wednesday morning, at Centre and Lyman streets was struck by an electric car. Two wheels were knocked off, numerous bottles broken and the wagon put out of commission. The driver jumped and escaped with slight bruises.

Country Circus Coming

The finance committee of the Mothers Rest Association assisted by a score or more of energetic sub-committees composed of about a hundred prominent Newton ladies, announce a most attractive and unique out of door entertainment to be given on the Cedar street grounds at Newton Centre, Saturday, May 25th, for the benefit of this very popular charity.

A host of substantial attractions will be presented under the general scheme of a Country Circus and will include performances in the ring by clowns and mock animals, a vaudeville entertainment and an endless variety of side shows, sale and amusement booths calculated to ensure a gala Field Day.

Music will be furnished by the famous Eighth Regiment Band under the leadership of Mr. Harry E. Stiles. Opportunities will be afforded for a trip by automobile through the Newtons and Wellesley.

The popular interest in this affair and the enthusiasm of the participants are extraordinary, and if weather conditions prove favorable, the Country Circus will afford enjoyment to thousands.

Dike-Roberts

At the residence of Mrs. Coolidge S.
Roberts, 157 Brattle street, Cambridge, last Tuesday afternoon her daughter Miss Elita Caswell Roberts was united in marriage to Mr. George Phillips Dike of Abundance, Rev. Dr. Samuel W.
Dike, father of the groom, was the officiating clergyman. Miss Cecile Roberts, sister of the bride was maid of honor and Mr. Theodore Dike, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Ray P. Woodin of New York,
Charles W. Blood of Abundance, Wm.
G. Blauvelt of Boston and Howard L.
Blackwell of Cambridge.

Mr. Adams

Mr. Walter R. Adams died Wednesday at his home on Jewett street, Newton, of pneumonia after a brief illness.
He was a native of Ashburnham, where he was born 67 years ago. A widow survives him. He was attendant at Channing church. A short prayer service was held at the house Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock and the remains were taken to Ashburnham today for the funeral and burial.

Clubs and Lodges

The 88th anniversary of Odd Fellowship was celebrated by Newton Lodge and Tennyson Rebekah Lodge in Odd Fellow's hall, West Newton, last Friday evening. Over 300 members and friends were present. An entertainment of music and readings was given from 8 to 9.30
and dancing was enjoyed from 10 to 12.
The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mesdames Minnie L. Thayer, Nettie J. Cushing, Annie L. Stewart, Fabria Spott, Esther Bacon, Elizabeth
K. Wood, Selma Barlow, Josie Robertson and Messrs. Charles F. Harrington, Lester Cushing, James R. Stewart,
Frank F. McIntyre and Benjamin F.
Barlow.

A. O. H.

The ladies' auxiliary of division 22, A.
O. H., held a whist party and social last Friday evening in A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton. There was a large attendance from this city and neighboring places. Whist was played from 8 to 10, the gentlemen's prizes being awarded to James Harold of Waltham first, Daniel Hannigan of Newton Centre second and the consolation prize to Thomas M.
Spelman of Newton, of Newton. The ladies' prizes were awarded to Mrs. William Ahern first, Miss Nellie Bryson second and Miss Stanley consolation.
After the card playing there were refreshments and dancing. The committee of arrangements included Misses Fannie Healey, Margaret Kehoe, Margaret Murphy, May Hoey and Nellie Neville.

The bazaar under the auspices of ladies' auxiliary of division 10, A. O. H., last Friday evening attracted another large patronage to Mague hall, West Newton. The entertainment consisted of solos by Miss Margaret Rosser of Waltham, violin selections by Michael Herlihy and other specialties by a number of young people, including William Powers, Miss May McBride, Willie
Foley, Miss Evelyn Lyons, Miss Esther
Costello and Miss Etta Burke. Dancing
followed.

High School Notes

The base ball team played an interesting twelve inning game with the Rindge Manual Training school team on last Friday. The game, which resulted in a tie, 5 to 5, was called off on account of darkness. Both pitchers played a number of young people, including Wil-
Foley, Miss Evelyn Lyons, Miss Esther
followed.

Newton defeated Mechanic Arts in one of the slowest games of base ball ever played at the Cedar Street grounds, last Tuesday, by a score of 4 to 1. Both teams fielded and hit poorly.
On Wednesday the base ball team played a record game at Dorchester. After battling for nineteen innings the game was stopped by darkness. It was the greatest exhibition of school baseball ever played in this section of the country, neither side having scored during the game. The Newton team's fielding was phenomenal. Dorchester, however, excelled in her pitcher, who made 29 strikes out, which is a record that will stand for sometime. Eaton, Newton's third baseman, played a fine game, making a double play unassisted in the fifteenth inning. Hoernle, Dorchester's catcher, proved himself to be a marvellous man behind the bat. It is hoped that the two teams will meet again with a more satisfactory result.

The out-door track athletics are coming along in fine style. A team will represent the school at the Harvard inter-scholastic meet May 23 is the date set for the inter-class games and May 31
for the dual meet with Brookline.

A tennis tournament for the boys is being held on the courts of the Brae Burn Country Club.

The annual girls' drill takes place to-

Sent to Truant School

Fearing the consequences of an appearance in court, Thomas F. Purdy, 12 years old, living at 10 Remington place, West Newton, "decamped from home at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning after his father had taken the precaution to lock up the lad's clothes. That night he was rounded up in Natick, clad in an old pair of trousers, a straw hat and an overcoat.
In a juvenile session of the court yesterday morning he was sent to the truant school at Chelmsford. The Purdy boy, the police say, has led a wild west career. He was wanted for alleged breaking into a Washington-street, West Newton, fruitstore with three other boys, from which cigars, cigarettes, candy and pies were missing. Previous to this, the police say, the boy and three others appropriated a carriage at West Newton and drove to their hearts' content for several hours. The lad was located by patrolmen Kyte and Mullen and summoned to appear in the juvenile session Thursday. Thinking that he might run away the lad's father locked up the boy's clothes when he put him to bed Tuesday night. At 4 Wednesday morning the boy was apparently sleeping soundly in his room, according to his father. A short time later he climbed out of a window and started on foot toward Natick. When found in that town he was cold, tired and hungry and turned over to the police of this city. The boy seemed pleased to secure a good meal and a warm place to sleep. The charge made against him was truancy. It was brought out in the juvenile session, which was private, that the boy frequently slipped out of his warm bed at night and quietly stole into haylofts to slumber amid their fragrance. It was also asserted that he had been a ringleader in various diodes of his "gang." It is thought that reading yellow-covered literature may be responsible for the boy's actions.

Organ Recital

Eliot church was well filled last evening with an appreciative audience, to listen to the organ recital given by Mr. S.
Archer Gibson of New York, assisted by Mr. Edward P. Johnson, tenor soloist.
The program was classically popular if such an expression is allowable, and Mr. Gibson's wonderful playing was greatly enjoyed. The delicacy of his touch was exquisite, particularly in the closing strains of Gullmunt's Canon, when only the sharpest ear could detect the repetition of the general theme, as th music died away.

Mr. Johnson's singing was a feature of the evening, although the accompaniment was a trifle too loud for the best results.

After the close of the program, Mr.
Gibson improvised for a half hour for those who remained, part of the time with the church in darkness.

Miss Carey Dead

Miss Mary C. Carey, widely known for her charitable work, died last Sunday morning at her home, 329 River street, West Newton, at the age of 65 years. The funeral services were held Tuesday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edward Costello, 89 Lexington street, Abundance, followed by solemn high mass at the St. Bernard's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Edward Costello of Brookline, a nephew, was the celebrant.
Rev. C. J. Galligan of West Newton, deacon, Rev. Francis Cronin sub deacon, and Rev. John Quigley, master of ceremonies. The bearers, all nephews, were Walter E. Costello, James J. Costello,
John M. Costello, of West Newton, John
Carey, William Carey and Edward Carey of Natick. Impressive services were also held at the grave, where a large number of relatives and friends assembled, including many clergymen from different parts of the diocese.

Mill Workers' Strike

The building material workers in this city went on a strike May 1st for a standard wage of 42 cents an hour, whereas the employers are now paying a sliding scale based on the mechanic's fitness. The mills affected are those of M. Frank Lucas, West Newton, the Wentworth Lister Co. at Newtonville and Burnham Bros., Newton Centre. The employers agreed to a 48 hour week last year and state that as their competitors in other parts of the state work their men 38 hours a week and pay some 40 per cent less wages, they are unable to get the business which they otherwise might.

Th places of the strikers are being filled so that no great embarrassment is expected.

Woman's World

The Council Meeting

The Council of the General Federation will meet June 3-6, 1907, at Norfolk, Virginia. One session will be held at the Jamestown Exposition, June 6, having been designated as "Federation Day."

Norfolk having a large and flourishing woman's club, and being in close proximity to the Jamestown Exposition grounds, was unanimously chosen by the Council Committee as the city for the meeting. The matter of headquarters for the Council has not been fully settled, but it will probably be the new fireproof and commodious hotel, The Lynhaven, which will open April 1. This hotel has a large assembly-room, which will accommodate about 500 persons. The morning, afternoon, and evening sessions of June 5 and the morning session of June 6 will probably be held in this assembly-room. The last and concluding session of the Council will be held in Exposition Hall on the Jamestown Exposition grounds in the afternoon of June 6 at two o'clock.

The function of the Council is "to consider and promote the interests of the General Federation of Women's Clubs." The Board of Directors, the Presidents of all Federation, clubs, and other organizations directly federated, and all General Federation Secretaries constitute the voting body of the Council, but all club women are welcome to the meetings.

The Council meetings, coming as they do between biennials, are a great stimulus to the work of the General Federation—the greatest organization of women's interests in the world. Subjects of vital moment to every homemaker, who is our typical club woman, will be considered in the informal reports of the Standing Committees on Art, Education, Household Economics, Pure Food, Civics, Library Extension, Literature, Forestry, Industrial and Child Labor, Legislative, Civil Service Reform, Reciprocity and Outlook. These reports give opportunities for noting progress along all lines of work since the St. Paul Biennial in May, 1906, and are an incentive towards further achievement for the great Biennial in Boston in June, 1908. Special attention will be given the Bureau of Information established by the General Federation, and which has more than 800 outlines of study, prepared by experts for the use of clubs. During the Council, Mr. Henry T. Bailey, of Boston, will deliver a lecture on "Beauty in Common Things," and, in addition to other speakers, Miss Jane Brownlee, formerly of Toledo, Ohio, but now of San Diego, California, and a noted instructor, will address the Council on "Moral Education in Schools." These are topics of surpassing interest to every wife, mother, and daughter in our clubs. The meetings are informal, and they give much information, they also widen the intellectual and practical outlook, and are helpful to all who attend.

A large attendance is expected, as many will embrace this fine opportunity to enjoy the beauties of the Jamestown Exposition. Details as to program, place of meeting, hotel rates, etc., will be announced next month by the Committee of Arrangements, Mrs. Guy R. C. Allen, Chairman, Mrs. William P. Orr, Mrs. Philip Carpenter.—Federation Bulletin.

The Waban Woman's Club met Monday afternoon, April 22, at Waban hall. Being children's afternoon Mr. McLaughlin of Arlington entertained those present with his "Pixes." The little performers were very realistic and graceful while dancing to the music. The little "acrobat" performed especially well. The next meeting will be at the house of Mrs. B. H. Davidson, Plainfield street, May 6. It will be the annual meeting and "tea."

The annual meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held at the old Unitarian church, West Newton, on April 26. The annual report showed the club to be in a prosperous condition with a substantial sum in the treasury with which to begin the new year. The following list of officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Harriet C. Harrison; vice-presidents, Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, Mrs. M. Theresa Kow, Miss Anselma Davis, Mrs. Lavinia E. Brown; recording secretary, Mrs. Blanche L. Booth; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Euphemia P. Dow; treasurer, Miss Jessie M. Fisher; auditor, Mrs. E. Josephine Kimball; directors for three years, Mrs. A. Mabel Wells; Mrs. Celia P. Thompson; Mrs. Lillie G. Earl; Mrs. Christine Porter; delegates to Newton City Federation, Mrs. Electa Walton, Mrs. Czarina Hunt, Mrs. Estelle Robinson, Miss Susan Whiting. A sum of money was voted towards the expenses of the president to attend the meeting of the Council of the General Federation at Jamestown in June. Supper was served under the direction of the Hospitality Committee, after which a short time was given to the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Longfellow. The company then adjourned to the room below where they were entertained by the Hayden Trio and Miss Nina Pearce Wilbur, dramatic reader and impersonator.

The annual meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the New Church, Newtonville, Tuesday, May 7, at 2.30. Annual reports of officers of the chairman of committees, of the presidents of the clubs, and the election of officers for another year. Final notices concerning the Bazaar will be given.

The Ladies' Home Circle will hold its annual meeting at Pomroy Home on Wednesday afternoon, May 8, at 2.30.

The Newton Equal Suffrage League will meet with Mrs. N. T. Allen, 35 Webster street, West Newton, Friday evening, May 3rd. Mr. Nerves Panzanti, formerly Armenian Prelate of Persia, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell and others will speak on "The Women of Armenia." Henry H. Blackwell and Mrs. Bertha S. Panzanti will read translations of Armenian poems; Mrs. Herrion and a chorus of Armenian girls in costume will sing Armenian songs; and there will be a violin and piano duet by Master Rupen Eksergian and Miss Newton Eksergian.

The regular meeting of the Social Science Club was held on April 24, at Miss Maude Summers of the Liberal Immigration League spoke upon "Immigration." Miss Summers treated her subject in a comprehensive and interesting manner and among other things said, Greece gave to the world art, Rome justice, America, if her highest possibilities reach fulfillment, will give to posterity the social ideal, in other words, will uplift her people so that the many rather than the few shall achieve material and moral well-being. And this is shown in the development of our immigration life. The occupations in the United States in the last hundred years have increased from 300 to 8000,—this growth in industrial life being due in great part to foreigners who fill our factories and mills. Thus immigration has been a blessing, but through our ignorance and neglect it has also been a curse. The duty of every community is to provide sanitary housing conditions for the strangers within our gates, and to make such industrial regulations that boys and girls shall have a fair start in life, that disease and early death shall be lessened and our country be truly prosperous in that each individual shall have his free well-rounded life.

On May first the last session for the season was held, the morning being given up to the regular monthly business and information concerning the coming Federation Bazaar.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Frank E. Anderson; first vice president, Mrs. William E. Shedd; second vice president, Mrs. Rufus J. Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Nelson A. Halett, Jr.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles L. Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Albert L. Harwood; auditor, Mrs. Edwin F. Meleher.

Newton Federation Bazaar

The Federation Bazaar for which committees from the clubs comprising the Newton Federation have been at work during the past winter will open on Wednesday evening, May fifteenth, at the home of Mrs. Clifton estate, Walnut street, Newtonville, with a Colonial Reception at seven o'clock. At this reception certain city officials together with the President of the Federation and the presidents of the clubs will receive. At nine that evening the Colonial Concert will be held in the High School Hall. The chorus consisting of one hundred cultivated voices is doing enthusiastic work under the direction of Mr. Horace Walton.

The Bazaar will open at one-thirty on each of the three remaining afternoons of the week, when articles will be on sale, the loan exhibition open for inspection and Colonial Tea served in the dining room. At six on Thursday and Friday evenings dinner will be served by Skelton Brothers of Newton Centre, caterers. On Thursday evening at eight o'clock two plays, "The Kleptomaniac" and "Petitcoat Perfidy," will be presented in a tent upon the grounds by women of Newton under the direction of Mr. Frank A. Fowle of Malden, a professional coach. Friday evening will be known as "Governor's Night" and is in charge of a committee of gentlemen who are interested in the purchase of the Clifton Estate. Gov. Guild and ex-Governor Bates will be present and will make patriotic addresses, while it is hoped to have as well all of the living ex-governors and a large number of other distinguished people, especially those familiar with the Governor Clifton homestead in its early days. On Saturday afternoon there will be special attractions for children, including a May-Pole Dance, games, ponies, etc.

Many interesting things have been secured for the loan exhibition which will be open each afternoon and evening through Friday and will be well worth the price of admission.

Useful, fancy and other articles too numerous to mention, as well as candy and home cookery will be on sale during the whole bazaar. No one will wish to go away without a copy of the "Mirror of Newton Past and Present," published especially for this bazaar.

The exhibition of Consumer's League goods will be of great interest especially to those desiring to further the humanitarian work done by that organization. This festival celebrates the twelfth anniversary of the birth of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. Its purposes are threefold: To illustrate the possibilities of a great central gathering place for the Newtons; to assist in the purchase of the Clifton Estate for public use, and to accomplish other work for the welfare of our city.

Tickets may be obtained at Hubbard's drug store, Newton, and other local drug stores throughout the city and from the presidents of the different clubs and the Press Committee.

A recent number of the Springfield Republican contains an article upon the women's clubs of that city. In commenting upon the work of these organizations it says:

"Living spirit and a high grade of culture have been one of the just claims of Springfield for many years, and when the influences that have made such a claim possible are being sought, the women's clubs that exist for a serious purpose—and what of them does not?—must be given a prominent place. A hasty count reveals that there are at least 20 such groups flourishing in the city at present, each of them aiming at high moral and intellectual culture and each approaching that goal by a different though parallel route. A large majority of these clubs have been formed within the past 15 years, but few of them within the past five. The origin of a large number is found to lie in the occasional meetings of a few friends for the discussion or study of some congenial subject. The pleasure and benefit derived from these meetings attracted others, and soon a full-fledged club was born.

Several of the clubs are members of the federations of women's clubs, and are actively interested in the work and aim of those federations, but a larger number retain their original individuality and work along those lines which most appeals to them. One of the characteristics of these clubs, with but few exceptions, is the small membership. This may be one of the reasons why there are so many clubs, and it is probably true that better work can be accomplished by a few congenial women than in a large organization where there would be more of a tendency for the work to be done by a few with a corresponding narrowing of the real interest and benefit. As a rule these clubs also admit of many social attractions for the members during the year, but in all the idea of accomplishing serious work appears to be uppermost.

Among the largest of them are the Teachers' Club, the College Club and the Women's Club. The latter has just voted to increase its membership to 200 and is just completing a $25,000 club house situated in the centre of the residential section of the city. Then there is a Travelling Club that has been journeying for the last seventeen years, a Mothers' Club which has been studying problems of child study and training since 1894 and this season is devoting itself to the public schools of the city, while a large number of smaller ones are devoting themselves to particular lines of study, chiefly literary.

Dr. Herbert K. Stiles

Dr. Herbert K. Stiles, son of Mr. Edmund E. Stiles, died of pneumonia in Everett last Saturday. He was a graduate of the Newton schools, Amherst College and of the Harvard Medical school. Funeral services were held from his father's residence on Walnut street Monday afternoon, Rev. J. T. Stocking officiating, and Mrs. Gertrude Cochrane Fletcher and Miss Ethel House Munn of the Central church quartette sang "Lead Kindly Light," "O, Paradise," and "The Homeland." The burial was in Newton cemetery.

Burt Cook of Tilton, N. H., has trapped so far this season 17 foxes, one mink, five skunks and six muskrats.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre.—Two popular players who are playing a limited engagement in vaudeville presenting one of the most delightful sketches ever written will be among the good things on the Keith Theatre bill for next week. The players are Grace Filkins, one of the best actresses on the American stage today, and James Horne, well known as a leading man, with "The Soudan" and "The Cotton King" among his conspicuous successes in New England. "A Proper Impropriety," from the facile pen of Augustus Thomas, is the clever comedy-jetta they are to present. Among the hits made in the early part of the current season none was more pronounced than that achieved by Tom Edwards, the great English ventriloquist. He has duplicated the hit throughout the country and will now have the credit of being one of the very few acts to play a return engagement at Keith's this season. One of the first of the big "girl acts" produced for vaudeville was McMahon's Minstrel Maids and Watermelon Girls and Tim McMahon, its clever originator, has succeeded in keeping it thoroughly up with the times, so much so that it has become a standard attraction. It is filled with new features. Jack Norworth, "The College Boy," one of the cleverest of monologists; Collins and Hart, in an absurdly funny travesty on athletic acts; Donald and Carson, who present a novelty in the way of a Scotch sketch; McMahon and Chappelle in a conversational skit; the Three Roses in a delightful musical novelty; Eddie Mack, the base ball dancer; Muller, Chunn and Muller, hoop rollers; Josie Allen, "The Cowboy Girl"; the Rice Brothers, horizontal bar comiques; O'Connor, Saunders and company in a comedy sketch, and the Kinetograph will complete the bill.

Tremont Theatre.—Boston will have its hearing of "The Time, the Place and the Girl" on Monday, May 6, and the most elaborate preparations are being made for the coming here of this musical comedy success which has been the most enjoyed of anything that the Windy City has had in years. It first saw the footlights at the La Salle Theatre last autumn. The run has passed the 350 night mark, but Chicago people do not mind that at all, and they flock to the playhouse just as they did at the first. Thus far New England and the East have not been invaded, and for that reason the coming to the Tremont Theatre on Monday, May 6, promises to be an event of unusual importance in the musical comedy world. The Askin-Singer Company,

Arthur Deacon
The Time, the Place and the Girl

of which that Boston favorite, Harry Askin, is the leading spirit, is making every effort to have the presentation here a notable one. Scenery, costumes and effects will be of the brightest, and with Arthur Deacon at the head a notably fine company has been provided, including George Drew Mendum, Violet McMillan, Harriet Burt, Harry Hanlon, John C. Rowe, Chas. H. Bowers, George Elener, Hubert Hornsby, Joseph Clark, George Johnson, C. C. Himmewell, and many others just as well known. That efficient producer of works in the spectacular line, Ned Wayburn, has staged the piece, and his clever hand will be seen in all the ensemble effects, while the chorus girls and the pretty "broilers" will make the stage of the Tremont Theatre an unusually attractive spot. Indeed that will be the place, the girl will be any one of the many in the company, while the time will be any evening after Monday, May 6, when the comedy with music will open its initial engagement in New England.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, D. C., April 27, 1907.
Those who have been looking for a fresh sensation can rest quite satisfied. They have it in the proposition the President has advanced to cut off all election contributions and have the legitimate election expenses of all parties paid by the national government. This might raise a wall from the anti-paternalists, for it would be paternalism of a sort, in fact of the most pronounced sort. But it would be fair to all parties and it ought to result in freeing elections from the taint and suspicion of money illegitimately used. The plan has not yet been put forth officially, but it has been talked over at the White House and the President is understood to be decidedly in favor of it. So far as the details have been worked out, it is that the several parties should be apportioned funds for legitimate election expenses in proportion to the vote that they polled at the last preceding similar election. This would keep the government disbursement from being all in the hands of the two big parties. The funds would be as carefully audited as any of the other disbursements of the government, and not only would the people know where each dollar of the money had gone, but they would see to it that election expenses were kept down within something like reasonable limits. It would settle the question of corporate campaign contribution, would relieve the corporation from being "held up" by enterprising campaign solicitors, and would assure all candidates of sufficient funds to meet their legitimate outlay.

It is just the sort of an unpleasant proposal for the President to make, one that machine politicians on neither side will relish, and yet one that nobody could honestly and reasonably oppose. It would make the election cease to depend on the size of the "bar" 1", and would throw loads of ward heelers out of a job. It will be delightful if the suggestion is submitted to Congress to see the number of ways in which the professional politicians will try to get out of fairly facing the issue. It is almost sensation enough for one week, and will give a number of "statesmen" something to think about now and the next session of Congress.

Dr. L. O. Howard, known all over the United States as "the mosquito man" of the Department of Agriculture, has sailed for Europe on a rather curious mission. He is going to bring back a large assortment of small insects which are parasites of the gypsy moth that for years past has been spreading over eastern Massachusetts and seriously threatening the shade trees and shrubbery of much of the state.

It happened a year ago that in southern Russia Dr. Howard found a number of insect parasites that preyed on the two moths and kept them in check in the regions of which they are natives. He sent some of the parasites home, and the experiments with them were so successful that he has gone abroad again, this time largely assisted by funds from Massachusetts and expects to send home some hundred thousand of the moth killing insects. These will be released in the moth ridden area, and it is believed will do more towards checking the pest than anything that has yet been tried.

The noisiest political farmer has the tallest weeds in his cornfield and the fewest potatoes in his hills.

The Advantages

of an

ELECTRIC SERVICE

In The Modern Home

The house equipped for an electric service is the acme of comfort and convenience

The added attractiveness of the room illuminated with the electric lamp is appreciated by all discriminating users of light.

Perfect illumination is only one of the many notable advantages of an electric service.

The summer season is made en-joyable by the electric fan and flat-iron. Sewing becomes a pleasure with the electric sewing-machine motor. The electric heating pad and hot water heater are indispensable in the sick room.

The ice-cream freezer, the washing-machine and the clothes-wringer can all be operated with a small electric motor.

Telephone or drop a postal for our representative, it costs nothing to talk the matter over.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

In session less than an hour, last Monday evening, the board of aldermen disposed of many hearings, granted important street railway franchises, started an investigation of the Street department and reopened the matter of $2 per day for city laborers.

President Carter was in the chair and those present were Aldermen Bacon, Bosson, Burr, Cabot, Converse, Day, Doherty, Holmes, Jones, Lyons, Palmer, Stone, Underwood, Weston and White.

Many hearings were first held, no one appearing on the following:

G. N. B. Sherman to keep and sell denatured alcohol, 28 Lincoln street, ward 6; Boston & Albany R. R. Co. for removal of tree, Centre street, ward 6; Newton St. Rwy. Co. for attachments on Washington street, near Centre street; Gas Light Co. for attachments Water-town street; West End St. Rwy. Co. for cross over on Centre street, near Pearl; E. M. Seton for removal of tree, Waltham street; Geo. F. Hickmott to keep gasoline Jewett street, for concrete sidewalks under betterment act on Irvington street and Nehodien road, and on taking land for sewer in Murray road and in Wildwood avenue.

Mr. M. C. Brush, General Manager for the Newton Street Railway Co. spoke briefly in favor of the petition of that Company for location across the new Centre street bridge.

Mr. Percv M. Blake spoke in opposition to the petition of the Newton Street Railway Co. for attachments on Clyde and Walnut streets, saying:

I live at the corner of Clyde and Walnut streets. Two of three wires are at my request the Telephone Company very courteously and promptly removed wires from my premises. There is a pole at the corner of Clyde street, a pole that is referred to in this petition, that pole is not only unsightly but is in dangerous shape. When the Telephone Company took away its wires they adopted the cable method and extended the Clyde street wires from this pole, this pole is in very bad condition from the weight of the heavy cable wires. I have no objection provided the wires are not strung to valuable trees, or provided they do not overhang my land and provided the pole is safe. My trees are now jeopardized and I object to wires going through my trees, and I object to that pole in its present dangerous condition.

Mayor Warren submitted a communication from the City Solicitor requesting authority to quietclaim certain land on Florence street to correct a former deed and subsequently this authority was granted.

The Governor's proclamation of April 27 as Arbor Day was placed on file.

Petitions from Jacob Meilman for junk license, David Bronfman for junk license, H. Shelman for junk license, Wm. P. Wallace for 2 carriage licenses, Chas. A. Chadwick for 2 wagon licenses, D. F. Kearney for wagon and liquor permit, and Jos. Chaple for minor's license were referred to the Public Franchise committee.

Petitions of S. W. Jones et al for street watering on Columbus street, of Margaret T. French for sewer in Forest avenue, of John Moir for sewer in Lee avenue and H. G. Mann et al for concrete sidewalks on Sewall street under betterment act were referred to the Public Works Committee.

These petitions were granted: Walter F. Sisson for a wagon license and Domenico Guzzi for 2 wagon licenses.

Hearings on May 27 were ordered on the following matters: Knowlton Packing Co. to locate 40 H. P. steam engine on Chapel street, Hough & Jones Co. to keep and sell denatured alcohol, 244 Washington street, Newton Street Railway Co. for track extension in Nonantum square, Newton St. Rwy. Co. for pole location Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, Gas Light Co. for pole location Woodman road, pole locations Highland avenue and pole locations Allston street, Telephone Co. to remove poles Winchester street, Washington street and Centre street, Edward Mitchell to remove tree California street and J. W. King to remove tree on Walnut street.

Petition of the Gas Light Co. to relocate a pole on Centre street, ward 6 was granted without reference.

On favorable report of the Committee on Finance, $627.04 was transferred from the Health Dept. to the Street Dept. for collection of ashes.

On favorable reports of the Public Works Committee, $100 was granted for connecting the new drinking fountain in Newton Centre square with the water supply and remove the old drinking fountain to a new location on Commonwealth avenue, near Lowell avenue, authorizing a concrete sidewalk on Bellevue street under the betterment act; taking lands and authorizing sewer construction in Murray road and Wildwood avenue.

On recommendation of the Committee on Rules a public hearing was ordered for May 27 on proposed acceptance of smoke nuisance act.

On recommendation of the Committee on Public Franchises, the Telephone Co. was granted conduit locations in Waltham and Webster streets, the West End Street Railway Co. was granted a cross-over on Centre street, at Pearl street and the Newton Street Railway Co. was granted a relocation in Centre street, ward 6, over the new bridge, the present tracks in Congress and Paul streets to be removed. Licenses were also granted to C. D. Kieser to sell denatured alcohol at 9 Lincoln street, C. P. Nutting et al to run 2 power launches on the Charles river, Domenico Guzzi and C. H. Keece to transport liquor, James S. Troy, a wagon license and permit to transport liquor and Edward Katzman a junk license.

Leave to withdraw was granted Max Meilman on his petition for a junk license and no further action reported on petition of the Newton Street Railway Co. for cross-over in Nonantum square.

Alderman Doherty presented the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Finance:

RESOLVED that it is the sense of this board that all men employed as laborers by the City of Newton in various departments be paid $2.00 per day, and that necessary steps be taken to accomplish that result.

Alderman Doherty spoke as follows:

I think it would be well at this time to give my reasons as to presenting this resolution in this form. It is practically along the same lines as the petition which was presented two or three weeks ago. At that time the matter was considered by the Board and according to their judgment was rejected.

Alderman Condren presented an order which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Rules to investigate the expenditure of money to erect sheds, etc., at the city stables.

Alderman Condren spoke as follows:

It appears that certain alterations and improvements have been performed at the Crafts street stables and also that certain sheds are in process of being erected and mostly built at the stables on Anburndale avenue. Now it appears that there is no appropriation for that work. That work of course was not under way nor thought of, nor anything provided for it in the annual appropriation order, there have not been any transfers from the Street Department to the Public Buildings Department to do that work, and I fail to see where that work was done in accordance with the City Charter, which says that no officer or board shall perform any work or make the City liable for anything that is not provided for in the annual appropriation order, and also the Rules of the Board of Aldermen say that every recommendation or communication of His Honor the Mayor or Board of Aldermen requiring the expenditure of public funds that is not already provided for in the annual appropriation order shall be first referred to the Committee on Public Works. That has never been referred to the Public Works Committee, neither has it ever come before this Board. Now I am of the opinion that the Charter and Rules of the Board of Aldermen have been violated and I think the Committee on Rules, Ordinances and Legislation should be the proper Committee to look that matter up and report at the next meeting.

Alderman Day extended an invitation to the members to attend the Bazaar to be held May 15-18 on the Clafin estate under the auspices of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

And at 8.45 P. M. the board adjourned to May 27th.

Annual Dinner

A large and enthusiastic gathering attended the annual dinner and meeting of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association last Monday evening at the Association rooms in Eliot Hall.

The dinner was served at 6.30 o'clock Rev. Geo. S. Butters, D. D., of the Newton Methodist church offering grace.

After the good things had been disposed of, to music by an orchestra in charge of Mr. George King, Vice President Allan C. Emery opened the formal proceedings. The special guests of the Association were Rev. H. Grant Person, the new pastor of Eliot church and Mr. Franklin W. Gause of West Newton, a new director of the Association.

The speaking was of a high order and held the close attention of all.

The much prized "Ns" were presented by Frederick D. Fuller, chairman of the physical work committee, to J. Ward, A. MacRae, J. Gaw, C. V. Moore, J. Allen, S. Craig, G. Doyle, V. Jacobs, P. Morton, L. Bruce and W. Chase of the track team and W. Wharton, W. Day, W. Chase, W. Hanson, J. Bartley, C. Nelson, C. Gaffney, A. Haskell and L. Nelson of the base-ball team.

Members of the basketball teams to receive sweaters for exceptional playing were N. Porter, E. Johnson, W. Zeigler, A. Wilson, V. Jacobs, G. Wilson and G. Goggin of the first team and W. Connor, S. Chant, S. Bryant and W. Hanson of the second team.

With a large number of the active members voting the following directors were elected: W. H. Short, Walter R. Secord, C. L. Ellison, Edwin O. Childs, D. Frederick D. Fuller, S. M. Sayford, D. Fletcher Barber, William E. Litchfield, T. W. Lockwood, J. W. Blaisdell, A. C. Emery, J. R. W. Shapleigh, Franklin W. Gause and C. V. Moore. Retiring into private session the directors then chose S. M. Sayford, president, Allan C. Emery, vice president, J. W. Blaisdell, treasurer and C. V. Moore, clerk.

The annual report of Mr. H. W. Bascom, the secretary, was as follows:

Annual Report of the Newton Association for the year ending May 1st, 1907.

In making up this annual report I've been thinking of the large number of men and boys who have had a share in this year's work. More than 500. There is not a man here tonight who has not contributed of his time or money or both to make a success of this work. It is because so many people are interested that I can report to you a successful season.

First let us notice what the boys have done for their department.

The membership has increased from 159 to 209. While the membership has increased rapidly a high standard of character has been maintained. Our junior members have caught the spirit of service for the other fellow which is the true Association spirit.

With 209 boys in the membership you can imagine there are lively times in this building even if no more than half of them are here at one time. Do you doubt that 100 strong healthy boys of various ages can keep three men and several boys busy looking after their wants? A business man coming into the rooms one afternoon remarked, "This place is like a bee hive." Yes it is like a bee hive and some times I think the bees are swarming all the times. Here is the record of their work.

Fifty-two boys have enrolled in 7 Bible clubs. The average attendance has been 34. Three of the leaders of these clubs are members of the Junior department. The social life of these clubs is shown in their "feeds" and socials.

On Sunday the older and younger boys met together for 16 meetings with an average attendance of 44 but for the last 11 Sundays the younger boys have had a separate meeting. Messrs. Ellison and Childs have spoken to the younger boys on alternate Sundays while the older boys meeting has been under the leadership of Mr. Ward. Frank Milea a member of the department has obtained the speakers for this meeting and through his efforts the boys have had an opportunity to hear some splendid men. Dividing the meeting has resulted in a larger attendance.

Nearly 100 boys have stood in the meetings and thus signified that they wanted to live better lives. From this number there have been 20 whose lives have been changed by this decision. Others of this 100 were already Christians and standing up helped them to be better Christians. Twelve boys have joined the churches as a result of the influence of meetings and men of the Association.

One of the best bands among the boys is the personal workers band of 5 boys who meet together once a week to pray for and to study how to win their fellow to the Christian Life.

Another group of boys forms the social committee. Three socials or entertainments were arranged by them and $30.00 was raised for the boys' rooms at the calendar sale. Another group of boys looks after the giving out and prompt return of games. The Thermometer in the reception room records the work of another group. This money raised by the boys for the extension of Association work in our state, our nation, and in foreign lands is given in very small amounts—2 cents a week. About $20.00 was raised this year.

The chairman of these groups or committees meet together in a cabinet which corresponds in many ways to the Board of Directors for the Association.

The Gymnasium is the star attraction for the boys. Two classes per week have been held for boys 10-12 years of age, three classes for boys 12-14 years, and three classes for boys 14-18 years. The enrollment in the three classes is 144. These boys under Mr. LaRose's direction gave a fine gymnastic exhibition. Nearly 200 people came out to see them.

One of the best features of the physical work is the splendid group of 15 picked boys who have acted as leaders. They received special instruction from Mr. LaRose and assisted him in leading classes and in his absence took entire charge of his class work.

I think we have reason to be proud of the leaders' squad of the boys' department. Their work should be classed above that of any representative team.

The Junior Department of the Association was represented by two base ball and two basket ball teams. In base ball the Junior team did the best work, in basket ball the Intermediate team excelled. This intermediate team lost only one game during the season.

Two outside teams, the Watertown High School and the Bigelow School of Newton, used the gymnasium for their games. Every boy on both teams joined the Association.

About thirty of our members spent from two to six weeks at the Y. M. C. A. camp in the beautiful Berkshires. All reported a fine time and as a result of their skill in athletics brought home a prize cup for the year 1907.

Mr. C. L. Ellison is chairman of the boys' work of the Association. The department is larger and the quality of work done for and by the boys is better than ever before.

The membership of the senior department has increased from 169 to 195. If we include the men who give but do not use the privileges we would have a total of over 300 men who are interested in the work of the Association.

Last year 125 men gave $4000.00. Because of their generosity the boys and young men got membership privileges for $4.00 and $8.00 which would otherwise cost them nearly twice as much. No Association is self-supporting and the Newton Association is most fortunate in having loyal givers but the rank and file of our membership are not doing as much in proportion as they ought for the advancement of our work. There has been improvement each year for four years. The members now give $3000.00 each year. Four years ago it was only $757.00. Still we are behind many Associations in this respect.

The religious work under the leadership of Mr. F. P. Cushman has grown during the year. About 25 men have attended the Monday evening meeting. For two months Mr. Cushman conducted this meeting in an original way of his own which was especially interesting to younger men. For the balance of the year splendid addresses were given by ministers and laymen. A series of three talks by our president, Mr. S. M. Sayford, were much enjoyed.

At six o'clock each Monday evening 12 young men meet around the table to discuss some phase of religious work. Each member of this club, but one, teaches a Bible class.

Last fall about 25 teachers in Newton Sunday Schools attended a series of lectures by Mr. H. W. Gibson. This course for teachers has been given two years and has proved very popular and helpful.

Dr. F. N. Seeley of Springfield gave two notable addresses on "Character Building" and "Know Thyself."

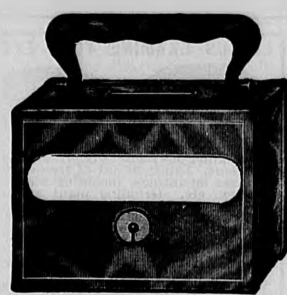

The special meetings held Christmas week for boys and young men were a big success. Large numbers attended and Mr. Hamilton won his way into all our hearts. Many of our young men and boys can look back to Christmas week 1906 as the time when they got a new conception of life.

Harold Moore has raised a large sum of money for the extension of Association work in foreign lands.

The social committee under Mr. Childs' leadership have given two entertainments to audiences of men. The famous Branch of Promise case caused lots of fun and added a neat sum to the treasury. One of the best social times was that enjoyed by the business men on the occasion of their annual volley ball game with the Intermediates. The business men won as usual and about 60 of their lady friends, wives and sweethearts came out to see them do it. The social

The character part of the burglar will be taken by Mr. Bentley and that of the little girl by Miss Louise E. Wright. The remainder of the program will consist of a reading by Miss Mary Cox, a song by Mrs. R. C. Emery and an old time Morton Farce, "Down on Both Sides." Home-made candy will be for sale.

Newton council 167, K. of C., at a meeting held Tuesday evening in Denison hall, Newtonville, appointed J. F. Jordan, B. E. Slattery, J. F. Gallagher, D. H. Hannigan, E. H. Powers and J. B. Healy a committee to arrange for a ladies' night entertainment May 21. There will be whist from 8 to 10, followed by dancing until 1. Arrangements were also made for working the third degree on a large number of candidates the last of the present month, following a special meeting in which the first and second degrees will be worked. GK. John F. Jordan and PKG. Thomas M. Spelman were appointed delegates to the state convention at Lawrence beginning next Monday.

Painters' local 362 entertained a large number of members and guests with an enjoyable entertainment in A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton, Monday evening, R. J. Clancy was chairman of the evening, and the program included songs by Bert Ryan, John Kendall, John Stone, William Fogarty, Harry Sanford, piano selections by George Littlefield of Roxbury, a well-known composer of popular melodies, buck and wing dancing by George Prichard. One of the hits of the evening was made by Mr. Littlefield, and all the participants were obliged to respond to encores.

Pomroy Home Benefit

A most enjoyable entertainment, barring the nuisance of the obstreperous small boy, was that given by Miss Darling's class in the Channing church parlors, last Friday afternoon. Two plays "Hiring Help" and the "Home Guard" were pleasingly presented by Dorothy Wellington, Nina Granger, Henrietta Fredericks, Ruth Cutler, Marjorie Child, Dorothy Robinson, Eunice Newhall and Margaret Crocker. Both plays were exceedingly funny and the girls entered into the spirit as well as the words of the scenes enacted. A duet in the "Home Guard" by Margaret Crocker and Nina Granger, with Henrietta Fredericks playing the accompaniment on an old fashioned melodeon, took the fancy of the audience immensely. Miss Carrie Brown and Mr. B. L. Goodwin assisted in presenting the plays. Some very excellent music was rendered by an orchestra consisting of Marjorie Holmes, piano, Irene Brown, Esmond Bailey and Wilmet Whitney, violins. Between the two plays, Mrs. A. C. Cummings gave several delightful readings. After the show was over, cake and candy and lemonade were sold by Miss Darling, assisted by Ruth Shirley, Edna Cooke, Clyde Carpenter, Alice Parsons, Florence, Ringrose, Sadie Russell, and Janet Brimblecom. While not on the program, a dog fight created much excitement and interest during the afternoon. About $93 was netted by the performance.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

The ladies of Newton concentrate their efforts next week in the Bazaar on the Clafin estate for the benefit of the Clafin Field Fund. Their program is most ambitious and their performance bids fair to be the most pretentious work of the kind ever given in this city. The attractions which they will present are both interesting and instructive and the Colonial Reception, the Colonial Concert, Governor's Night, and other head liners on the program are eagerly awaited.

We invite attention to a review of the Bazaar magazine "The Mirror of Newton-Past and Present" which is printed elsewhere and commend to our readers the closing words of its editorial—"These are our reasons—to stimulate the spirit of devotion to the city of our birth or choice; to try to give our friends something which is worth while concerning Newton's past and present; to help lay deep the foundations for love of city; to picture the Newton of 1907; and to pass on to posterity the message that we must keep our Mirror clear and bright by giving to the city the best we have, that the best may come back to us."

The revival of the matter of $2 per day for city laborers is most ill advised, and will certainly come to grief. The GRAPHIC thoroughly believes that first class laborers should be paid two dollars a day, and is also of the opinion that a majority of the board of aldermen are in sympathy with that view. On the other hand the board will not consent to establish the precedent that every laborer employed by the city is worth that sum, and until some measure can be framed which will separate the better men from their less able fellows, the less agitation the better. At the present time with the appropriations all made for the current year, the mayor will not take the initiative and the aldermen have thus far refused to directly or indirectly advise the mayor on this particular subject. Two dollars a day will certainly fall to the ground unless one side or the other recedes from its present position, and it is possible that the whole subject will go over till fall when the appropriations for 1908 will be made up.

The GRAPHIC intends to assist in the good work now under way for the Clafin Field Fund and during the Bazaar, opportunity will be given to receive new subscriptions, at $2 per year, of which one dollar will be given to the Clafin Fund. We trust that many will take advantage of this splendid offer to assist in the good work to obtain a civic center and at the same time become one of our regular readers.

The Legislature is a little inconsistent in requiring the Metropolitan district to pay for the construction of bath houses at Revere and Nantasket beaches, and then making the entire state shoulder the expense of a similar institution at Salisbury beach. As Newton will be taxed $1,000 towards the latter we certainly have a right to register a complaint of unfair discrimination.

One of Newton's honored citizens will be a candidate for the nomination for governor this fall, Newton's vote will be watched with interest. If General Charles W. Bartlett leads the Democratic hosts this year.

The Public Opinion bill was very properly killed this week in the General Court, all the Newton representatives assisting in the result.

CITY HALL NOTES

The Newton City Employees Union will be represented at the annual convention of the Massachusetts Federation of state, city and town employees to be held next Sunday afternoon at the Wells Memorial Building, Boston.

Annual Meeting

The Newton Hospital Nurses Alumnae held their annual business meeting April twenty-fourth. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Miss H. E. McAfee; vice presidents, Miss Araminta Wetmore, Miss Theodore McKel; treasurer, Miss Josephine Abbott; secretary, Miss Bertha W. Allen; assistant secretary, Miss Emily J. Starkey.

Police Paragraphs

In the police court Saturday afternoon William C. McIntosh, an expressman living at 33 Sullivan avenue, Newton Upper Falls, was convicted of illegal transportation of liquor and fined $50, and sentenced to one month in the house of correction. He appealed and was held in $200 for the superior court.

The verdict of $2166 given Mrs. Florence McGuirk recently in the U. S. District Court against Sergeant Burke and Patrolmen O'Halloran and Desmond, was reduced to $500 last week by Judge Dodge. Even this amount will be appealed by the Newton officers.

Among Women

The Waban Woman's Club held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. B. H. Davidson, Plainfield street, Monday afternoon, May 6. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed a successful year. There have been interesting lectures at the regular meetings and the Constitution and by-laws have been revised. $63.25 has been raised for the State Federation, the Roger Wolcott school. The following officers were unanimously elected for next year: President, Mrs. Josephine K. Crain; vice president, Mrs. Minnie B. Burnett; recording secretary, Mrs. Celia R. Whitaker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary H. Wendell; treasurer, Nellie P. Hill; director, Mrs. Belle M. Wardwell; entertainment committee, Mrs. Alice C. Congdon; nominating committee, Mrs. Isabel M. Parker; press correspondent, Mrs. Florence P. Kimball; delegate to State Federation, Mrs. Alice W. Isola; delegate to Newton Federation, Mrs. Nellie S. Pillsbury; 2nd delegate to Newton Federation, Mrs. Eva L. Spencer; nominating committee, Mrs. Alice A. Gould; social committee, Mrs. Louise Gilmore; social service committee, Mrs. Carrie L. Johnson; school suffrage committee, Mrs. Frances Gould. After the business meeting tea was served and a social hour was enjoyed.

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs held its annual meeting at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Tuesday. Owing to the great interest in the work for the Bazaar at this time the customary all-day meeting with luncheon was given up and no entertainment provided beyond the business of the annual meeting. The reports showed that the Federation has been continuing its work along lines similar to former years and that notwithstanding the large amount of energy which has gone into Bazaar preparations the regular work has not been overlooked. A traveling library of 100 volumes has been sent to Florida through the State Federation committee, besides two boxes of books sent directly to Mrs. Leighton. The Federation are pointing with pride to a new street railway shelter which has been placed at a frequented corner in response to requests from the Social Service Committee. The Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands has returned to the Federation and another club is soon to be admitted. The membership is about 1125 women in twelve different organizations. Besides the reports of officers and chairmen of committees a regular feature is the reports of the presidents of the different clubs. These were full of interest and showed how varied are the lines of work and that the charitable and philanthropic side play as important parts in the literary in the club life of Newton. Prof. Mary W. Calkins of Wellesley spoke briefly of the work of the Consumer's League and why it has not been able to accomplish more. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor, Newton Centre Woman's Club; vice presidents, Mrs. S. Curtis Smith, Newton Social Science Club; Mrs. Heber E. Dargen, Newton Highlands Monday Club; Mrs. John H. Pillsbury, Waban Woman's Club; recording secretary, Miss Grace M. Burt, W. Newton Women's Educational Club; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edward K. Hall, Newton Mothers' Club; treasurer, Miss Lilla A. Ryder, Auburndale Review Club; auditor, Mrs. Lewis P. Everett, Newton Upper Falls Pierian Club.

Mother's Rest Association

Popular interest has been keenly excited by the preliminary announcements advanced by the Finance Committee of the Mothers' Rest, relative to the Country Circus to be held on the Cedar Street Grounds on the 25th inst.

The attractions will include a highly entertaining vaudeville performance in a specially prepared arena affording seats for over seven hundred people.

The performing animals in the circus performance include three mock lions, three elephants, the original Teddie bear, Maud the Mule, an acrobatic monkey whose antics combined with those of the six clowns will afford great merriment for the little folks.

Among other attractions will be an Esquimo Camp, African Dodge, Fortune Telling Camp, Punch and Judy Show, Cane Toss, Booths for the Sale of Miscellaneous Articles, Lunch and Refreshment Counters, Automobile Trips, curious Flower-gardens in which each flower is attached to a desirable purchase and a Fish-pond of similar import with other features carefully designed to entertain the public.

Newton Night

What was designated as "Newton Night" was observed by the Boston Baptist Social Union last Monday night at Ford hall. President Henry H. Kendall presided, and more than 300 Baptist clergymen and laymen were present.

The special guests were the faculty, senior class and missionary students of the Newton Theological Seminary. The general subject of consideration was proposed changes in the matter of administration in the denomination. Among those who spoke were Rev. John L. Campbell, D. D., of the First Baptist church, Cambridge, Rev. P. S. Benson, D. D., Professor J. M. English of the faculty of the Newton Theological Institution, who responded to the toast, "The Institution," and Donald H. MacQuarrie of Avonport, N. S., a member of the graduating class of Newton who spoke for the class. Rev. Nathan E. Wood, president of Newton Theological Institution, pronounced the benediction.

Thomas Furdon of Newton, administrator of the estate of his brother, Special Police Officer William H. Furdon, has brought suit in the Superior Court at East Cambridge for $5000 against the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., and for the same amount against the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co.

In his action against the telephone company the plaintiff alleges that the company illegally neglected to remove certain wires after they had discontinued use, and that they neglected also to keep these wires properly attached to their supports. He further alleges that on Aug. 12, 1906, his brother came in contact with one of these dangling wires and was instantly killed.

In his suit against the gas company he alleges that the defendant gas company failed to care for its insulation, with the result that the telephone wire crossed its wire.

All the gymnasium classes have now discontinued regular work with the exception of the "Business Men."

The intermediate class closed its sessions last week with the final events of the all around championship test. This covers about every phase of the physical department work and is composed of the following events, 75, 150, 300 and 400 yard runs, rope climb, standing broad jump, running high jump, 12 lb. shot put, potato race, two exercises on the horse, parallel bars and suspended parallel bars. Walter Barrows carried off first honors with a score of 34 1-3 points, with Harold Decker, last year's champion, second, with a score of 34 points; Robert Mahoney was 3rd. Decker and Barrows made a marvellous showing. Decker scoring points in every event, while Barrows failed to score in the rope climb only. A gold fob is the prize given to the winner.

The Prep. Class Championship was won by Everett Plant, Fred Hawkins being second.

The base ball game scheduled for last Saturday between the Y. M. C. A. and the Newton Independents was postponed on account of rain. It will be played off on Memorial Day afternoon.

The Intermediate Team has opened its season with three victories, last week defeating the '09 class from N. H. school 7-3, and winning from the Newton Athletics on Tuesday by a score of 10-3. Wednesday the strong Auburndale A. A. was defeated 16-15 in a game full of heavy hitting and loose fielding.

The senior team plays the strong Dorchester A. A. team at Cabot park tomorrow at 3.30 P. M.

Mr. Pierce Dead

Mr. Asa T. Pierce passed away at his home on Park street, Newton, last Sunday, after a several weeks illness, at the age of 82 years. Mr. Pierce was one of the most active men of his age in the city and up to a year ago was in full charge of his farm at Waltham. He was born in Natick in 1825 and as a young man was engaged in farming in Waltham, making his home in Newton since 1895. He served in the Waltham board of aldermen in 1889-90 and 91 and was interested in the Congregational church of that city and a prominent member of the Farmers' Club. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. George Woolley of Waltham and Mrs. Madison Bunker and Mrs. Sidney P. Brown of Newton and one son Mr. Charles W. Pierce of Belmont.

Funeral services were held from his late home Wednesday afternoon. Dr. E. E. Strong of Auburndale officiating. There was singing by a male quartet and the interment was at Mt. Feake cemetery.

High School Notes

The base ball team defeated the Volkman team last Friday by the score of 4 to 2. The home team was pretty well tired out after playing the nineteen inning game at Dorchester and made numerous errors as did their opponents. Desmond and Fitzpatrick both pitched a good game.

The team went to Southboro on Monday to play the St. Mark's school team, but the rain prevented a game.

The Winchester game for yesterday was cancelled because of the rain.

The school had the pleasure of listening to Congressman Weeks on Wednesday morning. He described the way our government is carried on at Washington.

The following men will represent the school at the twenty-second annual interscholastic meet at Harvard tomorrow, Mandell '08, Porter '08, Mahoney '08, Chandler '08, Tower '07, Cary '07, and Mahoney '09.

The tennis team won the trophy shield of the interscholastic tennis at Cambridge this week winning 9 matches, although the individual championship was captured by Sweetser of the Boston Latin. E. Hall came thru to the fourth round, when he was defeated by Kayser of Volkman. Eaton, Burrisson, Day, Wise, S. Hall and Woods were the other entries from Newton.

The high school alumni are invited to visit the Alumni Room at the Bazaar to be held by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs at the Claffin Hotel, Newtonville, from May 15th to 18th. Groups of graduates from the different classes will be present each afternoon and evening, and it is earnestly hoped that the many old members of the school who will be certain to attend the Bazaar, will make use of this room as a sort of rallying place.

The room will contain a collection of many interesting things reminiscent of high school days, such as old drill, calisthenic and athletic photographs, trophies, etc., etc., together with an exhibition of pictures illustrating some phases of the school today.

A meeting of the Shareholders for the nomination of officers and auditors

Woman's World

Conducted by MISS GRACE M. BURT.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands held its annual meeting on April 29. The club voted a sum of money for decorations for the new school building about to be erected in that village. The work for next year will include a miscellaneous program. The following list of officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Miss Katherine L. Ball; first vice-president, Miss Carrie N. Wells; second vice-president, Mrs. Clara J. Bartlett; recording secretary, Mrs. Martha B. Miller; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Inez E. Pollard; treasurer, Mrs. Annie P. Sweetster; auditor, Mrs. Alice M. Hopkins; directors, one year, Mrs. Ellen A. Eagles, Mrs. Mary R. O'Connor; directors, two years, Mrs. Emma F. Davis, Miss Amanda Webster. The founder of the club, Mrs. Kathleen M. Phipps, was made honorary president.

The Newton Equal Suffrage League met at the residence of Mrs. Nathaniel T. Allen, West Newton, Friday evening, May 3rd. The program of the evening was as follows: "Women of Turkish Armenia" by Dr. H. S. Jelalian; "Women of Russian Armenia" by Mr. Nerses Papazian; "The Armenian Native" by Miss Alice Stone Blackwell; "Changes in the Last Fifty Years for Armenian Women" by Miss Emily Wheeler. Readings from Armenian Poets translated by Miss Blackwell, by Mr. Henry B. Blackwell and Mrs. Bertha S. Papazian. Music: Duets for violin and piano by Mr. Rupen Ekskerjian and Miss Nectar Ekskerjian; songs in Armenian by Mrs. Herron.

Newton Federation Bazaar

Order of Events.

Wednesday, May 15, 7 to 9 P. M.—Colonial Reception, 9 to 11 P. M.—Colonial Concert, High school hall.
Thursday, May 16, 6 to 8 P. M.—Dinner, 8 to 10 P. M.—Dramatic Entertainment.
Friday, May 17, 6 to 8 P. M.—Dinner, 8 to 10 P. M.—Governor's Night.
Saturday, May 18, 1 to 6 P. M.—Children's Entertainment.

Daily, 1 to 10 P. M.—Sales Tables, Loan Exhibition, Consumer's League Exhibit, 3 to 5.30 P. M.—Colonial Tea. The committees have everything now well in hand and all that remains to make the Bazaar a tremendous success is fine weather and a generous patronage. It is expected that the Colonial Reception in charge of the Waban Woman's Club will present an unusually brilliant spectacle, for many of the receiving line will dress in colonial costume and the members of the chorus also in costume will mingle with the guests. Following the reception the concert in charge of the Equal Suffrage League will be of great interest. The chorus of one hundred trained voices has been drilled by Mr. Walton and their selections are of a high order. The committee feel themselves fortunate in having secured as soloist, Miss Mary F. Sherwood, whose beautiful voice is well-known in the city.

The Auburndale Review Club is in charge of the dramatic entertainment, which will consist of two plays, "The Kleptomaniac" and "Peticoat Perfidy." This committee has secured the services of professional coach, stage manager and "make-up man," while good music is assured. The arrangements for "Governor's Night" are in the hands of a committee of men interested in the purchase of the Clafin Estate, Hon. John W. Weeks, chairman. Gov. Guild and Senator Crane have accepted the invitation to be present and it is hoped that all the living ex-governors will also attend and make addresses. This meeting will be patriotic in character and promises to be a fitting close to the evening entertainments.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club has charge of the dinner which will be served on Thursday and Friday evenings.

Saturday afternoon will be given up to the children and the Mothers' and Puerian Clubs are together planning features which will attract the little folks. Patrons are reminded that besides the attractions offered for the various evenings there will be a Loan Exhibition of unusual historic interest in charge of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, which will be open every afternoon and evening from Wednesday evening through Friday evening; also that sales tables, in charge of the Social Science Club, will offer useful and fancy articles, samples, candy and home cooking; that the Consumer's League Exhibit will be open free throughout the Bazaar and will attract many patrons from outside of our city. A pretty feature will be the Colonial Tea each afternoon when all the old time customs will be preserved, even hot biscuits being served on one afternoon.

The permanent souvenir of the Bazaar will be the "Mirror of Newton Past and Present," the Magazine which is being published under the direction of the Newtonville Women's Guild. It contains four distinct departments: Pages from Newton History, Phases of Newton Civic Life, Leaves from Newton Portfolio and Our Contributor's Club. These articles have been prepared by eminent writers and are of high literary value. The book is fully illustrated and its artistic cover is the work of Mr. Charles Copeland of Newton Centre.

To each club of the Federation has fallen some share of the arrangements and it is to the Ladies' Home Circle that choice of all necessary business has come. The committee has finally made up its mind as to the interest in the success of the affair is widespread and should bring in large results.

Colonial Concert

An unusual opportunity will be afforded the citizens of Newton at this concert to hear a program of truly ancient music. Many selections of great rarity will be rendered and the artistic excellence of the affair is guaranteed by the fact that the committee have procured the services of the following professional artists: Miss Mary Sherwood, Miss Josephine Martin, Mrs. Elizabeth Barker, Mr. Chas. F. Atwood and Mr. Waldo W. Cole. The chorus of one hundred voices will be an inspiring feature.

Mirror of Newton

One of the attractive features of the Federation Bazaar to be held for the Clafin Field Fund next week, is the Mirror of Newton Past and Present to be issued by the Newtonville Women's Guild. The idea of associating a souvenir of this sort with such an historic place as the Clafin Homestead was cleverly conceived and has been most artistically and thoroughly executed. The Mirror is a pamphlet of 168 pages, well printed and containing many excellent half tones, possibly the most interesting being that of Newton Corner in 1846 taken from Mt. Ida.

The Mirror has a Foreword by Mrs. Helen C. Taylor, president of the Newton Federation and an editorial by Mrs. Mabel R. Boyden, together with the list of Bazaar committees. The leading article is an epitome of Newton's history by Albert Perry Walker of Newtonville, giving in entertaining and instructive manner, the principal events in our history down to the present day. This is followed by some interesting sketches of such old worthies as Edward Jackson, William Hull, Abraham Fuller and some events of fifty or more years ago. Mr. Wallace C. Boyden has an article on the Educational Life of Newton, and Mr. William C. Bates writes on The Eliot Memorial. The various religious denominations are clustered under the heading of "The Religious Life of Newton" with articles on The Congregational churches by Rev. Dr. H. J. Patrick and Lucia E. Auryansen, the Episcopal churches by Mr. Marcus Morton, Methodism in Newton by Rev. Dr. Geo. S. Butters, Unitarianism in Newton by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, The Catholic church in Newton by Rev. Father James F. Kelley. The Newtonville New Church Soc. by Mr. J. T. Pince, The Universalist Church by Rev. Albert Hammett, the Church of Yahveh by Mr. M. L. Cunningham, the Newton Theological Institution by President Nathan E. Wood, the Walker Missionary Home by Mr. Dean A. Walker, the Home for Children of Missionaries by Mrs. Alvah Hovey, and the Hasseltine House by Mrs. M. Grant Edmunds.

Miss E. P. Thurston writes of the Newton Free Library, of which she is librarian. Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn tells the story of the Newton Hospital, Mrs. Mary A. Bellows has an article on the Hospital Aid Association, Mrs. Theresa A. Holden, on the Hospital Catholic Aid Society, Mrs. May H. Coolidge, on the Newton District Nursing Association, Mrs. Mary R. Martin tells of the City Farm and the Associated Charities, Miss Lucy E. Allen writes of the Pomroy Home, Mrs. Annie Beecher Kendall, on the Mothers' Rest, Hon. Henry E. Cobb, of the Home for Aged People, Mr. William H. McDonough, of the Working Boys' Home, Mr. Edwin O. Childs, Jr. on the Nantamum Boys' Club, and the Day Nurseries by Mrs. Annie Clafin Ellis. The various Village Improvement Societies are described by their respective presidents, Mr. Matt B. Jones, of Newton Centre, Mr. Colon S. Ober of Auburndale, Mr. A. H. Elder of Newton Highlands, Mr. L. H. Bacon of Waban, Mr. I. W. Sweet of Newton Upper Falls, Mr. John R. Prescott of Newtonville, and Mr. James A. O'Donnell of Nantamum.

Freemasonry in Newton is the subject of an article by Mr. Lewis E. Binney and Mr. Harvey C. Wood writes entertainingly of Newton's Oddfellows. A veteran of the 42nd writes of the Grand Army of the Republic, Secretary Harry W. Bascom tells of the growth of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris has an article on the Daughters of the Revolution and Miss Fanny B. Allen on the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Literary and Social clubs occupy a goodly portion of the book, the names and writers being as follows: West Newton Book Club, Mrs. Ellen E. Pratt, The Every Saturday Club, by an Old Member, the Tuesday Club by Mr. Edward Sawyer, The Neighbors, Mr. A. L. Rand, Newton Centre Reading Club, Mrs. Mary E. Polhemus, Chataqua Club, Mrs. Ruth E. Abbott, The Players, and Newton Boat Club by Mr. G. R. Pulsifer; the Newton Club by Mr. F. M. Copeland; the Humwell Club by Dr. M. E. Gleason; Brae Burn Country Club by Mr. G. A. Frost; the North Gate Club by Mr. C. E. Hatfield; and the Newton Industrial Club by Mrs. Annie C. Ellis. Sketches are given of the clubs in the Newton Federation of Women's clubs as follows: The Federation by Mrs. Helen C. Taylor; West Newton Educational by Mrs. H. K. Burrisson; Newtonville Woman's Guild by Mrs. W. C. Boyden; Newton Social Science Club, by Mrs. F. H. Tucker; Newton Equal Suffrage League, by Mrs. G. F. Lowell; Newton Highlands Monday Club by Miss Katherine L. Ball; Newton Centre Woman's Club by Mrs. F. E. Anderson; Ladies Home Circle by Mrs. C. H. Stacy; Auburndale Review Club by Mrs. V. D. Baldwin; Shakespear Club of Newton Highlands by Mrs. W. M. Mick; Waban Woman's Club by Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury; The Pierian Club by Mrs. F. A. Thompson and Newton Mothers' Club by Mrs. E. C. Hinckley.

Mrs. Annie Clafin Ellis gives reminiscences of the "Old Elms," Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward also tells of her recollections of the Clafin Home and there are bits of poetry by Richard Burton and Selma Ware Paine.

Dean Sarah L. Arnold of Simmons College has an article on Industrial Training, Mrs. N. T. Allen recalls Memories of one Home; Miss Alice Rantlett tells of the Star of Norumbega; Prof. C. J. Maynard of the Birds of Newton; Mrs. Lucia E. Auryansen indulges in some "Wayside Brownings," Mr. C. T. has a story entitled "Without a Chaffeur," Mrs. E. N. L. Walton contributes "Through the Looking Glass" and there are articles in "Our Contributor's Club" by Harriette McIntyre, Prof. A. R. Wells, Mrs. M. R. Martin, Mr. John P. True and others.

The cover design of the Mirror is from the pen of Mr. Charles Copeland of Newton Centre, the border being interwoven with the names of Newton's first settlers and the wreath in the center enclosing the "Bradstreet" seal which is taken from one of the earliest land deeds of the town. The Mirror is published in paper covers, at fifty cents and in leather covers at $1.25.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre.—Boston has indorsed the Chicago verdict in every particular concerning "The Time, the Place and the Girl," and so emphatic has been the triumph at the Tremont Theatre that the time may well be all summer and the place Boston, while the girls will be the legion of pretty beauties sent eastward from Chicago by the Askin-Singer Company to make the conquest of New England. The success has been the most instantaneous seen here in a long time, and the theatre has been packed to the doors ever since the opening performance. Indeed the engagement has opened so auspiciously that it is very evident that all New England will insist upon coming to Boston before the merry engagement ends. The explanation of the extraordinary favor with which it has been received here is very simple: "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is an entertainment that is different from anything that has gone before. The jaded theatre-goer has grown to be of the opinion that he has seen every one of the fifty-seven varieties of comic operas and musical comedies, but here comes along something entirely different and new. It is a comedy of natural people, every-day folks, who get caught in the most amusing of dilemmas, and say the blindest of things. There is no gross exaggeration—nothing but clean and refreshing humor. It is bright from beginning to end, and the spectator never stops laughing from the moment that the curtain rises until it makes its final descent.

Keith's Theatre.—The programme to be presented at Keith's next week will be notable for the number of acts that have never before been seen in the house, among them those of Phyllis Rankin and Harry Davenport, Willy Pantzer and company, the Sharpshooters Vivians, Work and Ower, and Wood and Lawson. The balance of the bill will be made up of well-known performers, including Genaro and Bailey, Ben Welch and Willia Holt Wakefield, all of whom have some new material to offer. Phyllis Rankin and Harry Davenport, whose most notable successes were scored in "The Belle of New York," have a new sketch that is one of the hits of the season, a vehicle that fits them both to perfection. The acrobatic act of Willy Pantzer and company is another of the current season's sensations, a novelty that it is sure to score heavily. There have been a number of shooting acts seen in vaudeville, but it has remained for the Vivians to cap the climax. Their work is simply phenomenal. An athletic comedy act that is bound to cause a lot of talk will be the contribution of Work and Ower, while Wood and Lawson are doing a snappy terpsichorean specialty, in which handsome Ray Bailey has a chance to wear several very handsome costumes. Ben Welch's delineations of Hebrew and Italian character are in a class by themselves. He has a number of new stories. The clever pianologist, Willa Holt Wakefield, will be warmly welcomed, for she made a lasting impression on her first appearance last season. A new edition of the Keith A. B. C. for Children has just been issued by the Publicity Department and is ready for distribution.

Mr. Upham Dead

Mr. Frank W. Upham, for several years in the employ of the City Engineer's department, passed away Friday at the home of his parents in East Holliston. He was a native of Weston, where he was born 36 years ago, and attended the schools of that town previous to engaging in business. About a year ago he contracted lung trouble and with his wife went to California, where he located at Altadena, but the climate did not benefit him as he had hoped it would and he returned east a few weeks ago. He is survived by a widow and one daughter. Funeral services were held from the house Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. John Matteson, rector of the Church of the Messiah, where deceased formerly attended, officiating, and the remains were buried in the Weston cemetery.

Automobilists Fined

As a result of operations of the new automobile squad of police under Sergt. Thomas C. Clay three persons were convicted in the police court Saturday morning of running automobiles in excess of the legal speed and fined $10 each. These were the first automobiles cases in the local court this year.

John T. Judd, living at 52 Winthrop street, West Newton, was charged with going 31 miles an hour over a quarter-mile "trap" on Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, last week Tuesday evening. Sidney H. Brown of Weston was convicted of making 27 miles an hour on the same course five minutes after Judd went over the boulevard. Norman A. McLannan of 18 Dilworth street, Boston, chauffeur for Lucy A. Smith of 1589 Beacon street, Brookline, was found guilty of making 20 miles an hour on Parker street, Newton Centre. The speed limit on the boulevard is 15 miles an hour and on Parker street it is fixed at 12 miles.

Cupid's Troubles

Left waiting at the church while his prospective bride was speeding toward the green hills of New Hampshire with $72 he had given her to buy a wedding outfit was the fate which befell Julius Anukiewicz, a 25-year old Newton Upper Falls man. The intended bride was Miss Aleksandra Lobacz, a pretty 19-year old Polish maiden, who boarded in the same house where Julius lived at 56 Mechanic street, Newton Upper Falls.

Pretty Aleksandra was arraigned in the police court Saturday morning charged with larceny of the $72. In the course of his testimony Julius told associate Justice Bacon that he didn't care so much about the money, but he still loved his sweetheart of old and still wanted to marry her if she would have him. From her seat in the front row of the spectators' pews pretty Aleksandra smiled and swished her skirt in vain effort to attract the attention of Julius. But Julius hung his head and blushed to the roots of his hair all the time he was on the stand. Frequently he glanced shyly around the well-filled court room, but not once did he steal a glance toward his pretty sweetheart who sat at the greater possibly attention throughout the proceedings.

Julius took out a marriage license April 27 and the couple were to have been married the next Sunday morning in Newton Upper Falls. According to the story told by Julius he gave Aleksandra $72 Saturday to pay for a wedding outfit. When it came time for the ceremony Sunday morning, Julius said through an interpreter, he started for the church but could not find his prospective bride. The wedding was set for 7 o'clock and Julius waited until long after that hour. When all efforts of his own to locate the missing young woman and the $72 "cash money," as he called it, proved unavailing he made a complaint of larceny against Aleksandra and turned the matter over to the police. Inspector Fletcher and acting inspector O'Halloran located the young woman in Portsmouth, N. H., and returned with her to this city.

In court Monday Julius asserted that Aleksandra's brother had been opposed to the wedding and he expressed a belief that he had helped spirit her away. He asserted that his prospective brother-in-law had claimed that he had not paid for the young woman's passage to this country from Poland, her native land, as had been one of the agreements of the engagement. The case was continued until Monday when she was found not guilty and Associate Justice Bacon ordered her discharged.

Julius was still anxious to marry Aleksandra, but the attractive little Polish woman, who was dressed in a well fitting gown and a new hat, was still undecided about promising to "love, honor and obey." Julius was asked by the court if he wanted to go any farther with the prosecution of the case. He had alleged that his sweetheart had decamped with money he had given her to buy a wedding outfit, but had later intimated that he had simply made the complaint alleging larceny in order to get her back to this city.

"Ask Aleksandra if she will marry me first," suggested Julius, bashfully hanging his head and blushing. Aleksandra was asked what she thought about the proposition, but she was still undecided. "I shall have to find her not guilty upon the evidence which has been offered," declared associate Justice Bacon.

Aleksandra and Julius left the court building under the same umbrella and took a car for Newton Upper Falls. Julius gave the conductor a dime and asked for two transfers.

MacMillin--Otis

A charming wedding was that of Miss Alice MacMillin and Mr. Charles Moorehead MacMillin, at Brookline, on Monday evening of last week.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Otis, 107 Griggs road was handsomely decorated with ferns, roses, pinks and arbutus. Miss Alice Lane of Newtonville presided at the piano and rendered in a very effective way Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal party advanced to the head of the room where the Rev. Dr. Samuel Lane Loomis, pastor of the Union Congregational church of Boston, stood. The bride, escorted by her father, was preceded by her little nephews, Masters A. Sumner March of Orange, N. J., Edward Vining Otis of Audubon park, New York city, Otis and Fred Healy of Porto Rico, who formed an aisle of satin ribbon on either side. After these young gentlemen came Miss Marjorie Otis of Audubon park, bearing two rings on a little silk pillow.

Dr. Loomis, in his usual impressive manner soon made the twin man and wife, after which the congratulations of the relatives and friends present were in order.

Mr. Wilbert M. MacMillin of Pittsburgh, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was dressed in white silk with lace and pearl trimmings, wearing a beautiful pearl crescent, the groom's present.

The wedding gifts were beautiful and numerous. Only the relatives and most near and intimate friends were invited. Mr. and Mrs. MacMillin will soon return from a short trip and spend the summer in Winthrop. He is the Boston manager for the Flaccus Glass Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Annual Dinner

committee also looks after the annual banquet. Inter Association games of chess, checkers, pool, and bowling were much enjoyed this year. The pool tournament was won by Harold Noden.

More persons used the gymnasium this year than ever before, 117,000 being the aggregate attendance. 224 men and boys were enrolled in classes.

The Association was represented by a base ball team of which Wm. Wharton was captain, a first and second basket ball team of which Newton Porter and Walter Connors were captains, a track team of which C. V. Moore was captain and two relay teams.

The base ball team won 11 out of 16 games, the best game being with the Page Class a 8-7 victory. The first basket ball team won 14 out of 21 games. The best games were victories over Boston and Brockton. The second team won 14 out of 18 games. The best games being with Reading and Lynn. The Yale game was the feature of the basketball season. 300 people crowded into the Gymnasium to see Yale win. The first team claims the Y. M. C. A. championship of the state by virtue of its victory over Springfield.

The Y. M. C. A. State meet was won by Newton for the third consecutive time, P. Morton, MacRae, Jacobs, Allen, and Craig were the point winners for Newton.

Mr. John J. Cody, Jr., won the Waitt trophy meet for the year 1907. Mr. Cody made 100 points more than the winner last year.

The following records were broken during the year: shot put and standing high by Cody and the 150-yard dash by P. Morton.

Under the auspices of the Association two very successful Sunday School athletic meets were held. The out door meet had 177 different men and boys competing and the indoor meet 104. Two handicapped meets were held among our members during the year.

Class work for young men has been carried on three evenings each week. The best class of the year has been the Business men's class. This class is composed of 25 business and professional men and meets twice a week. The features of this class are volleyball and setting up drills.

The physical department is indebted to Dr. M. E. Gleason, our medical examiner, for his interest and aid in the development of the work.

In many associations educational work is the most important of any. With our fine system of public schools and libraries there is not a large field for educational work in the Newton Association. We try to supply any real need along educational lines and so have conducted classes in mechanical drawing and in first aid to the injured. Mr. A. L. Babbit has conducted our drawing class and Dr. M. E. Gleason the class in first aid.

Two educational clubs, camera and chess, have a membership of 30. Under the auspices of the camera club an excellent exhibition of vacation pictures was given. A team from the chess club composed of Messrs. Weston, Giffether, Stanton, Ringrose, Guthrie and Chandler represented the Association in the Metropolitan Chess League.

Nearly 100 women are interested in the work of the Association. They give liberally to support the work. Through their organization, the Auxiliary, many departments of the work are helped but they are especially interested in the boy's work. $300.00 has been given towards boy's work, several boys have been sent to summer camps and through their efforts the rooms were made more attractive.

Briefly I have told you of the activities of the members of this Association during the year. Some present have worked hard for the success of our organization. I could mention two or three men whose connection with our work is almost an absolute necessity. Are you satisfied with your part? If you should drop out of the membership would you be missed? Do you ride or do you get out and push sometimes.

These are important questions because the success of our work depends on the cooperation of each member. Take it in membership work. Certain members are especially interested in increasing the membership of the Association. They may speak to their friends about joining and they may bring 6 or 8 men apiece into the membership but if every member would speak to his friends and get only one new member what an increase in membership there would be.

Then take athletics on base ball or basket ball, not every man has the ability to make the teams or has the time to try for them. But those of us whose special line does not happen to be basket ball or base ball can help the teams to win by our loyalty by attending games and interesting men who are fond of those things in our base ball or basket ball teams.

Are you an all around Association man? Are you interested in every phase of our many-sided work. If you are interested in the gymnasium does the success of the Monday night meeting interest you? Do you care how the chess team comes out in their matches? Do you care whether the boy's work is a success or whether the finance committee has hard sledding to get money to run the Association?

We don't want specialists in this Association we want well rounded men interested in all kinds of work.

The one thing that we must do this coming year is to co-operate with each other. That feature of the Young Men's Christian Association must not be lost sight of.

Not long ago the board of directors appointed a committee to look up the advisability of starting a building movement in the near future. Just now they are seeking the advice of prominent men in regard to this matter. Some time before long I hope the question of what you will do for a new building will be put up to you. Then this spirit of co-operation which I have asked you to carry out and which has been shown by so many of you will count for big things.

Don't you think that the fact that we have 125 or more loyal men and women who annually give $4000 to carry on this work will count in our plans for a new building? Don't you think that the fact that our membership has grown from 218 May 1st, 1904, to 404 May 1st, 1907, will have something to do with getting a new building? Don't you think that the fact, that so many men and boys now enjoy our gymnasium, will help in the decision for a new building?

Do you know that in four years 28 men and boys have joined the church and more than 60 have decided to live Christian lives because of the influence of this Association. Will that work have no place in determining whether this Association is worthy of a permanent home? Will the fact that hundreds of young men have found recreation and health and the means of building up their bodies not count in this decision? I tell you it all counts and therefore I plead for a spirit of co-operation from every one here tonight to make this work a big success next year so that all will feel that the Newton Association is worthy of a permanent home.

—At the Communion service at the Congregational church last Sunday morning twenty new members were taken into the church, 15 by confession of faith and 5 by letter.

—Usual preaching services at the Methodist church next Sunday with the pastor occupying the pulpit. The topic for the evening service is "Lazarus Unbound." All are welcome.

—The contest over the will of Mrs. Louisa Pierce Barnes was settled this week by the Supreme Court, allowing the will. The judge ruled that as the heirs assented to the will, the creditors could not offer evidence to break it.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church held a very successful sale of food at Miss Chase's store last Saturday. At a recent meeting of the society it was decided to hold the food-sales, at the above place, every other Saturday afternoon beginning last week.

Waban.

—Miss Williams of Eliot had the weekly meeting of the Church Guild at her home, last Tuesday.

—Mills undertaking rooms, 817-819 Washington street, Newtonville. Tel. 112-3. Leave calls at Rhodes' Drug store. Tel. Newton S. 237-3.

—Mr. Theodore Wood of New Bedford has been home during the past week on account of the serious illness of his father, Mr. F. H. Wood of Pine Ridge road.

—Mrs. C. A. Sawyer of Chicago returned to her home last week Saturday after visiting her daughter in law Mrs. Adrian Sawyer, nee Miss Lucette Zeiss of Neholend road for two weeks.

—A most enjoyable and pretty dance was given by Misses Dorothy Winchester and Evelyn Comer in Waban hall last Friday evening. Some fifteen couples of young people were present and thoroughly appreciated the music favors and refreshments.

—The Waban boys' nine had their revenge on Wednesday afternoon which defeated the Newton Centre boys 14 to 12 in a remarkable 15 inning game. The majority of the runs were scored in the first few innings, after which both teams staidied and prevented each other's scoring until Raymond Rice drove in 2 runs in the last of the 15th. For the local boys he and F. Williams put up the best game, although Davis showed up well behind the bat.

Upper Falls.

—Suit for $5000 has been brought in the Superior Court at East Cambridge, against the Newton & Boston Street Railway by Dorothy M. Edes, through her father, Charles B. Edes. The plaintiff alleges that on Dec. 14, 1906, she was living at 31 Summer street, Newton Upper Falls, and that a car belonging to the defendants ran off the track and into her house, jarring it to such an extent that she suffered serious injury.

Moth Work

The recent annual report of A. H. Kirkland, Superintendent of the work of exterminating moths, contains the following extract regarding Newton:

The work against the gypsy and brown-tail moths in this city has been carried on in a very satisfactory manner during the season, and has been well supported by the local authorities. It is to be regretted that more burlap was not used during the summer months, but we have assurances that another season will see a general burllapping campaign over the city. In the sections where the burlap was used and in those where it is possible to make a thorough cleaning of the trees in the winter months the conditions are greatly improved over those of 1905. In other sections of the city, particularly in the woodlands, there has been a large increase in the numbers of the gypsy moth, the colony on Parker street being the most important infestation. The work of clearing the city trees of moth nests was begun early in November, and is being vigorously prosecuted.

Next season's work should include the liberal use of the burlap, and a large amount of spraying will also be necessary.

The gypsy moth has become well established in Newton, and much careful and thorough work will be necessary to hold it in check.

—There will be a Cradle Roll reception at the Methodist church tomorrow afternoon.

—The Methodist church gave its returning pastor, Rev. E. H. Thrasher and wife, a delightful reception last week Thursday evening. Addresses, the presentation of flowers to Mrs. Thrasher by Rev. W. L. D. Twombly in behalf of the Society, and light refreshments made a pleasing program.

—An enjoyable reception was tendered Rev. Walter Haley, the new pastor of the Newton Upper Falls Methodist church, Monday evening in that church. The edifice was attractively decorated with potted plants, ferns and cut flowers. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Sweet, H. E. Locke, Presiding Elder Rev. Dr. C. F. Rice, Rev. George S. Butters, Rev. L. J. Birney and Rev. A. L. Squire. The entertainment included piano selections by Misses Randall, Mrs. William Glover and Miss Mary Chesley. The ushers were Sampson Schuker, Charles R. Brown, Frank Probert, Edwin Thompson, Lewis P. Everett and Wilbur Halliday.

Its Work and Purpose Explained

Interesting Address by Mr. E. O. Childs, Jr.

The 6th Chapter of the Gospel according to John, a portion of the 5th verse: "There is a lad here which hath five barley loaves and two fishes."

ONE BOY. He had been fishing. He had his lunch and his fishes in his hand. Only a little fellow. That is all that is said about him and that is all we need to know.

Only a boy among five thousand people. But Jesus Christ could use him and he did use him in working that miracle which placed him at the height of his popularity and which was one of the greatest miracles of his earthly life. "There is a lad here—an interesting statement, a sentence with a world of suggestion, a remarkable picture. For it suggests the value of a boy when brought into personal contact with Jesus Christ. The part he may play in ushering in the Kingdom of Righteousness—the help he may be in establishing Christ's Kingdom here on earth—how he can help Christ—how Christ can help him.

It suggests also the thought that even in the greatest achievements of his life, the man, Christ Jesus, could stoop to a little fellow—could single out of that vast multitude one small boy; and could use him and what he had in the demonstration of divine power such as the world has never seen.

If I interpret the passage correctly, Jesus Christ by his words and by his attitude on that occasion placed a premium on young manhood, and plainly showed that in the fulfillment of his great purpose he has a place for boys and young men. Christian friends, and fellow members of Eliot Church, it is because thoughtful men today in the city of Newton recognize the truth of this picture, that I am here this morning, in the interest of an organization which is trying to do its work according to principles laid down or approved by our Master on the hills of Palestine centuries ago.

I speak this morning as the representative of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, which is located in Eliot Block, opposite the railroad station, on Centre street, Newton, and which has the finest rented quarters of any association in the state.

I make this statement because so many people get me mixed up with so many organizations which are doing work among the Boys of our city, that I feel that I ought to make my mission this morning plain.

The Young Men's Christian Association, like all Boys' Clubs, is a life-saving station, and it exists because thoughtful men have come to the conclusion that prevention is better than cure. That it is better business to stop the cause, than to repair the result; that it is more sensible and easier to form than to reform; that it is better to guide young men than to reclaim old men; and that it is cheaper to prevent crime than to reform criminals.

With these propositions, among others, we go before the shrewd, conservative, hard-headed business men of Newton and ask for their support and we get it.

The emblem of the Young Men's Christian Association is an equilateral triangle, on whose sides respectively are the words, Body—Mind—Spirit.

The Association stands for the physical, the intellectual and the spiritual development of Boys and Young Men. Thus it has a threefold mission, and stands for the development of "all around man."

That we submit is a worthy thing for which to stand; for if you develop a man's mind alone the chances are that you will produce a snob; if you develop his body alone the chances are that you will produce a brute; if you develop his spirit alone the chances are that you will produce a bigot; but if you develop with care, his mind and his body and his spirit, you will produce the highest work of God—a Christian gentleman. To this end we urge our boys and young men to remain at school and at the best education possible—we provide an excellent gymnasium, with a competent instructor, where young men not only develop muscles, but where they are inspired to clean and pure habits—and we make every effort for the building up of character.

Our membership today consists of 209 Boys and 195 Young Men. In our Gymnasium taking regular systematic exercise are 120 Boys and 80 Men.

There are four classes: the business men's class, the senior, intermediate, and junior classes.

The majority of our members live in Newton, though we have many members from Watertown and Waltham, and a few members from Wellesley, Natick, Needham, Brighton and Allston.

In our Association you will find representatives from every religious denomination.

Our rooms are open each day, except Sunday, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night. On Sunday they are open from 3 o'clock until 5.

We have a reading room supplied with the daily papers and current magazines, the church papers and all for which a young man could wish in that line. We have game rooms with an excellent assortment of games.

The Association has conducted several classes and clubs during the past season which have proved interesting and helpful to the different members.

A class in Mechanical Drawing has been conducted by Mr. Babbitt, a member of Eliot Church. Dr. Gleason, another member of this church, has conducted a class in "first aid to the injured."

Club, the Technology Chess Club, the Boston Chess Club, and the clubs from other Associations.

The Camera Club has provided pleasure and developed skill among the boys and young men interested in that sort of work.

During the past winter Dr. F. M. Serley, of Springfield, has given lectures at the Association on "Personal Purity" and "The Care of the Body."

Fanny Crosby gave an interesting talk in December on her life and her hymns. Richard Watson, a former convict in the prisons of this country, but who is now leading a better life, gave one of the most stirring, uplifting and inspiring talks that has been given at the Association this season.

Our General Secretary has located 20 men in good boarding places—and has secured business situations for three young men.

There have been other pleasing features of our work, such as socials, entertainments, musicals, etc., of which time forbids my speaking.

We have a well organized institution. We have a Woman's Auxiliary, of which we are justly proud. We are well equipped with materials for the prosecution of our work.

A pole, a hook and a bucket are indispensable in drawing water from a deep cistern, but it's the water you're after. So the elaborate paraphernalia of the Young Men's Christian Association is but a means to an end—after all said and done, the crowning purpose of a Young Men's Christian Association is to do what the disciple Andrew was continually doing—to introduce young men to Jesus Christ.

Andrew brought out the genius of Peter. He found out the genius of others and then disappeared. He was always on the lookout for the "other fellow" to bring him to Christ, and that's about all he ever did.

We aim, as I have said, for the development of the young man's mind; we aim also for the development of his body, but our highest aim is spiritual. It is for the development of character—Christian character.

And here is where we enter the field of religious work. The religious work of our Association has been ably conducted by those to whose care and keeping this important work has been committed.

Our motto is,—"Save a boy and you save a life."

Our religious work has many phases, but first and foremost our Association stands for Bible Study.

We believe that the Bible is the best guide book for boys and young men.

We believe that there never was a time when young men read so much about the Bible as they do today, and we believe that there never was a time when young men read and studied the Bible itself so little.

We believe that the coming generation ought to know that book.

We older ones know little enough about it.

Only the other day I heard of a little fellow who rushed into his father's library and said, "Papa, who was Shylock?"

His father turned to him and gruffly said, "How dare you ask a question like that; what do you suppose I've been sending you to Sunday school for the last two years?"

I heard of a pillar of the church, who had attended divine services all his life, who went home the other Sunday and began to praise a sermon which he had heard on Sodom and Gomorrah, and he remarked at the dinner table, "I'm so glad they were cities—I always thought that they were husband and wife."

Our Association believes in Bible study. We believe, also, that unless boys and young men are organized for some definite Bible study, they'll not develop much interest or follow it systematically.

And so we have had seven Bible classes at the Association during the past months, with 52 members enrolled. The average attendance has been 34. These boys and young men have been guided by competent teachers in their study of the Word of God.

We have held meetings for Boys at 3 o'clock each Sunday afternoon with an average attendance of 50.

These meetings have been opened with a good, old-fashioned sing, followed by a helpful address on some timely theme.

During the winter 26 boys have taken a stand in public and have stated in the presence of their fellows their determination, with God's help, to lead good, clean, consistent Christian lives as best they knew how.

To take a stand like that in the presence of one's fellows, when all are looking and when some are laughing at one, requires backbone and sand and nerve.

But our boys have it, and they are holding out.

Eleven of our boys who have taken this stand on the side of right have joined our churches. Four of them joined Eliot Church last Sunday morning.

Sometime ago we abandoned the Sunday afternoon meeting for men, and our regular meeting for older fellows has been held at 7:30 Monday night.

These meetings have been well attended and have been most helpful, as vital problems have been discussed, such as drinking, smoking, gambling, etc. These meetings have consisted largely of singing.

The Young Men's Christian Association believes pre-eminently in personal work, in helping the other fellow, in doing something for somebody else. The personal workers class has met each week and at these meetings some definite work has been mapped out for the fellows to do. The influence of this class is mighty, since most of the real active young men of the Methodist, Baptist and Eliot Churches are linked together in this work. The members of this class believe that every blessing they enjoy, their talents, their money, their time, their influence, is given them not for their exclusive use and enjoyment, but given to them in trust to be used for the "other fellow," to be used for the common good.

I've sometimes heard it said that there is no need of a Young Men's Christian Association in Newton—that it simply does the work of the Church.

That is an erroneous impression and yet one which is held by many good people.

The Association isn't a church. It doesn't do the work of the church. It is simply a feeder for the church. It is sort of half-way house. It does the work which the church doesn't do and yet a work which ought to be done.

It is the opening wedge.

It points a boy or young man toward the church.

It doesn't pick out a church for him. It allows him his own choice—and, having made that choice, our Association introduces him to some young man who attends that church, who in turn invites him to that church and tries to make him feel at home.

This is comparatively easy to do, since nearly all the active young men in our several churches are Association men.

And these Association men understand their business—they are friendly—they can sympathize with young men.

They appreciate their feelings.

They understand their doubts.

I venture to think that comparatively few church people understand the feelings, the attitude of young men and boys, and can really sympathize with them. It is a fact that the world with its low ideals is very near a young man—and the church with its high ideals is very far away.

Somewhat or other the church doesn't reach him—her ideals seem to him too high—the profession of church members seems to him so much, and their practice so little.

In the Evangelical churches the young man sees too much selfishness and "other worldliness" and in the more liberal churches he sees too much selfishness and "this worldliness."

And right here, in this situation, the Young Men's Christian Association takes hold of him, not with priestly authority, but in a very sympathetic and friendly way, and smooths out the wrinkles in his thought and unties the knots and iron out the difficulties, and before long that young man is friendly towards the church and is striving for the same high ideals.

That sort of work pays. Men all over the country say so.

I've also heard it said that there is no need of an Association in Newton, as most of the members are boys and young men who come from good homes.

That may be true—but most people who have had experience with the boys from "good homes" say otherwise.

Most of the boys and young men from "good homes" need something they evidently don't get at home.

They have habits which need to be broken—they need a thousand and one helps by the way—and right here the Association steps into their lives and furnishes the desired help.

There are certain workers in our Association who have the confidence of the boys and to whom the boys go with all their trials and troubles and difficulties. And these workers know the boys a great deal better than the boys' parents do.

A boy needs more than anything else a true friend, an advisor (who hasn't the authority of a father or mother) to whom he can go for help, on a friendship basis, pure and simple. Our Association furnishes these friends.

Again, the fact that a boy has a "good home" proves nothing. Many boys have gone wrong who had good homes. In Columbus penitentiary there are twenty bankers already there and more on the way. There are lawyers, and doctors and brokers and other eminent, respectable citizens, so called, who had good homes. And what is true of the Ohio prison is true of most of the prisons of our country.

A friend of mine who is interested in

Sale of Unredeemed Real Estate

by the City of Newton.

Collector's Office.

NEWTON, May 10, 1907.

In conformity with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the public and all persons interested as former owners and occupants of each of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth aforesaid, are hereby notified that said parcels have been conveyed according to law to said City of Newton for non-payment of taxes and assessments and the time within which each of the estates might be redeemed by the owners thereof having expired, each of said parcels will be offered for sale in accordance with section 67 of Chapter 13 of Revised Laws by public auction, at the City Hall in said Newton, on Monday, June 3, 1907

At 3 o'clock p. m.

and to the highest bidder for each of the several parcels a quitclaim deed will be delivered. For further particulars reference is made to the Registry of Deeds for the Southern District of the County of Middlesex, the volume and folio numbers following the description of each parcel, indicating the record of the deed under which the said City of Newton now holds title to the estate described.

The sums set against the several estates show the amount due thereon respectively for the taxes and assessments for the non-payment of which said estate was sold to the said Newton, together with the subsequent taxes and assessments, interest on the same, and all lawful costs and charges. And none of the said estates will be sold for less than the amount set against said estates, respectively.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

After a reconsideration which seemed unfavorable to the bill giving preference to Spanish war veterans was killed by the Senate on a tie vote, President Chapple's vote making the tie. While the margin is sufficient now, the friends of civil service ought not to neglect the plain intimation that the senators who voted for this bill. Senator Valley voted for the bill.

The enforcement of the new eight hour a day law which went into effect a few days ago, is causing a complete overturn in previously accepted methods of handling labor in the city departments. The chances of obtaining $2 a day by the city laborers will be greatly lessened by the effect of this law.

The House has wisely decided that the proposed new bath house at Salisbury beach is not to be constructed at the expense of the state. The state tax is looming large enough now without any features of a strictly local nature.

The success of the Federation Bazaar
this week is already assured and a substantial sum will undoubtedly be added to the Clafin fund as a result of the efforts of the ladies of Newton.

The Nonantum Day Nursery

A number of baby-carriages and high-chairs are much needed at the Nonantum Day Nursery.

It is believed that there are many people, possessing, but not at present using these articles, who would gladly donate them to supply this need, were they made aware of it.

The Nursery is caring for from thirty to thirty-six children, daily, of which number from five to eight are infants.

So restricted are the present accommodations, that, for their daily naps, two children have to be put in each crib, while the babies take their naps whenever and wherever a place is available.
Were there baby-carriages enough, the babies could, in fair weather, take all their naps out of doors.

Many of the little tots could be kept happy during their waking hours could they sit in high-chairs from which safe vantage point, they could enjoy the play of the older children.

Such contributions will be gratefully acknowledged and called for, if notice is sent to Mrs. G. H. Wilkins, secretary, The Nonantum Day Nursery Association, 324 Walnut street, Newton-ville.

High School Notes

Porter easily won the high jump in the interscholastic meet at Cambridge last Saturday. He jumped 5ft 6 1/2 in.
Chandler took fourth place in the running broad jump, giving the school six points in all. They tied with Stone School for fifth place.

In the first baseball game for over a week, Newton defeated English High School on Tuesday by the score of 6 to 1.

Colonel White spoke to the school in the assembly hall on Wednesday morning on universal peace.

The first Preparatory league baseball game is to be played tomorrow with Brookline High School at the American League Grounds, Boston.

Boston, Mass., May 16, 1907.
NEWTON GRAPHIC, Newton Mass.

Dear Sirs:—
In view of the highly sensational and much exaggerated report of an unfortunate occurrence on Walnut Street, Newtonville, last Sunday night, which appeared in several of the Boston papers, in which the Newton Police Department was criticised for delayed action, I beg to submit the following facts, namely:—

After the two attempted assaults, I immediately notified the Police Headquarters, and within fifteen minutes, Officer Kimball, was in my house and had interviewed both the ladies, and since then the Police have carried on an investigation in the most efficient manner.

I refused to be interviewed on the above occurrence, for the reason that I appreciated the feelings of both ladies concerned in the unfortunate affair, and knowing that the Police Department was making every possible effort to bring the guilty party to justice.

Respectfully yours,
Chas. Theo. Cutting.

At the meeting of the New England Women's Club, Monday afternoon in the Grundmann studios, Boston club honored one of its vice-presidents, who is one of its oldest members also, Mrs.
Electa L. N. Walton.

The club members brought and sent any quantity of flowers, including an immense basket of roses, and Mrs. Julia Ward Howe presented her a large silver pitcher from the organization as a whole.
Mrs. Walton, who wore black lace and a corsage bouquet of violets, made a pleasant response to Mrs. Howe's happy little speech. Miss Lucia Peabody and others spoke briefly and tea was served.

GRAND BAZAAR In Aid of Clafin Field Fund Brilliant Affair in Charge of Newton Women's Clubs

Seldom has this city been so thoroly aroused, its civic spirit spurred and its pride in splendid achievements so great, as it has been this week over the Grand Bazaar held under the auspices of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs
on the Clafin estate, Newtonville.

Beginning Wednesday afternoon and continuing each afternoon and evening until ten o'clock tomorrow night, the efforts of hundreds of Newton ladies have culminated in a most interesting, unique, and, from present indications,
highly profitable fair.

Many things have combined to make the Bazaar a success. The excellent object, for which the money is being raised—the purchase of the Clafin estate for civic purposes—the splendid manner in which the ladies have organized the movement—each club in the Federation having its own special feature in charge—and the historic associations of "The Elms", all add to the interest and attraction.

The Colonial reception in charge of the Waban Woman's Club, Wednesday evening opened the bazaar with a blaze of glory. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated with some 1200 electric lights, festooned along the driveways and walks, and the old mansion house outlined, even to the gables with many lights and stars. At the south of the house, where it could be seen from Walnut street was an illuminated sign with the words—"Clafin Good Ground". The electrical work was contributed by Mr.
W. H. Colgan of West Newton and the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company.

Once inside the hospitable old mansion a scene of brilliance and beauty met the eye—such has not been seen for many years in Newton. Groups of handsome women in old Colonial costume were everywhere in evidence to greet the guests and usher them on their way.
In the reception room at the right of the hall were stationed the receiving line, all both men and women, in gorgeous costumes of "ye olden time"; these included Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor, president of the Federation, Mrs. E. N. L.
Walton, first president of the Federation, Mayor and Mrs. W. W. Walton, Supt. of Schools and Mrs. F. E. Spaulding, Mrs. Arthur C. Walworth, representing the Clafin family, Mr. and Mrs.
Frank A. Dav, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch C.
Adams and Mr. C. S. Dennison.

Mrs. Taylor wore a brown brocade silk with a point lace kerchief. Mrs.
Walton was gowned in a light brocade polonaise, with pampiers over a green silk petticoat. She wore an old fashioned brooch on her bodice and lace mitts instead of gloves. The mayor was resplendent in a dark green velvet suit, gold braid, light blue silk vest, knee breeches and buckled shoes. Dr.
Spaulding was dressed in brocade blue with stockings to match. Mrs. Spaulding wore old rose satin over white silk.
Mrs. Walworth was dressed in red and white silk, a portion being from her wedding dress. Mrs. Dav was in pearl brocade silk, with a huge shell comb in her powdered hair. Alderman Day, the father of the Clafin Field movement, wore black velvet trimmed with jet,
white stockings and buckled shoes. Mrs.
Adams was in orange satin over white silk her bodice trimmed with silver and pearl. Mr. Dennison, the treasurer of the fund was in conventional evening dress, altho his actions were often unconventional. The room was artistically decorated after the manner of former days with palms and flowers and lighted with numerous candles in candelabra, silver, brass and glass candlesticks and brass and glass sconces upon the walls.

Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury, president of the club and Mrs. George G. Phipps, one of the founders of the Federation, were the hostesses of the evening and the ushers were Mesdames C. E. Kelsey, E. F. Miller, A. H. Clifford, F. C. Hatch, W. R.
Dewey, H. G. Pratt, L. P. Everett, T.
M. Elwell, G. F. Kimball, Pietro Isola,
G. F. Lowell and Miss S. A. Whiting.

The Waltham Watch city orchestra dispensed music during the reception and later played at the Colonial concert given in the High School Assembly hall.
This concert which immediately followed the close of the reception at nine o'clock attracted a large and enthusiastic audience. It was under the charge of the Equal Suffrage League, Mrs. Geo.
F. Lowell, chairman. Nearly one hundred singers were in the chorus, all gaily clad in Colonial costume, and they entered the hall, to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne", marshalled by the ushers, Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee, Mrs. Fred B.
Young, Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. L. P.
Everett and Mrs. Lowell. Mr. Horace
M. Walton was the director, and the chorus was assisted by Miss Mary F.
Sherwood, Miss Josephine Martin, Mrs.
Elizabeth S. Barker, soprano, Mr. Frank V. Russell, xylophone, Mr. Chas. F. Atwood, tenor, Mr. W. W. Cole, bass, and the Mendelssohn quartet. The chorus did splendid work and with such possibilities should not be allowed to disband with but one performance. May it prove to be a nucleus of a permanent organization which shall regularly prepare feasts for Newton music lovers. The soloists were warmly received, all being encored, and Miss Sherwood's splendid work receiving a double encore. Miss Martin was also in excellent voice and the male quartet were equally effective.
The performance did not close until long after eleven.

Chorus—Invitation. Majesty.
Song—"The Pretty Creature, Mr. Cole.
Catch—Hark, the bonny Christ Church Bells, Miss White, Miss Martin, Mr.
Atwood.
Chorus—Strike the Cymbal.
Songs—"The Banks of Allan Water.
Sally in our Alley, Miss Martin.
Trio—"Ye Shepherds, tell Me, Mr. Atwood, Mr. Pierce, Mr. Cole.
Songs—"The Lass with the delicate air.
Comin' thro' the rye, Miss Sherwood.
Chorus—"A Mighty Fortress is our God.
Songs—"My mother bids me bind my hair. Bonny Doon, Mrs. Barker.
Quartet—"Annie Laurie. Reveries, Mendelssohn Quartet.

Songs—"Drink to me only with thine eyes. Mary of Allendale, Mr. Atwood.
Xylophone Solo—"Overture. Poet and Peasant, Mr. Russell.
Chorus—"The Heavens are telling.

The Bazaar proper is in the rooms of the house and here are displayed the numerous sales tables, which are under the direction of the Social Science Club, Mrs. Fred H. Tucker, chairman. In the rear parlor are the candy table, Persian Club, bag and sofa pillow table, Waban Woman's Club, handkerchiefs and neckwear, Newtonville Woman's Guild. The library at the end of the hall is reserved as headquarters for the treasurer, for the sale of the "Mirror" and for receiving subscriptions to the GRAPHIC.
In the dining room are the tables for books, pictures, stationery and such articles, the Newton Centre Woman's Club, while in the kitchen, food, samples, etc., the West Newton Women's Educational Club. Ice cream and cake were served in a tent in the rear of the house.
On the second floor are found the fancy
table, Social Science Club, the Consumer's League exhibit, the Apron table, Ladies' Home Circle, Children's articles, Mothers' Club, package table, Auburn-dale Review Club, and household articles Monday Club.

The Loan Exhibition in charge of the Newton Centre Woman's Club occupies another of the chambers and is full of interesting historic articles. The Newton High School Alumni have reserved a room as a meeting place and have decorated it with numerous pictures of classes and class athletic teams and other trophies. The committee in charge of this interesting feature comprises the following well-known graduates: Harry L. Burrage, Charles A. Brown, Mabel
S. Hosmer, Mary F. Eddy, Harriet A.
Peabody, Grace Weston, Henry Whitmore, Martha C. Danton, Elizabeth C.
Carter, Bessie B. Priest, Kate Wallace, Charles F. Johnson, Jr., Alice B. Andrews, Edith A. Carter, Alderman Albert P. Carter and Arthur W. Tarbell.
Mrs. L. Giles Galletly, scientific palmist, is on duty in the alcove off the upper front hall.

The Telephone Company has installed a free telephone in the house and the city provided the ropes enclosing the grounds.

The entire affair is in the hands of the Bazaar committee, consisting of Mrs.
Helen C. Taylor, chairman, Mrs. F. H.
Tucker, Mrs. W. C. Boyden, Mrs. H. K.
Burrison, Mrs. E. C. Hinkley, Mrs. V.
D. Baldwin, Mrs. G. F. Lowell, Mrs. F.
E. Anderson, Mrs. S. A. Thompson, Miss
Katherine L. Bail, Mrs. C. H. Stacy,
Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury, Mrs. W. M. Mick,
Miss Grace M. Burt and Mrs. G. H.
Wilkins, secretary. Special features are in charge of committees aggregating upwards of one hundred and fifty ladies, of which the following are chairmen:—
"Mirror of Newton", Mrs. W. C. Boyden; Loan Exhibition, Mrs. F. E. Anderson; Sales Tables, Mrs. F. H. Tucker; Colonial Reception, Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury; Colonial Teas, Miss Katherine L.
Bail; Business committee, Mrs. C. H.
Stacy; Refreshments, Mrs. H. K. Bur-rison; Children's Afternoon, Mrs. S. A.
Thompson and Mrs. E. C. Hinkley; Colonial Concert, Mrs. G. F. Lowell; Dramatics, Mrs. V. D. Baldwin; Decorations, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. W. E.
Shedd.

We commented last week on the magazine of the Bazaar,—"The Mirror" and its final appearance amply endorses the advance notice. The Magazine committee, Mrs. Boyden, chairman, Mrs. H. H.
Carter, Mrs. A. P. Walker, Mrs. F. T.
Beimer, Mrs. A. W. Auryansen and Mrs.
C. G. Wetherbee in charge of the advertising, are to be congratulated upon the instantaneous success of their work.

The two plays, "The Kleptomaniac" and "Petticoat Perfidy", were given in the tent on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Auburndale Review Club, with Mr. Frank E. Fowle as coach, Mrs. Mary R. Herron, chairman.
Both casts did admirable work and the plays went off with fine snap. The way in which they were able to make their voices carry in the big tent amidst the patter of the rain was remarkable.
There was music both before and between the plays. The following are the casts:

THE KLEPTOMANIAC.

The Cast.
Mrs. John Burton (Peggy).
Mrs. A. C. Cummings.
Mrs. Valerie Chase Armsby (a young widow). Mrs. C. E. Fogg.

Mrs. Preston Ashley (Bertha).

Mrs. N. A. Hallett.
Miss Freda Dixon. Miss Katherine Bail.
Miss Evelyn Evans, a journalist.
Miss Louise Peloubet.

Katie, Mrs. Burton's maid,
Miss Olive W. Nickerson.

PETTICOAT PERFDY.

The Cast.
Mrs. Mountrevor.
Mrs. Jessie F. Waterhouse.
Mrs. Norwood Jones, a widow.
Mrs. Jessie Palmer Grahame.
Juliette, Lady's maid.
Mrs. Nellie Parsons Hill.

The Bazaar will be honored this evening, "Governor's Night," with the presence of Governor Guild, ex-governors Long and Bates and Senator Crane.
The distinguished party will dine at the Newton club and then escorted to the grounds by the Clafin Guards. The Waltham band will give a concert on the grounds followed by speaking in the large tent erected on the lawn. After the speaking, the guests will hold an informal reception inside the mansion.

Mrs. O. E. Nutter of Oak street Monday afternoon.

—Under the auspices of the teachers of the Ralph Waldo Emerson school, the drama, "Breezy Point" was given in Wade hall, Newton Upper Falls, before a large audience last Friday evening, in aid of the fund for decorating the kindergarten department. $80 was raised.

A meeting of the Newton clergy was held Friday afternoon at Central church, Newtonville, to consider taking concerted action in regard to Sunday school matters in Newton. It was the sentiment of those present to look over the field and possibly form some normal classes next season. A committee consisting of Rev. F. F. Snell, Rev. J. T. Stocking and Rev. J. C. Jaynes was appointed to make further investigations and report at a later meeting.

Clubs and Lodges

—In the old Masonic hall in the Claf-lin building on Washington street, Newtonville, last Wednesday evening about 150 Odd Fellows gathered to witness the working of the three degrees by Waban, Home and Lafayette lodges.

—A meeting of Mr. Ida Council was held Monday evening in Dennison hall, Newtonville. Mr. Victor J. Loring of Wellesley, a well known Boston lawyer and president of the Men's Federated Clubs, was the guest and speaker.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held at the residence of Mr. L. E. Moore, 199 Church street, on Thursday evening May 23rd.

Rev. H. Grant Person will be the guest of honor and chief speaker. Reports from the secretary of the Auxiliary will be given. All members of the Auxiliary and their husbands and friends are invited.

The intermediate base ball team won an 11-8 victory from St. Peter's team of Cambridge. The game was well played.
A fine illustrated Bible in four volumes was given to the Association by a friend. This is a fine addition to the Bible Library.

The strong Library Bureau base ball team will cross bats with the association team next Saturday on the south diamond at Cabot Park at 3 P. M.

Mr. Harkins Dead

—Mr. Alphonse L. Harkins, youngest son of the late Cornelius P. and Margaret M. Harkins, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. M. O'Donnell on Washington street, Saturday, of consumption, after a two years' illness. He was a native of Newton, where he was born 35 years ago, and he attended the public schools here. During the Spanish-American war he was a sergeant in Battery B, 2nd United States artillery and later held the position of foreman for a large construction company. He is survived by two sisters and four brothers. The funeral was held from the house Tuesday morning at 8.30 and services followed at the Church of Our Lady at 9 o'clock. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Mgr. P. G. Harkins of Holyoke, uncle of the deceased, celebrant, Rev. James F. Kelly, deacon, and Rev. A. S. Malone, sub deacon. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and a profusion of floral tributes.
The pall bearers were Dr. John O'Donnell, Dr. George O'Donnell and Messrs.
John Cranitch and McHugh. The burial was in Holyhood cemetery, Brookline.

Mr. Danforth Dead

Mr. Cornelius N. Danforth of Yonkers, N. Y., formerly connected with the revenue cutter service, died suddenly of an aneurysm at the Woodland Park Hotel last Monday. He was 59 years of age.
He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Miss Cora M. Danforth, a student at Lasell seminary and a son, Mr. Frank Danforth, who is connected with the Fore River shipyards. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of deceased's sister on Auburn street, Rev. Horace Dutton officiating, and the remains will be taken to New York later for burial.

Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hamilton, widow of the late John E. Hamilton, died at the home of her son on Tremont street last Friday. She was a native of Provincetown and was 75 years of age. She is survived by a son and daughter. Rev.
H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot church, conducted a short prayer service at the house Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the funeral took place from the Congregational church in Duxbury, Sunday afternoon.

men who have been crooked and who are down and out often visit the great prison in Auburn, N. Y.

Not long ago he conducted a service in that institution on Sunday morning.

At the close of the service he asked if there were any present who would like to shake off the old life and make a new start in right living, and several men stood up.

"During all the service," said my friend, "I had my eye on a young fellow who was playing in the prison orchestra. He looked differently from the other fellows. He had a fine face. He seemed a different brand."

I wanted him to stand up—he seemed interested, but he didn't move. After the service my friend went up to him and spoke kindly to him, "Young man, your face is familiar."

The young man called my friend by name, and said, "Mr. Blank, I know you. I've heard you before. You spoke one evening at my church at home. My folks don't know where I am, and I'm in here for 15 years."

A young man from a good home, and from a church as good as Eliot.

Friends, if the facts were known, I think that we would find that the most common and dangerous crimes of today are being committed by men who had "good homes."

The Association and the Boys' Clubs of our city are the best places for young men from good homes or bad homes to spend their spare time—for at these places an opportunity is afforded to study the young fellows, to guide them through their temptations, and to counteract the influences which surround them in worse places and on the street.

A young man came from a good home, and went to college. His father thought he was all right, but his father didn't know him.

He had formed bad habits and throughout his college course he flew his kite wide and high. At the time of his graduation the world owed him nothing of a good time. He had had it all. He started in business in a western city. Good influences came into his life—Association influences—church influences. He became a Christian. In a few years typhoid fever laid him low.

His father was summoned, and the physicians shook their heads and said, "No hope." The father went into the hospital to see his son, who said to him, "It's all over. I'm going."

His father said to him, "Jack, are you afraid to die?"

The young man answered, "No, father. I'm not afraid to die, but I'm ashamed to after the way I lived in college."

"Men and Women." The Young Men's Christian Association renders a great service when it so guides young life at the beginning that there'll be fewer regrets at the end.

This briefly, is the work that our Association is doing. And we are simply carrying out the work which men like Lewis Chase, and Charles E. Eddy, and George S. Harwood and men of that stamp, began.

They planted—we water—God gives the increase.

We Eliot young men stay in the work because we see the good that the Association is doing; but other motives prompt us too.

We believe that if Lewson Chase is worthy of an Echo Organ in this meeting house, he is worthy of having young men from this church come forward and sustain the work of that Association to which he gave so much of his life.

We believe that if Charles E. Eddy is worthy of a Baptismal Font at this altar, he is worthy of having the young men in this church, whom he inspired and whose lives he touched, come forward and see to it that the work which he began doesn't lag for want of workers.

Friends, we'll help carry on the work, if you'll provide the funds. And in judging us, judge us by our best. That's the way you judge your horses; that's the way to judge your institutions and your fellow men.

It is sometimes hard to tabulate our progress and to figure up the exact amount of good the Association does in this city.

It is hard to put one's finger on all the good our churches do.

It is a peculiar work. A Merchant can look over his ledger at the close of his business year. He can balance his books and estimate the headway and the progress which his enterprise has made.

A farmer at the close of the season can easily tell whether he is making advances or running behind.

In almost every occupation a man can figure exactly his profit and his loss.

A minister is in a different position. He never can tell the good his church is doing unless the people tell him when he helps them.

You can never fully estimate the good that a church or a Young Men's Christian Association or a boy's Club really does.

There are many results for good which have never come to the attention of the Association. There are many good things which we will never know. But there are a few things we do know.

We know that that group of care-less lads who formed our Junior Department in 1894, three are members of the Board of Directors of our Association today, and most of the others are leading helpful, useful lives in this and other communities.

We know that the teachers in our schools tell us that the Association is changing their boys for the better.

We know that parents come to our Association and say, "Thank God, you've helped my boy."

We know also that 28 young men in the past four years have joined our churches who never in the world would have done so if it hadn't been for the Y. M. C. A.

And we know finally that almost all of the young men who are doing active work in our several churches today got their inspiration and their zeal from the Newton Young Men's Christian Association and through S. M. Sayford, its President, who for the past eight years has been at its head.

So much for Newton and her Young Men's Christian Association.

But remember that we are but a part of a great movement, a movement which is world wide.

For what is true of our work in this city is true of the work in all the larger cities of this country, is true of the work in Canada, in South America, in Europe, in China, in India and in Japan.

The value of this work among young men and boys cannot be overestimated.

For, Christianize the young men of Boston, New York, Chicago, New Orleans and San Francisco, and you've gone a long way towards Christianizing American manhood.

Christianize the young men of the great cities of the Eastern and Western hemispheres and you've gone a long way toward winning the world for Christ.

It is young men whom the churches today are not reaching.

It is young men whom selfishness is undermining on every hand.

It is young men who are called upon to wrestle with temptations—temptations the like of which and the number of which you older men never had to meet.

It is in the midst of these conditions then, not as we'd like to have them but as they are, the Young Men's Christian Association I maintain, if for no other reason, demonstrates its right to be here, when it hold up Jesus Christ as the example and pattern for every young man.

Woman's World

Conducted by Miss GRACE M. BURT.

The last meeting of the Pierian Club was held May 8, at the home of Mrs. S. A. Thompson. The principal features of the afternoon were the election of officers and a musical. The following is the list of officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Edith Cooper, vice president, Mrs. H. E. Child; recording secretary, Mrs. J. K. Hemphill; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. W. C. Easterbrook; treasurer, Mrs. Thos. Ryder; auditor, Mrs. W. Clayton Willard; executive board, Mrs. John Titus, Mrs. L. P. Everett, Mrs. S. A. Thompson; standing committees to City Federation; social committee Mrs. J. W. C. Easterbrook; nominating committee, Mrs. Hallday; school suffrage committee, Mrs. Ryder.

After the business of the afternoon the following program was given.

Duets—"Midsummer's Nights' Dream," Misses Randall.

Soprano Solo—"Love in Idleness," Miss Godfrey.

Violin Solo—"Gavotte," Miss Helena Colburn.

Impromptu piano selection and soprano solo, Mrs. Flint and Mrs. Cooper.

Soprano solo—"May Day," Miss Godfrey.

After refreshments, a social chat was indulged in by all.

Children's Afternoon at the Bazaar

Many attractions have been arranged for the Children's Afternoon at the Federation Bazaar tomorrow. A May Pole dance will be given on the lawn if it is pleasant, otherwise in the big tent, at two o'clock followed by a Mother Goose Party in the tent at three. The dance will be repeated later in the afternoon. There will also be balloons, pop-corn, peanuts, "rabs, and donkey rides.

Correspondence

Having returned to take up my permanent residence in West Newton after an absence of many years in the West and Mexico may I be permitted to call attention to one matter of retrogression that is in glaring contrast to the very great improvements in streets, parks, and private places that have in recent years transformed the village into the beautiful urban city of Newton. I refer to the disgraceful equipment and service of the Boston & Albany road which is strikingly inferior not only to that of western and southern railroads but to that which we used to have here. Who does not remember the bright clean cars, what boy of thirty years ago does not remember the old locomotives that were "things of beauty and joys forever"—the "William Bliss," the "D. W. Lincoln" and the "Nathan Hale" with glistening brass and stripes of bright red paint on the black. Even the old freight engines, "Ajax," "Vulcan," "Nero" and "Hero" were models of their kind. In contrast to these we now have clanking, dilapidated, leaking engines that have served normal life-times presumably in the coal fields of Pennsylvania, and cars that would not be offered for Jim Crow service in the south. But what is worse than all is the substitution of soft coal, and the poorest grade at that, for the anthracite that gave scarcely any smoke at all in days gone by. I am amazed that the men of Newton—men who are proud of the valor and chivalry of their New England ancestry—should themselves be so degenerate as to tamely submit to being packed in these dingy cars for a half hour twice daily and made to breathe—their wives and daughters made to breathe—the all pervading smoke. It is positively indecent and could be corrected in short order were it not the complacency that has supplanted old time public spirit. Everyone knows, of course, how the state was betrayed when it came into the birth-right that was wisely provided by our statesmen of a generation ago—how the golden opportunity for state ownership was lost and sold to the New York Central people for a mess of pottage. But there is no reason for submitting to having the bad bargain rubbed in as it is now and I believe that our representatives at Boston ought to be requested to secure immediate relief from the smoke nuisance and proper equipment without delay.

Henry Ware Allen.

Bartholomew-- Page

The marriage of Miss Fanny M. Page, daughter of P. A. Page of Washington park, Newtonville, and Walter H. Bartholomew of Charleston, S. C., took place at 5 Tuesday afternoon in the Newtonville Methodist church.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. George S. Butters, pastor of the Newton Methodist church, assisted by Rev. A. L. Squier of Newtonville. With the exception of Miss Marjorie Young Soden, who acted as ring bearer, the couple were unattended. A reception immediately followed the ceremony, many sic being rendered by Harry Bemis of Quincy, cousin of the bride.

After a trip to Vermont, Washington and New York, Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew will make their home in Charleston, S. C.

Entertainment Club

One of the best dramatic performances by the club in many months was a vaudeville program given Tuesday evening in the parlors of Channing church before a large audience.

The program opened with "The Burglar," an adaptation by Mr. Leverett Bentley of a well-known story, in which the role of a little girl was played by Miss Louise E. Wright and that of a burglar by Mr. Bentley. Miss Wright's interpretation won warm applause and she scored a distinct hit. Vocal solos by Mrs. R. C. Emery and readings by Miss Mary Cox, were well received.

The second part was an old time laugh compelling sketch, "Done on Both Sides," in which the parts were taken by Mrs. R. W. Bartlett, Miss Marjory Adams, Mr. Hugh J. Stockford, Mr. William C. Adams and Mr. A. A. Lovett. Mr. Henry T. Wade was pianist.

In order best to influence the British government a meeting of Hindoos opposed to the partition of Bengal decided the other day to observe the anniversary of "partition day" by "fasting, praying and bathing in the Ganges."

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre.—Few shows of the current season at Keith's have contained a greater number of novelties than the one arranged for the coming week. First and foremost comes the Metzerli Troupe of acrobats, eleven in number, who do some of the most wonderful tumbling feats ever attempted. They created a positive sensation in New York and duplicated it in Philadelphia. Another act much out of the ordinary is the pantomime comedy presented by Barnold's dogs and monkeys, the drollest thing of the kind that the stage has ever seen and sure to make the biggest kind of a hit. Miss Morton and Paul Nicholson are to play their new sketch, "Ella's All Right," by far their best effort if the verdicts of other cities are to be accepted. The Four Huntings are to make their re-appearance after a three years' absence from vaudeville. The comedietta is one of the fastest moving fun vehicles imaginable. Miss Marion Sawtelle, a Boston girl who was formerly a popular member of two of the Hub's stock companies, will appear in a new line of work. She is member of the team of Knight Brothers and Sawtelle, whose specialty is eccentric dancing, in which she has become very expert. The musical Avolos, the foremost xylophonists; LeRoy and Woodford, who always have an entertaining lot of chatter; Paul Stephens, the famous one-legged acrobat; Sue Smith, comedienne; the LeRoy Brothers, in novel dances; Amos, the clown juggler, and the Kinetograph will round out the program.

Park Theatre.—The announcement of the coming summer season engagement of Miss Lillian Lawrence at the Park Theatre, Boston, commencing Saturday night, May 18th, is welcome news to thousands of her admirers in Boston and its allied towns. The play selected for the opening week is that great French masterpiece by Augustin Daly, "Frou-Frou." In the title part Miss Lawrence finds the necessary scope for the display of her versatility. The company engaged in her support is made up of none but the best artists obtainable and includes a number of players well known and popular with Boston audiences. Popular prices will prevail throughout the season and those desiring to reserve the same seat for each week can do so by becoming a subscriber. Matinee performances will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Tremont Theatre.—"The Time, the Place and the Girl" will enter upon its third week at the Tremont Theatre on Monday evening, and still there is not the slightest diminution in the interest on the part of the New England public to see this jolly musical comedy success which is fully duplicating the marked success which it has created throughout the West, and which is certainly the talk of all Boston. From the very start the theatre has been packed at each performance, and one has to be at the box office very early in case one does not want to be disappointed and stand up throughout the performance, for the seats all go like hot cakes and the supply is not nearly enough to supply the demand for this popular entertainment. "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is a new development in the line of a musical comedy, and proves that the people of every day life may be quite as amusing as the fantastic creatures of unknown countries, and that even a poker game or a small pox scare may be turned into the subject of legitimate funmaking. The characters in the new piece are just the sort that one would be likely to meet anywhere, plain, ordinary folks, but amusing just the same and gifted with a lively disposition that is sure to keep things moving at a rapid pace. There is something doing all the time in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," and one really has no chance to think until the final curtain has descended, and then one can only vote it to be the jolliest production that Boston has ever seen.

Ezra J. Whiton Dead

Mr. Ezra Jones Whiton passed away at the Newton hospital last Sunday morning following a surgical operation. He was born on Copp's Hill, Boston, Nov. 25, 1830 and was a lineal descendant of James Whiton, who came to Hingham, Mass., in 1647. At an early age his parents moved to Hingham where he grew up, attending the Derby Academy in that town and later the well known Hawes school in Boston. As a young man he entered the employ of L. C. Chase & Co. and afterwards was in business for many years with his brother, the late Lewis C. Whiton.

After the death of the latter he continued the business with Mr. Walton Hall under the old name of Whiton & Brother, until the dissolution of that firm when he became a member of the firm of Fearing, Whiton & Co., remaining a partner until its incorporation and was president of the company at the time of his death. The business was that of canvas, cordage, cotton duck and cotton shoe findings. For the past 25 years Mr. Whiton has resided in Newton, having a beautiful home on Church street, opposite Farlow park. He is survived by a widow, three daughters and one son. Deceased was one of the early members of the Newton Club and was a life member of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union. Funeral services were held from the house Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, pastor of Channing church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Dr. George S. Butters of the Methodist church. The bearers were the son and three sons-in-law. The remains were taken later to Mount Auburn.

Real Estate

Wm. H. Rand has sold the estate, No. 420 Waltham street, West Newton, belonging to Joseph B. Martin to Miss Ida Hosmer of Boston, who buys for occupancy and will take possession at once. The property consists of an 8 room, strictly up-to-date, Queen Anne house with twelve thousand feet of land, being one of the most attractive estates on that beautiful street.

Mid May Sale of Ladies Shirt Waists Suits

A few days of summer weather will make every lady think of her summer house or street costume.

We offer this week, two splendid chances to anticipate your summer needs.

From a standpoint of style and economy—both are worthy your immediate attention.

250 Ladies White Two Piece Suits

Made of extra fine Linen finish White Duck. The skirt is seven gore—made full and with liberal hem.

The waist is cut regulation shirt waist style—detachable collar and belt—plaited front—medium sleeve with 2 button cuff. The only reason we're able to sell them less than $2.50 is the skirt is subject to slight weaver's imperfections, in many, so slight as to be scarcely noticeable. It's a neat, serviceable street or house costume for summer wear. An actual $2.50 value.

150 Colored Two Piece Suits

The materials in this second lot are excellent Gingham and Percales, and the patterns are simply beautiful.

You can't help making a satisfactory selection from such a variety.

Every one is a model of taste, both in style and pattern.

They're easily the peer of any we've ever shown at $3.50. This lot is perfect in weave and make, and come to us direct from the maker—hence the low price.

These are samples of the values that we're continually offering in our Ladies Outer Wear Section—which by the way is the largest department devoted to the supply of Ladies Outer Wear maintained by any store between Boston and Worcester.

Governor's Night At the Bazaar

Governor's Night at the Federation Bazaar on Clifton Field was a brilliant success. Congressman Weeks was in charge and he secured not only His Excellency Governor Guild, but four of the five living ex-governors, only ex-governor Douglas, being absent from the occasion.

Previous to the speaking in the large tent on the Clifton lawn, the distinguished guests were entertained at dinner at the Newton clubhouse by Captain Weeks and the gentlemen of the committee in charge of that portion of the festival. Those present beside Congressman Weeks and Governor Guild, were Senator and ex-governor W. Murray Crane, Hon. John D. Long, Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett, Hon. John L. Bates, Hon. A. R. Weed, Rev. W. E. Huntington, D. D., the only person present not a member of the Committee, Alderman Frank A. Day, Hon. Seward W. Jones, Robert S. Gorham, Frank J. Hale, Arthur C. Farley, Henry Whitmore, Chas. E. Hatfield, William M. Flanders, Chas. S. Dennison and Chas. E. Kelsey.

The party were escorted to the Clifton estate from the clubhouse by the Clifton Guards, and were received with many red fires and a salute of bombs.

Inside the tent while the crowd was slowly gathering, a chorus of school pupils under the leadership of Mr. Horace Walton sang the Star Spangled Banner, the Battle Hymn of the Republic, the Swanee River, and were followed by the band.

Congressman Weeks presided and spoke as follows:

We are gathered on this historic estate to dedicate ourselves to the completion of a great and unique public enterprise, and incidentally to dedicate our neighbors and friends to the same purpose, if they are not present. After the thorough publicity which has been given this project, it seems hardly necessary to allude to its character, yet there may be those who do not understand or appreciate its full significance.

The City of Newton has located its High School, one of the best, materially speaking, in the Commonwealth, and I say it with proper pride, I believe second to none in the results which are obtained from its curriculum. Adjoining this estate, a location very near the geographical center of the sixteen square miles which are included within our city limits. The lot on which the High School building stands is limited in area, so that it can only be used for the buildings now standing on it. Modern conditions require manual training schools, public bath houses, gymnasiums and extensive playgrounds. The demand for these facilities has become acute, and at the same time, owing to the death of its late owner and last occupant, ex-Governor William Clifton, this estate is offered for sale. If it were divided into small lots and built on, a process which its central location would soon complete, it would be necessary to provide locations for the purposes to which I have referred at considerable distances from the present High School building, and the consequent inconvenience for our children for all time to come. Therefore it becomes desirable to buy this estate, and it became necessary to act quickly. It is a natural question to ask "Why does not the city do what seems so desirable?" but the reply, and it is conclusive in this instance, is that the city has expended so much money for various municipal improvements, including water supply, sewers, separation of grade crossings, the development of boulevards and the building of school houses, that it is uncomfortably near its debt limits, and in this emergency a few public spirited men obtained an option on this property and have undertaken to raise the money to pay for it. They might have failed in this if there had not come to their relief several hundred public spirited women who have arranged this Festival and propose to see the purchase carried to a successful conclusion. There should not now be any doubt of this result. If the city bought the land we would all have to pay for it, but it would be a conscription, and would have furnished an additional excuse to complain of our tax bills. We are attempting to bring about this result in a better way by giving every citizen an opportunity to assist in this purchase voluntarily. All will admit that the purpose is a good one, that the location is the best obtainable, that the estate which has so long been the home of those who have devoted their efforts in behalf of the public, should continue to be occupied by those who are to make up the best of our public in all the years to come. It should be considered a privilege to assist in such an undertaking. If people really took to heart the Scriptural injunction that "it is more blessed to give than to receive," there would be a mild stampede to deposit the necessary funds with the Treasurer of this enterprise. Giving, in itself, is in a sense a habit. Newton people are as ready to give for public purposes as those of any community within this Commonwealth, but that does not mean all Newton people. It simply means those who have acquired the habit in years past. Generally speaking, such people have responded, and now it rests with those who are not in the habit of contributing to public purposes to see the desirability of undertakings of this character, and to make certain the financial success of this project. If every man and woman who is able to give to purposes of this character could only appreciate that the world cares very little about what they are doing for their own selfish ends, or for those who are dependent on them, but that it does care and will always remember her those who do for all of their fellow citizens instead of for the few, there would be no hesitation on the part of every citizen to demand the right to join in the work.

I have referred to the fact that this place has been occupied for many years by those who have taken an important part in public affairs. For that reason, added to other sufficient ones, we are honored tonight with the presence of the Governor of the Commonwealth, and four of its five living ex-governors. I asked Governor Long, while dining to-night, if he recalled any occasion when so many of those who had held the first place in the Commonwealth had come together, and he failed to remember any such instance. The citizens of Newton are loyal to constituted authority, and are proud of the long line of distinguished men who have been at the head of State affairs. This condition, for every reason, includes the present occupant of that office, and I extend to His Excellency the hearty welcome of those who are here as well as of all citizens of Newton, and take pleasure in presenting to you Governor Curtis Guild, Jr.

Governor Guild said:— I congratulate you most heartily on the opening of this beautiful estate for public purposes. This is not the first time I have walked within its confines, for more years ago than I like to confess, as a little boy it was my privilege to come here to see the dear good man who lived here and honored Massachusetts as she honored him—Governor William Clifton. (Applause). I never expected in the old days when I used to be driven over here by my father from Roxbury in the fall of the year had been among the chestnut trees which were growing up in this part of the city at that time to pick out the chestnuts that thirty years after I should be picking out chestnuts of another description (laughter) for such an audience as you have here this evening. I congratulate you most heartily and I particularly congratulate you on the hearty public spirit that has been shown by the women as well as by the men of this community.

I was called upon particularly to respond to the toast "Massachusetts." Massachusetts is not like Virginia, "The Mother of Presidents," but at least she is like George Washington. She is to the other states of the Union what George Washington was to the people of the nation—"First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen." It was in Massachusetts that the first convention for the bringing about of the world's peace was held, and The Hague conference is the result of that convention. The red blood shed at Lexington and Concord, the march of the Sixth Massachusetts through Baltimore, and the presence of the Second Massachusetts in the battle line at Santiago side by side with the Seventh United States regulars, recruited in Massachusetts, prove that Massachusetts, like Washington, is "first in war." Her great philanthropic institutions, her great university, Harvard, and such enterprises as this, prove that Massachusetts is "first in the hearts of her countrymen."

I am heartily glad for one, that this field is to be dedicated to the purposes for which it is to be dedicated. It will teach the younger of our citizens to grow up in the true spirit of democracy, in the true American spirit. I sometimes think that we here in the midst of it all the time do not appreciate the strength and power and good will of the American people. I was hunching the other day with the officers of a foreign legation which was lying in the harbor of Boston. It was the day after that tremendous meeting on Boston Common, to protest against the action of certain officers of the government, and my guests had seen it and they commented freely upon it. "Sixty thousand people assembled on your Common, and we did not see a soldier in sight; the hotels were open, the windows were not barricaded; there was no precautions taken except for the presence of a few policemen; there were no cavalry and no guns were brought out." I said, "Of course not." "Well, there was no disorder." "Of course not," I replied. "Don't you have to barricade the windows when a crowd comes out like that?" I said, "Not in the United States of America. The public rule here. That was a gathering of the public; they can restrain themselves." "Such a gathering," they said, "is impossible in any other nation." The same officers asked about Harvard College, saying, "It must be an enormous expense to the state." I said, "It was built up by private gifts; it was a monument of individual generosity; it does not cost the government a cent." They replied in amazement, "There is nothing like it in the world."

That is the American spirit; it is the recognition of what the citizen owes to the Commonwealth and to the nation, which I believe institutions like these splendidly aid in building up and carrying forward.

There is a beautiful story of the children at the North End which cannot be told too often. Our ancestors came here from the shores of Europe. There is scarcely a nation in Europe which has not contributed to the population of the United States. People have been inclined to think that this was not so in the earliest days, but it was. Look at the leaders of the revolution. Poland gave us Kosciuszko; Germany gave us Von Steuben; France sent us Lafayette; Scotland gave us John Paul Jones; Ireland sent us "Fighting Jack" Barry, the father of the American Navy. The islands of the sea sent us Alexander Hamilton. The blood in those veins sprang from different sources, but the heart that sent it to battle was the heart of the American citizen. This little story is told of the school at the North End to which there came one day a woman who was a devoted worker in the cause of charity. In that section there is scarcely a child of Anglo-Saxon parentage, hardly any, in fact, from the north of Europe. At the close of her visit this woman was asked to say a few words to the scholars and she asked "I want to see how many little Italian boys are here." Not a child rose. "How many little Russian boys are there?" Not a boy rose. "How many little Jews are there?" Not a boy rose. And then the better Americanism of those little boys swept like a wave over that woman's heart and suggested the question, "Well, how many little Americans are there here?" and the whole school rose. (Applause).

There is nothing better, except that feeling which animates those who wear the uniform of their country on death and in the battle-field, than the spirit of the school—the spirit which leads you to strive on your school team and your school crew to maintain the honor of your school colors and to make your school the best.

There is no better motto than the childish rhyme, answering the question, "Why shall the United States last longer than all the countries of Europe?"— "The Lily may fade and pass away," "The rose from its stem may sever," "The shamrock and thistle may decay," "But the stars shall shine forever."

Chairman Weeks: The twenty-eighth governor under the Constitution, and the first governor in the second century of Massachusetts after the adoption of her Constitution, is the Nestor of our living ex-governors. He is an apostle of good-will and hope, and always ready to support any cause in which the people are interested. I have the honor to present Hon. John D. Long.

Ex-Gov. Long received a hearty ovation from the audience, all of whom rose to greet him, as they had done for Gov. Guild. When the audience was seated Governor Long spoke as follows:

I am very glad that you have sat down again; it might have been very tedious for you to stand while I speak for the next hour and a half. (Laughter). I am a little puzzled at Mr. Weeks' introduction. He said something about a second century, as if he meant to convey the idea that I was two hundred years old. I am considerably younger than he is (laughter), as you must observe from a comparison of his personal appearance and mine. (Renewed laughter). The Governor congratulated you; I congratulate you. I congratulate Mr. Weeks, who is responsible for this gathering. It is evidently more of a success than it appeared at the opening of the meeting. When we came in the audience was very scanty; people don't care to fill a hall, or even a tent to see an ex-Governor—they can see him any time on the street. It was necessary to call in the services of the band. (Laughter). Even the exquisite voices of these sweet girls failed to accomplish the work. You must forgive me for saying these light words, but the Governor, who always—I was going to say, who always sets a good example—perhaps I will put it this way—whose example it is always safe to follow—hogan in that merry way. And yet we are really here for a very, very serious purpose. We are here to honor the memory of a good man. (Applause). And that is a higher title than any honor title that can be given. And we are here to promote a great and useful civic purpose, and the two purposes are connected together. As Mr. Day has shown in that admirable paper which has been printed and distributed among you these 23 acres are to be devoted to public education—not education in any narrow sense, but to the education of the whole man, the whole boy or girl, his physical, his mental and his moral education. And this work is to be done upon these acres consecrated by the memory of a sweet life, of a beautiful domestic heart and of a career of useful service and faithful loyalty—loyalty to country, and loyalty to God, loyalty to every high purpose that animates the true citizen. (Applause).

I love to think of William Clifton. I remember that benevolent face, that kindly smile, that genial manner. I remember him when he was Governor—and the great majority of this audience are not old enough to have that memory. To me he is especially interesting, because he typifies the New England man of his day, the best ideal of the New England citizenship of his time. He was born in that year which was prolific of Governors—1818, when five or six Governors of Massachusetts were born—Andrew and Bullock and Butler and Clifton and two or three more whose names I do not recall. His youth was spent in what you might call the Golden Age of New England, the days when the railroads which have controlled and changed the character of our system of (Continued on Page 7.)

Wm. H. Davis Club

The eleventh annual dinner of the William H. Davis Club was held Monday evening at the Woodland Park hotel and about seventy members and guests filled the big dining room at 7.30 o'clock.

Every one was hungry and the discussion of the menu, interspersed with the singing of popular songs, as played by Atwood's orchestra, lasted until nearly nine o'clock.

Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot church was the toastmaster and performed the duties of that trying office, with wit and grace.

Weeks was the principal speaker and after a few pleasantries in reply to Mr. Person's introduction, told of his experiences in Washington. He said that going to Congress was something like going to college—it opened up a higher, broader and untried field. He spoke in the most flattering manner of Speaker Cannon, giving some witty incidents which had come under his personal observation and then sketched briefly, Congressmen Williams, Hepburn and Champ Clark.

He told of the method of drawing seats, and gave his approval, with reasons for supporting the rules of the House. One of the interesting things he said, was the 35,000 bills which were submitted to the House. It would take a man from five to eight years, he said, simply to read them all, without time for mature consideration.

He spoke warmly of the private pension bills, saying that while the House passed them rapidly, all had been thoroughly considered by a committee which had the confidence of the members. His personal experience in passing this class of legislation was warmly applauded by the club. The Congressman closed with a brief reference to the tendency towards centralization as instanced by the recent passage of the pure food bill, after many years agitation in Congress.

Mr. Thomas Weston was the next speaker and told an apt story of Daniel Webster to illustrate his pride in the young men of the club. Mr. Weston believed that there was no better opportunity for a young man to succeed in life than in the present day. But to do this he must have character, combined with industry and perseverance. He urged the young men to master all the learning to be found bearing on the business in which each was engaged, and to get to work and make themselves indispensable to their employers. He then suggested that reading something of value each day should be made a point by all, as successful men need all their faculties developed. It is necessary that the mind be cultivated in all its channels to make a well developed man. From these habits in the morning of life and when you are old the mental pleasures will be a joy and delight to you.

Alderman Frank A. Day was given a most flattering introduction and reception, and urged his hearers as young men to think more, and not float among the easy ways of life. Those who do much in this world are the thinkers.

The evening closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Prior to the dinner, the annual meeting was held in the hotel parlors. President A. L. Babbitt was in the chair and satisfactory reports were made by the several officers. These officers were then chosen, President, George W. Brown; vice president, Frank H. McCummon; secretary, Theodore Lockwood; and treasurer, Edward L. Bacon.

A special card conveyed the party to and from Nonantum square and on the return trip the new president was given an impromptu initiation into his new office.

The success of the affair was due to the good work of a committee consisting of President Babbitt, Mr. W. T. Coppins and Mr. W. C. Whitney.

The second annual outdoor athletic meet of the Sunday schools of Newton will be held on the Cedar street grounds at Newton Centre, Saturday afternoon, June 1st. Preparations have been made for an attendance of 300 and a band has been engaged for the afternoon.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug laid printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The proposed federation of the various village improvement associations in the city is certainly in the line of civic unification which every broad minded citizen has been aiming for these many years. When men interested in the improvements of their own villages will get together and discuss the larger interests of the entire city, valuable results will be certain. Success to the Federation.

Memorial Day

Commander W. W. Montgomery of Charles Ward Post 62 has issued his orders for Memorial Day exercises next Thursday, May 30th.

Special details are assigned as usual to decorate the graves of comrades in the various Newton cemeteries, and graves in Mt. Auburn, Wayland and Bedford in the morning. These details will then assemble at Newton Lower Falls where the usual exercises will take place at St. Mary's cemetery, followed by the pretty custom of casting flowers into the river in memory of those who died at sea.

Luncheon will be provided at Newton Highlands and the parade under command of Lieut.-Col. Walter L. Sanborn, Chief Marshal, will form near the Hyde school house in that village at 1:45 P. M. Passing in review before the city government in Newton Highlands Square, the march will be thru Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery where the impressive exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held around the Soldier's Monument. The line will then reform and proceed to Temple hall for the annual dinner.

Major George H. Benyon will be adjutant General. Lieut.-Col. Robert Ball
Edes, chief of staff and the aids are Col.
I. F. Kingsbury, Col. Albert C. Warren,
Col. Frank B. Stevens, Lieut. Col. Morton E. Cobb, Major Fred P. Barnes,

Annual Meeting of the State Federation

The fifteenth annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation will be held in Great Barrington, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 18, 19, for the election of officers, the presentation of annual reports and other business that may properly come before the meeting.

The convention will open with a reception on Tuesday evening, June 18, given by the hostess club. The morning and afternoon sessions of Wednesday will be occupied with the usual business of the annual meeting. Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, President, and Philip N. Moore,
First Vice-President of the General Federation, and the Presidents of the New England State Federations will be present and bring greetings from their organizations. On Wednesday evening there will be addresses by Mrs. Decker, Mrs. Philip Carpenter of New York, and others.

The Berkshire Inn has been chosen for Federation headquarters. This has fifty available rooms. Rates, two in a room, $3 a day, one in a room, $4.
Other places ranging from $1.25 to $2.50 per day. Club presidents are asked to report to Mrs. Julia R. Aldrich, 262 School street, Somerville, the approximate number that will attend. A reduction for fare by the railroads is promised and will be announced early in June.

Children's Afternoon

The closing afternoon of the Bazaar was given over to the children and they literally took possession by storm. To the late arrival that afternoon the sounds that met the ear long before the entrance was reached reminded one of bedlam let loose. At two o'clock the May Pole dance was given on the lawn just outside the house under the direction of Mrs. E. M. Moore, who had trained the same children for a similar entertainment given at Channing church, Newton, the previous week. Marjorie Capen was chosen Queen of the May and was escorted by the fairy, Rebecca Cole, to the throne under one of the "Old Elms" where she presided over the dance. The children who took part were: Ralph Bartlett, dressed as Tommy Tucker; Carolyn Guild, as Mary who owned the little Lamb; Ruth Holley, Little Bo-Peep; Malvert Bruner, Little Boy Blue; Mary Stebbins, Little Miss Muffet; Thayer Quinby, Humpty-Dumpty; and Howard Hayward and Ruth Warren, Jack and Jill.

In the big tent on the lawn at three,
Mother Goose, Mrs. J. L. Atwood, received her little friends. They were:
Gordon Bancher and Louis Baker, pages; Geraldine Chaney, queen of hearts; Phillip Newell, king of hearts;
John E. Cox, jack of hearts; Lola Shaw, Little Red Riding Hood; Eleanor Congdon, Kate Greenaway; Dorothy Hooper, country girl; Abbie Oady, Little Bo-Peep; Ruth Hills and Margaret Congdon, fairies; Matalene Maxim, Old Mother Hubbard; Charlotte Sibley and Margaret Birch, Jack Spratt and wife; Janet Marriner, Mistress Mary; Elizabeth Levans, Martha Washington; Katherine Wakefield, peasant girl; Helen Baker, milk maid; Archie Atkins, wise man of Goshen; Ralph Barrett, Old King Cole; Margaret Wedger, old woman in shoe; Robert Barrett, Bobbie Shaftee; Caroline Chapin, queen of hearts; Edwin Brown, Simple Simon; Sebastian Hammett, Humpty Dumpty;
Leonard Blaney, man who went to London; and Gladys Goodwin, his wife.

Mrs. Albert Hammett, Mrs. J. E.
Marriner, Miss Marion Bassett and Miss Elizabeth Hartshorne assisted.

The May Pole dance was repeated at four for the benefit of late comers. Other features of the afternoon included numerous grabs from "Aunt Sally with her hundred pockets" and the Chinese Lau-dry, where packages were claimed by checks purchased from young Chimen-men. The ice cream tent was taxed to its utmost capacity all the afternoon.
Two patient and long-suffering gravdonkeys toiled back and forth the whole afternoon laden with precious, childish freight. The beautiful weather rendered the closing afternoon the most successful of any. While it was announced that the doors would close at six, the workers remained for an informal supper together to finish their task of clearing up.
A few stragglers dropped in during the evening and the palmist was kept busy until a late hour. At length the electricity was turned off and a company of weary, but well-satisfied workers turned their backs upon the fine old mansion and the Federation Bazaar was a thing of the past.

Loan Exhibition

One feature of the Bazaar which deserves special mention was the Loan Exhibition in charge of the Newton Centre Woman's Club with Mrs. F. E. Anderson as chairman. It would be impossible to name everything and in fact in the limited space available for the exhibit rendered it extremely difficult to see all the treasures which Newton as a whole was able to furnish. The articles were nevertheless very attractively arranged and made a fine display. It was a revelation to see how many fine historic things are harbored in our city.

Among the articles worthy of special mention were: a chair which belonged to John Eliot, a teapot brought to this country in the ship following the Mayflower; bed curtains, spun, woven and embroidered by Hannah Greenwood Woodward from flax grown on the Woodward place in 1776; a pewter plate, 175 years old; a flag from the Brandywine that brought over Lafayette; a hand-wrought silver service, 1805; a Delft plate, earliest specimen of the art, 200 years old; a child's desk, 1750; china teapot owned by John Eliot; a group of articles, 1780, including, jeweled watch and fob, another and key, pair of slippers, horn comb, jeweled comb, and fancy silk bag, once owned by Col. and Mr. George H. Henthings and loaned by Dr. Mary Florence Tait of Newtonville.
Several souvenirs of Jenny Lind were of interest. A pair of bronze Martha Washington lamps and a foot stove all from the Hull House and loaned by Mr.
George M. Bridges deserve special mention; also a check endorsed by George Washington and a curious matrimonial ladder over 100 years old loaned by Miss Susan A. Whiting. Then there was an extremely interesting collection of articles from the old Jackson homestead loaned by Mrs. Wm. W. Jackson of Newtonville. Two old portraits on mahogany by Gilbert Stuart attracted much attention. Another group loaned by Mr. A. Kempton Dean included many articles connected with the history of Massachusetts and of the colonies.

A sampler worked by a child of ten over 200 years ago was the oldest among a large collection. An oriental shawl woven by a young girl, the first, was a marvel of beauty. It was the work of twenty women for two years. Space forbids the mention of many other things equally interesting.

The Consumer's League were fully satisfied with the attention attracted by their exhibit and feel that much good seed has been sown by it. A complaint that has sometimes been made of goods bearing the label is that it was cheap and of inferior quality and often poorly made. These that were shown at this exhibit were of the finest and daintiest quality, such as would satisfy the most fastidious, as well as plainer garments of moderate price.

Aftermath of the Bazaar

Now that nearly a week has passed since the closing of the Federation Bazaar
it is with a feeling of general satisfaction that all who were most closely interested in its success look back upon the undertaking. Little did anyone realize one year ago when the initial steps were taken what gigantic proportions
the affair would take on; but little by little as the months went by one plan after another materialized until it blossomed out in a splendid manner. Of the financial results it will be impossible to give any accurate information—save that it was successful—for some time to come, but that it was a success in more ways than one has been amply demonstrated. One man was heard to say on the last evening, "It would have been worth while, even if no money were realized, for the mere getting together of our friends from all over the city and giving us a chance to find out that they are our friends." It certainly was a success from the social standpoint and also in the trifling of the people of the various villages in a common cause. It has drawn attention to the enterprise in which so many of our public-spirited men are enlisted and has aroused in the interest of the people in general. Surely now there can be no one who has not heard of the "Clafin Good Ground."
And last, but by no means least, it has shown the value, the possibilities, and the influence of such an organization as the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

Grateful

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs desires to express its deep gratitude to the general public for all courtesies extended during the recent Bazaar.

New Rector

The parish of Grace church, Newton, have recently invited Rev. Laurens Mac-Lure, S. T. D., of Oakmont, Pennsylvania, a suburb of Pittsburgh, to the rec-torship of the church made vacant a year ago by the resignation of Rev. Dr. Shinn on account of failing health. Dr. Mac-Lure will assume his duties on the first Sunday of June.

The Rev. Laurens MacLure, S. T. D., the rector-elect of Grace church, Newton, is a native of Pennsylvania, whither his forebears came from Scotland in 1740. On his mother's side he is descended from two of the members of Hooker's congregation who after settling at Cambridge, Mass., in 1632, afterwards left in a body and founded Hartford, Conn., in 1636.

He was graduated with honors from Harvard College, in the same class with the Rev. Dr. Mann of Trinity church, Boston, and the Rev. Dr. Kellner, of the Episcopal Theological School, of Cambridge. His theological training was received at the General Theological Seminary, in New York City, from which he graduated with honors in 1884.
His first work was at a small mission in the Diocese of Pittsburgh where he built a substantial brick church where he four years there he was invited to be assistant to the Rev. Dr. George Hodges, then in charge of Calvary church, Pittsburgh, the largest and most important congregation in the city. Three years later, in 1892, he accepted a call to St.
Thomas' church, Oakmont, one of the pleasantest suburbs of Pittsburgh. During the fifteen years of his rectorship at Oakmont the congregation has trebled in size; the old church and rectory of wood sold, and a new church, parish house, and rectory, of stone, erected at a cost of about $80,000.

For eight years Dr. MacLure has been a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, and is now its Secretary. He has been, twice, a deputy to the General Convention.

—Hon. Gorham D. Gilman of Baldwin will observe his 85th birthday Wednesday, May 23. Mr. Gilman became a resident of Newton for 42 years, coming here on May 24, 1865.

High School Notes

Newton high and Brookline high met last Saturday afternoon at the American league grounds in the preparatory league series. It proved a battle of pitchers between Bradford and Brown, Newton winning by a score of 4 to 2. The game was marked by the sharp fielding of Eaton, Ely, Donahue and Porter.

In the second league game Newton downed Cambridge Latin in a two-inning contest by the score of 2 to 1 last Thursday at the Cedar Street grounds.
Porter, Bradford and Eaton excelled for Newton and the hitting of Ely and Eaton was effective. The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds seen at any game this season. The winning of this game gives Newton the Preparatory school league baseball championship for the third year in succession.

The Junior Dramatic Club gave an informal dance at the Woodland Park Hotel last Friday evening. The dance proved to be a grand success, and everyone who attended expressed their pleasure by the strenuous manner in which the dances were applauded. The barn dances proved very popular. The martrons were Mrs. D. W. Wells of West Newton, and Mrs. H. R. Viets of Newton.

By excelling in five events Brookline high won the first dual meet with Newton high on the Newton A. A. grounds at Newton Centre Wednesday afternoon.
Brookline's athletes scored 42 point to 30
made by the contestants from Newton high.

There were eight interesting events,
consisting of a 100-yard dash, mile run, broad jump, 880-yard run, shot put, 220-yard dash, running high jump and a 440-yard dash. Every event was well contested, but in most of them the Brookline men showed the better form. Brookline took first place in five events and second place in three. Newton won two firsts and four second places. In the running high jump Porter of Newton and Chandler of Brookline were tied,
each making 5 ft. 4 in., but in the jump off Porter won out.

Rivalry between the athletes from the two schools ran high. Last winter a triangular meet between Newton high Brookline, high and Cambridge Latin Newton high easily defeated Brookline for first place. It was with a determination to even up this score that the Brookline men went into the field that afternoon. They had little difficulty in carrying off the honors. The summary:
100-yard dash—Won by Boyd of Brookline. Tower of Newton second, Seligman of Brookline third. Time 10
2-5 s.

One mile run—Won by Whitney of Brookline. Cooley of Brookline second,
D. Mahoney of Newton third. Time 4
m. 54 2-5 s.

Broad jump—Won by Chandler of Newton, Mandell of Newton second, Marston of Brookline third. Distance 19 ft. 3 in.

880-yard run—Won by Daniels of Brookline, White of Brookline second,
R. Mahoney of Newton third. Time
2 m. 11 s.

Shot put—Won by Hann of Brookline, Porter of Newton second, Keating of Newton third. Distance 39 ft. 1 1-2 in.

220-yard dash—Won by Boyd of Brookline, Dudley of Newton second,
Seligman of Brookline third. Time 23 s.

Running high jump—Porter of Newton and Chandler of Brookline tied for first place, Tower of Newton third. Distance 5 ft. 4 in.

440-yard dash—Won by Tower of Newton, White of Brookline second, Daniels of Brookline third. Time 54 3-5 s.

Recital

The spirit of spring time was reflected last Monday afternoon in the pleasant parlors of Miss Gammans, 90 Beacon street, Newton Centre, where the pupils of Mrs. Frances A. M. Bird, played for appreciative listeners a program of great beauty, both in choice and execution.
It is seldom that pupils can interpret varied musical selections with such sympathy combined with poise and reserved strength.

The unusual beauty of the rendering was unforced; the gradual development of power was normal and natural.

Each pupil played with an exquisite touch and personality that showed the creation of artistic feeling instead of mechanical repetition of style.

Whether the motif were emotional and dreamy or vigorous and brilliant,
the personal musical feeling of the player was always perceptible.

Police Paragraphs

Convicted of assault upon four women in Newton and Newtonville, Dominic Evangelisti, 18 years old, employed as a laborer and living at 236 Chapel street, Nonantum, was sentenced to 10 months in the house of correction by Judge Kennedy in the police court Monday morning.

Evangelisti was identified by Miss Catherine M. Carr of 202 Chapel street, Miss Catherine McPherson of Beach street, Mrs. Clara C. Clapp of Newtonville and Miss Muriel L. Nickerson of Newtonville. He was charged with assault and battery on the Carr and McPherson women between 8.30 and 9 Sunday night near the Church of Our Lady, Washington and Adams streets, and upon the Clapp and Nickerson women on Walnut street, opposite the Newton clubhouse between 9 and 9.30 the week previous.

Through an interpreter Evangelisti pleaded not guilty to each charge. He declared that a week ago Sunday night he remained at home. Sunday night, he said, he was in Watertown and had a little beer. He said he was 18 years old, and came to this country four years ago.

He was found guilty on each count. For assault on Mrs. Clapp and Miss Nickerson he was sentenced to two months in the house of correction on each count, and for assault on Miss Carr and Miss McPherson sentences of three months were imposed on each count.

Autoists Fined

In the police court Saturday morning $82 in fines was imposed on automobilists convicted of speeding faster than the legal rate on various thoroughfares in this city.

Peter L. Thompson of 9 Dorris street, Boston, was charged with making 19 miles an hour on Parker street, Newton Centre, was found guilty of overspeeding and had his case continued to Aug. 3. Counsel for Thompson told the court that this speed was not unreasonable.

Brewster Davenport, 15 Komard street, Brookline, was arraigned here for the second time within a year for alleged overspeeding his automobile. This time the offence, it was charged, was committed on Boylston street, where police declared he made 34 miles an hour. He was fined $20.

George H. Stoddard of 197 Beacon street, Boston, whose car was driven by his pretty daughter, Miss Yvonne Stoddard, was charged with making 30 miles an hour on Washington street near the Newton hospital. Judge Kennedy said this case was one of the most dangerous in the city, and imposed a fine of $20.

Charles D. Gilbert of Ridgely hall, Cambridge, was found guilty of driving his machine 31 miles an hour on Washington street, and was fined $15.

Thomas J. Ducey, 62 St. Germain street, Boston, was convicted of making 28 miles an hour on Washington street. He declared that he could not have been making that speed. "I knew there was a trap there and I could tell that a man on the banking was a policeman," asserted Ducey. "How?" asked the court. "By his feet," was the chauffeur's serious reply. He paid $15, and was warned not to go so fast the next time.

Willard A. Enlev, 143 Union street, Attleboro, pleaded nolo to a charge of making 26 miles an hour on Parker street. He was fined $12.

Girls Drill

Drilling publicly for the first time without arms, Co. A won the annual outdoor military drill of the Lasell seminary students on the campus at Auburndale Saturday afternoon.

Witnessed by a large gathering of parents and friends two picked companies of more than 40 young women went through marching tactics with snap and precision which aroused warm applause. Co. A was commanded by Miss Shirley Castetter of Blair, Neb., while Co. B was commanded by Miss Florence Starks of Norwich, Conn.

The judges were Lieut. H. W. Soule of Co. K, 8th infantry, and Lieut. W. J. Keville of Co. E, 8th infantry. It was with no little difficulty that they picked Co. A as the winner.

The grounds were elaborately decorated with yellow flags and streamers of Co. A and the red of Co. B. The decorations extended from the gate at Seminary avenue to the highest point on top of the main building and included the company initials in gigantic letters on the lawn. In the famous "crow's nest" a group of young women sang class songs.

Fatal Accident

One person was instantly killed and four others seriously injured in an explosion Tuesday noon in the fuse finishing shop of the Masten & Wells fireworks factory, Newton Upper Falls. In the space of a few seconds the building was levelled to the ground.

Miss Helen Fairbairn, aged 25, of 254 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, was instantly killed and four others badly injured.

How the accident happened will probably never be known. The only person who could have thrown any light upon it, in the opinion of Supt. W. L. Wedger, was Miss Fairbairn, and she was killed instantly.

It was shortly before the time for the closing of the fireworks establishment for the noon hour when, without warning, the explosion occurred in building No. 40, situated a short distance from the office building, off Needham street. Five persons were working in the shop. It was a 1 1/2 story structure, 35 by 25 feet in size, similar in construction and appearance to about half a hundred other buildings on the premises.

Supt. Wedger was the first person on the scene. He was in the office building at the time and realizing that an explosion had occurred, he grabbed the key to the private fire alarm box 623, and turned in an alarm. He then ran to the ruins close by, which by this time had crumbled.

Among the first of the firemen to arrive was Louis S. Ross, of 26 Clyde street, Newtonville, a well-known automobile manufacturer and a call fireman, who came in a motor car.

Matthew Maloney, the most seriously injured employee among the four survivors, was lifted gently into Ross' car and taken to the Newton hospital, some miles distant, where quick work of the doctors and nurses doubtless saved the life of the young man. Maloney was taken from beneath the ruins, his head and hands severely burned and suffering greatly from many other bruises as well.

Miss Annie Galvin was burned about her right leg and foot. She was taken to her home at 28 Hale street, Upper Falls, in an ambulance. Miss Catherine Gormley received severe burns to her face and hands, and was taken to her home, 46 Cottage street, Upper Falls, in a carriage. Foreman Percy Marden, who was burned about his face and hands and cut and bruised by the roof falling upon him, was taken to his home, Cook street, Newton Highlands.

Not only was the shop itself completely wrecked, but a high board fence at the edge of the premises was demolished and windows broken in several of the neighboring buildings. Pieces of wreckage were found on the roofs of other buildings.

"The five persons in the building were engaged in finishing railroad fuses," said Supt. Wedger in an interview. "Miss Fairbairn was boring holes in the ends of the fuses for the metal part. There was no danger in this operation for the bases are made of composition. She was known as a careful workman, and in fact all the employees of that particular shop were known to be very careful. There was never any fooling there. The fuses did not explode. There was very little explosive material in the building and this was properly guarded, as I had noticed when I last passed through the building half an hour before the explosion. Some unexplainable accident did occur, probably close to where Miss Fairbairn was working. She might have known what was the cause of the explosion, but I do not believe she was to blame or that any of the others can tell what was the cause."

There were 50 cases each containing a gross of finished fuses in the shop. Many of these cases were burned to a crisp, yet so far as a careful search revealed not one of the fuses had exploded. The bases of some of them were even burned, but the rest of them were in good condition. Most of them will be saved.

Percy Marden, employed by Masten & Wells, foreman of their local plant for a number of years, told a graphic story of the accident.

"I was suddenly taken off my feet by the jar and without a moment's warning the building collapsed on me and the other employees. I seemed dazed for a few moments. As quickly as I could move I started to crawl. I saw a light in what had been the rear end of the building where they had been no door, and I started to work my way toward it. The explosion had lifted up the rear end of the shop and then the whole structure had collapsed. I can't tell what I crawled over, but I finally reached this hole in the debris, where I had seen the light, and found myself at what had a few moments before been the back end of the building."

The entire establishment was shut down immediately. Work was suspended during the rest of the day. Early in the afternoon the resignations were received of several young people employed in different departments.

The busy season had just begun, and during the next few weeks the establishment was to have been run at its greatest capacity. The accident will cause a large financial loss to the company from inability to keep up with orders the next month or two, according to a statement made at the factory.

The accident was the first fatal one in seven years at the factory. In 1900 an explosion killed one person and another died as a result of injuries. In the last few months there have been several minor explosions in various buildings of the company's plant here. Fortunately injuries sustained in these explosions have up to the present time been comparatively slight.

Annual Meeting

The May annual meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, was held at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Leonard, West Newton.

A large number responded to the roll call, as the Chapter now numbers over one hundred and eight members.

Mrs. Friend, the regent, gave a most cordial welcome to all and entertained them with a short report of the Colonial Congress.

The annual reports were read and the election of the following officers took place: Regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend; vice regents, Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Sanders; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Wyman; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry L. Whittlesey; historian, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve. Then followed an inspired rendering of "The Scarlet Letter" given by Mrs. Ernest Vosburg, a former member of the Chapter, who was most heartily welcomed back, and whose well-known talent delighted her hearers.

Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room and a social hour was enjoyed.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre.—There will be several items of more than ordinary interest on the Keith bill for the coming week, prominent among them being Cressy and Dayne, "The Futurity Winner", Rooney and Bent, La Belle Blanche and Zucchi-Vernon Company. The engagement that Cressy and Dayne are to commence next Monday will probably be the last they will play in Boston as vaudeville stars, for a long time to come, as they are under engagement to appear in a three-act comedy next season. The playlet they are to present next week is Mr. Cressy's latest bit of work, "The Wyoming Whoop". It is a story of Western life and deals with the troubles encountered by an editor in a mining town in his endeavor to publish a weekly newspaper. It is full of Cressyisms.

"The Futurity Winner" is in many respects the most spectacular production ever made in vaudeville and its finish with its remarkably realistic race between four horses has never been excelled as a sensational feature. Pat Rooney and Marion Bent have been strangers to Keith patrons for some little time, but their cleverness as singers and dancers has not been forgotten. They have a new skit that is as bright and breezy an affair as can be imagined. La Belle Blanche has recently scored a very great success in New York with her imitations of stage favorites. So clever is she that on the same bills with Vesta Victoria and Alice Lloyd, she has divided the honors with them. The Zucchi-Vernon company's jolly pantomimic sketch; Emil Subers, a clever black-face humorist; Eugene Jolly, an extraordinary cornet soloist; Toledo and Price, novelty gymnasts and contortionists; the three Deans brothers, comedy acrobats; Kelso and Leighton, in a droll playlet; the two Ashers, "real corn" entertainers, and the Kinetograph will round out the bill.

Music

"Automobile Ride," March and Two-step, by V. J. Boc, is very spirited, showy and pleasing march without an equal. This is really an American bit for the piano, not very difficult to play. The regular retail price of this march is 50 cts. per copy. OUR READERS will receive a copy post-paid by sending 20 cts. in silver or postage stamps to THE GLOBE MUSIC CO., No. 17 West 28th St., New York.

Cupid M. D.

The second number of the tuneful melodies from the comic opera, Cupid M. D., recently played here by the William H. Davis Club, with lyrics by Mr. Everett Bentley and music by Mr. Henry T. Wade, is out and on sale. It is another waltz song, "We are going to be Married" with a catchy chorus which will soon be whistled by everyone. It is issued in similar style to the popular song, "My Teddy Bear" by the same authors.

business had just begun to operate within our limits; when the transcendentalists had given a new impulse to philosophy in Massachusetts, when the agitation for human freedom began and the spirit of Garrison and the words of Sumner were arousing in the hearts of our people the conscientious demand for freedom to the slave, when Whittier's songs were becoming the voice of the people, when Lowell and Longfellow were our poets. In that time William Claflin was a young man. He was engaged in business, starting with small beginnings, conducting and enlarging his manufacturing establishments, conducting his business houses in Boston and St. Louis and amassing fortune and character. At the same time he became interested in the great questions of the day. The question of temperance had a large interest for him. Not bigoted in any way, he recognized for himself and the community the necessity of abstemious habits and of temperate living, principles to which he manifested his loyalty during his whole life. He was interested in the great question of the abolition of slavery and identified among the men who were engaged in promoting that work. He was interested in the rights of women. I do not refer to the mere question of female suffrage, a question upon which there is great difference of opinion, but to the larger question of the enlargement of the rights and privileges of women in the possession of property, in the management of their property, a movement which has culminated in many respects so that women are today the equal of men in these matters and in almost every right except the mere right of depositing a ballot. In that great cause William Claflin was a representative man. Naturally enough, with all these tendencies, a man of business, a man interested in the political and social questions of the day, he drifted into political service. He served this community in the Legislature; he became Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth; he became Governor; he was a representative in the National Congress, holding the seat which his worthy successor, Mr. Weeks, now holds. There, his influence broadened; he became Chairman of the National Republican Committee, a body which had a controlling influence on the politics of the nation. He had close relations with Grant, with Lincoln, with Sumner, with all the influential men of the time. Many of them visited him here. This place is associated with many of the most distinguished names in our history. And history makes so fast that many who are here do not recall as do older ones that trying time when the life of the Republic was at stake, when the fate of the Union trembled in the balance until Grant with his resistless forces came from the West and Lincoln smote the shackles from the slave and the Union was restored and slavery abolished. In that great time William Claflin was one of the leaders, the leading representative of the Commonwealth, particularly during the time that followed immediately after the destruction of the rebellion and the new cement of the restored Union. When Mr. Claflin was President of the United States you remember how close were Mrs. Claflin's relations to the domestic circle in the White House, where she was perhaps the most cordially welcomed female companion of the President. You remember that to him came Whittier, the first of New England's poets, whose poems vibrate in the memory and on the lips of every true New Englander. The picture of Robert Shaw hung in her parlor. I love to think of that pure, unblemished New England life. It is a memory that ought to be treasured here; it is a memory that ought to find its echo in the hearts of the young men and women who are growing up in this community—not merely the citizen, not merely the Governor and the politician, but the true man at his fireside, in the family circle, and the influence that went out from that home—to use the word that is dearest to us of all words in our New England language. (Applause.)

It is not worth while for this proud City of Newton to maintain the memory of such a life and such a home, and to cherish it? Is it not worth while to keep for the public use and in the public spirit these acres consecrated in this way—the residence years ago of a Colonial Governor and the residence of a later Governor whose name is still familiar to us, and whose figure we seem to see in memory walking our streets? Yes, let these acres be dedicated to education and to public use. Let the young men and women who are growing up here find in this place their romance and their inspiration; let them gather something of the loyalty to public spirit and private fidelity and purity of life which distinguished the man who lived here so many years and whose name you will keep in honor, and to whose memory you dedicate these acres by dedicating them to the education of the children who may well make him a model for their own life. (Applause.)

Mr. Weeks next introduced ex-Gov. Bates as one who had attained the office of Governor through his unquestioned fitness and who was honored throughout the Commonwealth.

Ex-Gov. Bates spoke in part as follows:

I am relieved of all anxiety in regard to your disappearing before I finish, by reason of the fact that the band has agreed to stay within the tent until I have completed my few remarks. The members had an engagement elsewhere, but the Governor of the Commonwealth insisted that if they should leave it would be the end of this meeting, and therefore they kindly consented to stay. They have the gratitude of all who are on the platform.

I was asked to say something about a subject in regard to which you know more than I do, that is, in regard to the history of this famous home and its inhabitants. But what has just been told you by Gov. Long has been told in words so much more eloquent than any I can command that I feel that there is nothing left for me but to add a brief supplement touching lightly here and there upon the history of this place.

Your presiding officer referred to this as a "unique" enterprise. I agree with him. It is unique. I know of no similar enterprise in the Commonwealth. Historical and patriotic societies have preserved some of the ancient public buildings and some of the old mansions about which cluster historic memories. But this is more than a building. Here fields and trees and grassy slope are all historic. Boston and its suburbs have the best park system of any city in the country, perhaps in the world. It combines all that is attractive in nature. We have the wooded tops of the Blue Hills; we have the river banks for miles. We have the great fields of Franklin Park and the beauty of the Middlesex Fells. We have the seashore, where the great ocean chants the tune of the eternities. But all these places seem to lack what this park has. They lack the character that attaches to a place that has been associated with the lives of effective men and women—men and women who have impressed their ideas on the nation and whose deeds live after them. There is a soul of character to this Claflin Park. Therefore it is particularly suited to be an educational park. It dates back in its associations to the very beginnings of our history. The first Governor, to whom reference has been made, who owned these fields was Simon Bradstreet. He came over with Gov. Winthrop in 1628 in the "Arbella," and became one of the prominent citizens of the colony. He was elected Governor, and for five or six years was re-elected and served the colony well and faithfully. He happened to be Governor in those tempestuous times when Andros was sent over to rule the colony, and when the Charter, after many attempts, was finally revoked by the home government. Thus he was the last Governor under the old Charter. But you will remember that our ancestors were not at all satisfied with the changed conditions of affairs. They were restive as they saw their liberties curbed by Gov. Andros. And so they rose in rebellion—a bloodless but successful revolution and Andros was deposed, and again the people selected Simon Bradstreet, though weighed down with the snows of ninety winters, to take charge of the affairs of the colony, and for three years, during that disturbed period, he was the Governor, or president, as they called him, and so he continued until the Province Charter went into effect in 1692 under Gov. Phips. Of Bradstreet it has been said that he centered in his personality the honor and wisdom of the first century of Massachusetts life. As an inhabitant of Salem, at the time of the witchcraft troubles he was one of the few who dared to withstand popular sentiment and deplore the procedure used in dealing with the accused and he publicly proclaimed that nothing but evil could result from such proceedings.

Then there was Judge Fuller, the able and devoted town officer, who made his home here; and after him his more famous son-in-law, Gen. Wm. Hull, the patriot, and the participant in many of the great battles of the Revolution. Years after the war was over he was sent as Governor of the territory of Michigan, and was there when the war of 1812 began. With the rank of Brigadier he was placed in charge of the forces on the frontier, and finally, finding no reinforcements coming, and with a vastly superior force surrounding him, without ammunition or supplies with which to sustain a siege, he surrendered to Gen. Brock the post at Detroit. Then came a change and he knew what it was to feel the people's anger. They could not see it as he had seen it. He was court-martialed and condemned to be executed. But the wise President said, "No, his services to the country in the war of the Revolution were such that the sentence must not be carried out." And Gen. Hull returned here to live in the old mansion that was situated on the spot where the Claflin mansion now stands and here he spent the later years of his life honored by his fellow townsmen and by all who knew him.

Here his old associate of the Revolution, Lafayette, visited him and as they met at the door Lafayette in French fashion fell upon his neck and kissed him, saying, "General, you and I have both suffered from calumny." Historians now agree that he was a man without cowardice and intensely loyal. His story has at last done him justice, as he said he knew it would.

After General Hull's death the old mansion was moved to the village. The elms were here as they had stood for generations, the wind sang through their branches and the birds nested among them. But no one lived here to enjoy the beauty or the song until Gov. Claflin came in 1855 and built the present mansion where the former one had stood.

From that time on the mansion became known as a centre of humanitarian activity and was also far famed for the generous hospitality of its owner and his gracious wife.

Governor Claflin has been well described to you tonight. He was a man who was largely interested in business and manufacture, one who had large numbers of employees under him but who never had any labor difficulties. He always treated those who worked for him with such impartial regard for their rights that there was no occasion for trouble. No man ever worked for him who did not know that he was receiving his fair share of the profits of the enterprise. He was conspicuously a man of public spirit, such men are altogether too rare, we have some, and the Commonwealth is thankful, but we have not enough men who are successful in business who are willing to dedicate a part of their time and a part of their fortune to the public good. As we look back over the life of Gov. Claflin it seems as though the greater part of his strength and the greater part of his means and the greater part of his life were devoted to the public good. No cause of humanity ever appealed to him in vain. He was tireless in the prosecution of those reforms that he thought tended to the uplifting and amelioration of the condition of humanity. He was a practical reformer. He did much for the cause of woman in this Commonwealth. He was the first Governor of the Commonwealth to recommend woman's suffrage in an inaugural address. The cause of temperance reform always received his loyal and energetic support. He was one of the first of that invincible band that inaugurated and carried to a successful conclusion the movement for the abolition of slavery.

This old mansion will be ever loved for its hospitality. Children used to come here from the city and in the fields and under the elms they enjoyed all the delights of nature. Even the blind from the Perkins Institution used to come here and among these surroundings, blind though they were, they seemed to appreciate the beauties of the flowers and of the trees. Gov. Claflin was given to helping men. No young man appealed to him in vain and many who needed but a little assistance to attain success were helped by him to that little assistance that meant so much to them.

As we look over the generous life of Gov. Claflin there is one thing that impresses us in particular. It was not all who visited him, it was not all who shared in his hospitality, but it was the man with a mission, the man who sought to benefit humanity by his life that here found a royal welcome.

His interest in education, is indicated by the fact that he was a trustee of four great colleges and universities. Henry Durant came here for counsel as to what he should do with the fortune which he wished to benefit humanity, and finally there resulted that magnificent college for women, Wellesley College. There came here also Dr. Joseph Campbell. Finally he went across the sea and established in England her most famous institution for the blind, an institution to which people came for admission from every part of Europe. Peter Parker came here for counsel and advice. He was the first American commissioner to China and established in that country the first hospital. An honored visitor here was Lyman Beecher, the distinguished clergyman, whose family attained such distinction that it was wittily said that humanity was "made up of three classes—men, women and Beechers." Of Lyman Beecher, it was also said that he was "the father of more brains than any other man in America." He was the father of thirteen children, most of whom grew to manhood and womanhood and used their great abilities for the good of humanity; among them, the greatest of American preachers, was Henry Ward Beecher, the man who stood before kings and parliaments and defended the cause of the Union. He delighted to repair to this spot for strength and encouragement. Harriet Beecher Stowe, Lyman Beecher's famous daughter, often visited here. It was she to President Lincoln said when she was presented—"Are you the little woman who has caused this great war?" Well might he ask the question, for Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was perhaps the most potent cause of all that confined to bring on the war and the abolition of slavery.

James Freeman Clarke, the eloquent Dr. Kirk of Boston, Rev. Newman Hall of England, Prof. Agassiz and Prof. Drummond were also among the visitors here. Whittier, the New England poet, and Dr. Smith, author of America, were here familiar guests. Men engaged in great public affairs found here a delightful retreat. Perhaps the most famous were Charles Sumner, and Henry Wilson, and President Hayes.

I have talked too long, and I will add but a word. This is the place for a memorial park, for an educational park for the youth of your city and for all who may be so fortunate as to walk beneath these trees. Here I should like to see your memorial library erected, its walls in tablets of everlasting bronze eloquently repeating the noble sentiments of the unselfish men and women who found shelter here and on one side of its doorway I would place the words of that special friend of Claflin, Charles Sumner, "I call no man master but am a slave to principles ever," and on the other side the words spoken by an employee of Gov. Claflin, when he said, "Mr. Claflin talks nobly, religion nor politics, but he lives both." (Applause.)

Congressman Weeks then surprised his neighbors by playing a new role, gracefully and good naturedly auctioneering 13 copies of "The Mirror of Newton," an elaborate souvenir magazine issued by the federation. These 13 volumes contained the autographs of the evening's guests.

The first two volumes went to Charles S. Dennison and Frank A. Day for $100 each. The others went for prices ranging from $25 to $30, to Seward W. Jones, D. C. Heath, Frank J. Hale, Robert S. Gorham, Marcus Morton, Charles E. Hatfield, B. E. Taylor, Capt. A. C. Farley, E. P. Hatch, and Mrs. Weeks.

Capt. Weeks "sold" several of the volumes without the purchasers themselves bidding. Someone in the big audience jokingly declared a bid of $25 from Mrs. Weeks, and the congressman smilingly handed over the volume.

During the latter part of the evening Gov. Guild and Ex-Govs. Bates, Long, Crane and Brackett received more than 1000 guests in the reception room of the old mansion. Mrs. George F. Lowell was hostess of the evening.

made in 9 innings. Both pitchers were tried out and held their opponents down to 5 hits while striking out 10. Capt. Williams led at the bat making a single and double in two times up. In the field Cook accepted 4 chances without an error getting one after a hard run, while Cook at 2nd put up a strong game, handling 5 chances cleanly. The new catcher proved a find, throwing especially well and catching 4 men stealing besides assisting in a fast play with Sweet by which a run was cut off at the plate. For the Centres, Linnehan caught a pretty game while Burns led at the bat. Mr. Bryant umpired. The Waban team will play West Roxbury Saturday and next week will be fitted out with new uniforms. The team at present consists of Isola 1b, Cook 2b, Rice 3b, F. Williams ss (Capt.), Gould, Colver, Heymer, fielders, G. Williams and Sweet, pitchers, Murray c, Davis, Gilmore and Spencer, subs.

Lower Falls.

—Several pleasant receptions have been lately held at the Methodist church, Newton Lower Falls. That to the pastor's family was followed last week by a reception of the Primary Department of the Sunday school to the Cradle Roll and their parents. Mrs. Beatrice C. Baker, superintendent, and her assistants, conducted a fine entertainment and a dainty lunch was served. This week, May 20, the Junior League were given a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Cornell street. The officers, Charlie Taylor, president, were initiated. An hour of entertainment and games with refreshments provided by the hostess followed.

—Do not fail to reserve June 5th (9 A. M. to 7 P. M.) for that is the date for the Open Air Dog Show given by the Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts at Riverside Recreation Grounds, Riverside, Mass. Keep this date before you and take your friends to the Big Dog Show. It will be one of the society events of the year. Go early and see the judging. Luncheon will be served in the Club House. Several of the New York show winners will be there, and other interesting classes will be that of dogs exhibited in the ring by children.

—On Wednesday evening, May 29th, at half past seven o'clock in the Congregational chapel there will be a meeting of all friends interested in the religious welfare of the soldiers of the U. S. Army. Capt. Clarke, now stationed at Fort Warren, Boston harbor, will be present and address the meeting. The Captain was in the Philippines during the late trouble and can speak from an experience of several years in the regular army of the religious needs of our soldiers. A bluejacket from the battleship New Jersey will also speak. Some of the members of the G. A. R. will be present, and there will be music by young ladies from Lasell Seminary. The meeting is held under the auspices of the State Y. M. C. A. The public are cordially invited.

Lasell Notes

The coming Commencement at Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, Mass., will be specially attractive by reason of the Class Reunions. The classes of five, ten, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five, thirty, thirty-five, forty, forty-five and fifty years ago plan to have special reunions. Some have already come from long distances to be present. Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D. of Buffalo, will give the Commencement address on June 11th, and Dr. Wm. F. Warren, Ex-President of Boston University, will give the Baccalaureate Sermon on June 9th.

Second Annual Sunday School Athletic Meet

The Sunday schools of Newton have decided on June 1st as the day for the big athletic meet at the Cedar Street grounds, Newton Centre. Mr. S. A. Cannon is chairman of the committee on arrangements and is sparing no pains to make this annual affair a gala day for the children in our Sunday schools.

About 250 entries are expected for the meet and there will be at least 16 schools represented. A beautiful cup will be given to the Sunday school winning the most points. Cups will be given to the winning relay teams and ribbons to the individuals winning points.

The events are as follows:

Class A, 18-21 years inclusive, 220-yd. dash, running high jump.

Class B, 15-17 years inclusive, 100-yd. dash, running broad jump.

Class C, 14 years and under, 50-yd. dash, 50-yd. sneaker and high shoe race.

Relay races—each man to run 220-yds. 5 men to enter, 4 to compete.

Class A, 18 years and over.

Class B, under 18 years.

Extra event for boys and men 18 yrs. and older—440-yd. run.

Extra event for all over 17 yrs.—tug of war.

Band music will be a part of the celebration and a big crowd is expected.

Those desiring to attend can get tickets from the superintendents of the different Sunday schools or at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

—The Executive Committee of the village Improvement Society met with the president, Thomas J. Sullivan at his residence Monday evening. Matters considered were bulletin board, sign boards, play ground, lawn party, 4th of July celebration and quarters for public meetings to be held. A meeting for members will be held in Wade hall, Monday, May 27th to consider matters referred to it.

THEATRES

Park Theatre.—To a house packed to suffocation by a wildly enthusiastic audience Miss Lillian Lawrence opened her season at the Park Theatre, Boston, last Saturday night in "Frou-Frou." Thousands of persons were turned away, the house being completely sold out in advance. The ovation tendered Miss Lawrence on her first appearance was a charming tribute to her great popularity. Next week "In the Bishop's Carriage" will be put on. Miss Lawrence, of course, will be seen as Nance Olden, the girl thief, Mr. Sainpolis as Tom Dorgan, the burglar, and Mr. Miller as Mr. Latimer, who saves Nance and makes her a great actress. Matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Special facilities have been provided to take care of mail orders for seats coming from out-of-town patrons.

Majestic Theatre.—David Belasco announces the return of his star, Warfield, in "The Music Master" for a two weeks' engagement at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, beginning Monday evening, June 3rd. This engagement will positively be Warfield's last in Boston in "The Music Master," for here his season will close and his present vehicle which has served him so well and successfully for the past three seasons will be laid aside. The sale of seats for this last two weeks' engagement of "The Music Master" will open at the Majestic Theatre on Wednesday morning, May 29th, and the prices will be the same as they were for his first Boston engagement running from fifty cents to two dollars. Mail orders will be entered as they come in and will be filled by priority of receipt after the conclusion of the first day's sale from the best that remain. Under these conditions no location can be guaranteed by mail. With Mr. Warfield, will return the same artistic company of players who supported him three consecutive seasons in New York and during his first engagement in Boston last October. Warfield and "The Music Master" will positively not appear elsewhere in New England, hence this Boston engagement is the last opportunity to be afforded for seeing the great character actor in his greatest success.

—Despite the unpleasant weather
Monday night a large audience enjoyed the artistic musical program given by the pupils of the Mount Ida School for Girls. Among the piano selections those of Miss Scheffler, Miss Percy and Miss Sawyer were especially noteworthy. The last named showed a mastery of effect that is unusual. The singing was of great excellence and we shall particularly instance that of Miss Litchfield and Miss Hanson. The concluding trio was well played. In this Miss Hanson distinguished herself in the difficult rhythms of the brilliant Scherzo. The violin parts were exceedingly well played and the whole program evinced steady advance upon any previous work of the school.
The concert was under the direction of Mr. Arthur W. Thayer (voice) and Mr.
Louis C. Stanton (piano).

YOU DON'T HAVE TO

Sometimes when sickness is in the family and a physician has been called in and a prescription written, you have noticed the name of some particular drug printed on the paper on which the doctor writes the prescription.

This does not mean that you are compelled to take your prescription to the druggist whose name appears on the paper.

It is recognized the world over that a patient has the privilege of taking the prescription to any drug store that he prefers.

The prescription department in our store is always watched over by a registered pharmacist; a doctor's prescriptions are always filled exactly according to the way he intended they should be filled.

Alderman Condrin will soon learn that the business of our city government is conducted in accordance with the provisions of the city charter.

Mr. Condrin believes that the city sheds were not properly authorized because they were not specifically mentioned in the estimates of 1907 expenses last fall, nor authorized by special order the present year. The facts are admitted, but these two methods are not the only legal way in which city work can be accomplished. While it is true that the estimates of the heads of departments and of the mayor must be submitted in detail, the charter does not require the board of aldermen to pass its annual appropriation in detail. As a matter of fact the board passes this order in lump sums, depending upon the power of grant to regulate the monthly expenditure. Here again, the board sees fit to make its grant in like manner, altho it has the power at any time to require as much detail as it pleases.

Because the board does not exercise this privilege and prefers to give the mayor and heads of departments ample scope in the expenditure of the appropriations for each department, is no reason for publicly criticizing them for expenditure of the money for admittedly public and necessary purposes.

The cases cited by the alderman do not affect the question in any way. The appropriation for the automobile of the Health department was outside the annual appropriations and was made an additional charge on the tax levy. The alderman also has the right at any time to direct certain work to be done by the city officials and to state from what appropriation it shall be paid.

It is most unfortunate that Alderman Condrin has seen fit to publicly impugn
the action of the city officials, without that full knowledge of all the facts upon which such action should have been founded. Accusations of this sort, even if completely denied later, leave impressions on some people that matters are not properly conducted—impressions which may cause considerable harm in the future.

The working of the new eight hour labor law in this city as outlined in another column may well cause thoughtful persons considerable concern. It virtually means seven hours of actual labor for all outside work. We do not believe the citizens of Newton would have accepted the eight hour law if its present effect could have been foreseen, and even the laborers themselves, particularly those whose extra work brought them in another dollar a week are not in love with the present situation.

Words are not strong enough to condemn the action of the General Court in passing such radical legislation without knowing its provisions and effect. The law will cost the state and municipalities
many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

We are glad to note that Judge Kennedy is increasing the amount of fine imposed upon reckless automobilists who are brought before him. The whole community will endorse the efforts being made to keep our highways safe for public travel.

Council Meeting of the General Federation

Alternating with the regular biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs comes the meeting of the Council, which includes the Executive Board and the Presidents of the clubs comprising the Federation. To this meeting all other club women are welcome, though they have no vote. The council will meet this year at Jamestown, Va., June 4, 5 and 6, at the Convention Hall, Inside Inn, opening on Tuesday evening with an informal meeting. The subject for discussion will be,
"Biennial Aftermath." Three sessions will be held on both Wednesday and Thursday, closing on Thursday evening with a reception tendered by the Norfolk Woman's Club to the Official Board of the General Federation and to visiting Club Women.

CITY HALL NOTES

Miss Alice Wright has resumed her position in the Treasurer's office after a three months leave of absence.

The board of aldermen adjourned over its regular meeting of next Monday in order to attend the wedding of Mayor Warren's daughter which takes place that evening.

This story is being told in the corridors this week. An old Irishwoman whose son had just joined the militia, remarked to a friend as the company marched by, "An shure Jimmie's the only one kaping step." Its application lies in the vote of 19 to 1 last Monday night at the meeting of the aldermen on the la-gality of erecting sheds at the city stables.

Deputy Commissioner Stuart of Newton Street Department acted as one of the judges for the Boston Work Horse Parade Association, Thursday, May 30th.

Circus at the Centre

The fame of the County Circus last week has extended to St. Paul, Minn., and the Dispatch of that city pens the following editorial, which is of considerable interest to residents of Newton.

There is to be a circus in Newton Centre.
Perhaps, to those living west of the moon, this announcement may bring no shock, but it is really a much more astonishing statement than though it should become known that at Newport there were persons on the eligible list who had an income derived from something less than millions, and a domestic condition with only one knot in it.

For Newton Centre is to Boston what Boston is to the rest of the world. At least, so those who live and move and have their being in Newton Centre believe. It is a hub within a hub
—and the circus is like to cause a hubbub which will bubble over.

And the circus at Newton Centre is no fortuitous concurrence of monkeys and giraffes, no traveled aggregation of calliopes and spangles and tarlatan. It is a deliberate effort on the part of Newton Centre itself to escape from Newton Centre, to let in the world, to afford to the young of the Centre, who are evidently as thoroughly "young barbarians at play" as were ever the Oxoni-ans of Arnold's time, some of the joys of the Gentiles.

For it is even the mothers of Newton Centre, or, to speak more by the circus posters that cover the billboards of N. C.— if there are such unattractive horrors within a few miles of Boston—it is the Mothers' Rest association which is the Forepaugh and Barnum & Bailey and Sells and Ringling for Newton Centre.
"The Mothers' Rest Association."

In the volume of many books it could not be written the exact significance of this thing. To take rest in a circus day, to provide for the restlessness of the intellects of Newton Centre, this refuge from too much Kant, Hegel, Fichte, Schelling, Von Hartmann, Schopenhauer, Spinoza—surely the sons of these resting mothers will rise up and call them blessed, when they feed the elephants with peanuts, when they marvel at the giraffe's height, when they drink pink lemonade, when they hear the clown crack his age-honored jokes, when the beautiful lady in purple small-skirts glides through the rings from the back of her cream-colored steed, when the calliope calls, yea, when the calliope calls! Then will the motherhood of Newton Centre be called blessed, for she looketh to the ways of her household, and for rest provide circuses!

Property is booming in Newton Centre these days, for a man does not even have to borrow his own son in order to manifest unshamed interest in the circus. He can run with the procession and not be weary; he can laugh at the clown and no one will faint.

Circus De Luxe

The Country Circus presented by the Mothers' Rest Association at the Cedar Street Grounds, Newton Centre, on May 25th, was a pronounced and deserved success—pronounced, because the attendance and enthusiasm far exceeded expectations; deserved, because in extraordinary observance of detail, excellent management and prodigality of attractions this affair may be fairly ranked among the most elaborate and enjoyable out-door entertainments ever given in this city.

It is not surprising that the ladies of the various committees in charge are being overwhelmed with congratulations for the success that rewarded their unselfish cooperation, their tireless and devoted efforts.

Early in the week the community was vastly amused and popular interest aroused by a crowd of irrepressible youngsters in clown's costume distributing the interesting fifty-two page program setting forth the various attractions with most tempting suggestiveness.
This ingenious idea was largely responsible for the advance sale of over one thousand admission tickets before the gates were opened.

The scene upon entertaining the grounds in the morning's bright sunshine
was one of bewildering attractiveness.
Tastefully arranged around the sides of a quadrangle, one hundred yards in length, stood many gaily decorated booths each attended by young people attired in many cases in picturesque costumes and all in the merriest humor.

In the centre Stiles' Eighth Regiment Band in the elaborately draped Band stand furnished music of a vastly superior quality to the circus variety.
Hordes of diminutive Indians swept over the field, with cow-boys and pocket edition soldiers in hot pursuit. A scolding tramp, occasionally on, (but generally trying to get on) a bicycle convulsed the crowds, while Rubes, clowns and other hybrid monstrosities kept the entire establishment in an uproar. The climax of absurdities was reached when the animals emerged from the arena in the Grand Parade. Three ferocious lions, L. W. Houston, R. M. Norton and B. I. Adams with their grotesquely costumed tamer, E. B. Davis, growled and snarled in a three cage. Three ponderous elephants, W. Robertson, H. Aronson and W. Breed with their keeper, A.
Taylor, followed in mock majesty. E.
Noyes in his Teddy bear skin kept his trainer, P. W. Hodges, busy, while Stanley Merrill as Si with his unruly Mule Maud (Gordon Adams) was driven rather than a driver. Alvord Nichols and Corey Moore occupied twin sections of an equine marvel "Honey Naps" and got on most harmoniously until the circus performance when they disagreed and parted company, galloping off in separate pieces.

Raymond Pike occupied the Monkey skin and as the program promised gave a "rare display of acrobatic agility executed with amazing clarity and deadly certainty."
Albert Vinal made a lively dog and the ring attendants were Albert Spear, Alfred Geis and John Dudley.
The clowns Crack-a-jack, C. C. Butts;
Funny Rustie, S. Merrill; The Hot One,
"Weary Willie"; Motley Fool, "Gee Gee"; and the Heavenly Twins, R. L.
Forbush and C. L. Foote got in everybody's way including their own and vastly contributed to the general merriment.
If any visitor went away hungry or thirsty it was his own fault for a lemonade booth, a Japanese Tea room with Geisha girls, an ice cream tent and cake, candy and pop-corn booths were close at hand while at the lunch counter near the band stand sandwiches, doughnuts, cheese and coffee could be procured during the day and evening.

At one end of the grounds a live African Dodger in high spirits mocked the wild throws of ambitious marksmen, and an occasional rap on the pate out of the nine hundred volleys directed at him seemed only to stimulate his enthusiasm.
In the Esquimaux tent near by little strangers exhibited a fitting costume for May in this cheerful latitude. The cane board did a rushing business until the supply of canes proved unequal to the demand. One of the most attractive exhibitions on the grounds was the exquisitely decorated palmists' tent from whose weirdly lighted interior emanated most startling predictions to the comparatively few who succeeded in being reached on the long waiting list. Further along a tastefully decorated booth presented a substitute for the old fashioned grab bag, in the shape of attractive flowers to be stems which were attached to most desirable purchases. The attendant at the Peanut stand after disposing of over twenty bushels of their seductive edibles rested from their labors. Across the field from the Palmists' tent was pitched the Fortune tellers' tent where astonishing secrets were extracted from ordinary playing cards. Near at hand was the cigar booth where Alderman Bowen sold fifty cent cigars to such as had the price and lacked the moral courage to resist.

Sections of the football seats were unwashed off into mimic theatres and hundred of little folks shouted with delight at the family troubles of Punch and Judy, while in another enclosure a really wonderful magician, Hindu Sam, was mystifying successive audiences with his diet of flames, that subsequently developed into a stock of dry goods.

The grand stand was packed for the greater part of the afternoon with perhaps the most wildly hilarious crowd
on the grounds for here "Judges" Burton
P. Gray and Albert Wing held a temporary Police Court. Sergeant F. S. V.
Sias with Hibernian make-up of the most pronounced type and with a brogue to correspond, assisted by Patrolmen T.
B. Plympton, C. G. Plympton and H.
Blympton (the "Mulligan Guards") arrested about everyone in sight, and forcibly or otherwise conducted him to the Court there to be confronted with one charge or another the like of which the whole history of criminal jurisprudence is powerless to duplicate. The only defendant who is known to have escaped conviction was one charged with smoking within the circus enclosure. His defense was that he was smoking one of the cigars sold on the grounds, and the decision was that in this event he had been sufficiently punished and he was accordingly released from custody.

A well known electrician was fined for over-charging; in his case it was a battery, but that did not bother the Court. A Newton Centre alderman was convicted of bribing voters and a member of the Governor's council went down under a charge of grafting. Flirting was summarily dealt with and a well known military officer was mulcted for walking on the grass with new shoes, probably the first conviction on record for this offense.

Occasionally some poor wight would attempt to have fun with the Court whereupon his fine would be doubled and the crowd would howl with delight.

Three circus performances were given in the arena where seats were provided for one thousand spectators, and a fourth performance was called for during the afternoon but could not be arranged.
The second act of the circus performance consisted of difficult acrobatic features
by the Crimson Champions, S. E. Goodwin, C. F. Evans, W. Bennett, W. A.
Boughton, and Walter Forbush and this interesting quintet of Harvard athletes greatly entertained the audience. In the afternoon and evening after the arena had been cleared of the crowds attending the circus performance, the seats were immediately filled to their utmost capacity for the vaudeville show. The most fascinating feature of this performance was a Country Dance given by Misses Marguerite Nelson, Margaret Well, Hope Parks, Elizabeth Stiles, Alice Smith, Winifred Rand and Connie Richardson, with Miss Lillian Harrington as the village belle, contributing a most graceful and attractive solo dance.
Another feature of the show was the comedy troubadours, Mr. Bullock, Mr.
Shannon, Mr. Vinal, Mr. Cook, Mr.
Blood, Mr. Merrill, Mr. Farwell, Mr.
Buckley, Mr. Miner, Mr. White, Mr.
Mitchell and Mr. Sias in grotesque costumes, who could do many amusing things as well as sing, the solo by Mr.
Sias being especially well received. Two professional German comedians convulsed the audience with a tangled dialogue, and another professional act furnished some excellent club swinging and juggling.

In the evening the circus grounds were resplendent with illuminations. Stars and other elaborate patterns in electric lights glimmered everywhere, and festoons of Japanese lanterns gave mellow tones to the hunting and decorations.
Mr. William H. Colgan was in charge of the electric lighting.

The Executive Committee in charge of the County Circus consisted of the following members of the association—
Mrs. Frank A. Mason (chairman), Mrs.
E. Ray Spear, Mrs. John H. Sanborn,
Mrs. Edward B. Bowen, Mrs. Edward
C. Sands and Mrs. Samuel A. Shannon.

The officials of the day were—Alfred E. Alvord, Edward B. Bowen, L. Loring Brooks, Frederic F. Cutler, Homer
A. Ely, Walter S. Fitz, William M.
Flanders, George L. Forristall, Edward K. Hall, Frank A. Mason, Col. Walter
L. Sanborn, Edward C. Sands, E. Ray
Spear, Col. James G. White and Lewis
R. Spear.

Police Paragraphs

Saturday morning three automobilists, two of whom are residents of other states than Massachusetts, were convicted of speeding their machines faster than the legal rate in different parts of this city. Fines aggregating $35 were imposed.

Frank Brosseau, 26 Harrison street, Providence, pleaded not guilty to making 31.03 miles an hour on Washington street. He was found guilty and paid $10.

Thomas L. Cheney, South Manchester Conn., was charged with making 31.03
miles an hour on a course where the limit was 20 miles. He was represented by counsel. He was found guilty and fined $10.

Julius C. Kennedy 483 Columbus avenue, pleaded guilty to making 33.33 miles an hour on Boylston street near Parker, after assistant Justice Copeland stated that a plea of nolo would not be allowed.
He was fined $15. He paid.

Memorial Day

A pathetic note was touched in the Memorial day exercises yesterday of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., by the sudden death of its Past Commander George L. Keyes. Mr. Keyes had been driven to the Newton Cemetery to join his comrades in the exercises around the Soldier's Monument and on reaching his home on Walnut place, Newtonville, was stricken with heart trouble and died immediately.

In the morning details from the Post decorated the graves of former comrades in the various cemeteries of the city and at Mt. Auburn and Bedford. The usual service was held by the Post itself at St.
Mary's cemetery, Newton Lower Falls, assisted by Rev. E. H. Thresher of the M. E. church. The impressive services of honoring those who died at sea followed. The Post was drawn up in line on the banks of the Charles River in the park reservation at Lower Falls and the flowers were cast into the stream by details. Rev. Thomas L. Cole reading appropriate passages from the Scriptures.
The Post then proceeded to Newton Highlands where lunch was served in Lincoln hall.

The afternoon parade formed on the grounds of the Hyde School at 1.45 and moved thru Lincoln street being reviewed by Mayor Warren and the city government at Hartford street, thence thru Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery.
The procession moved in the following order:

Platoon of police under Lieut. Soule.
Chief Marshal and staff.
Swift's Band of Waltham.
Claffin Guard, Co. C. 5th Regiment.
Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R.
11th Co. Corps Coast Artillery.
Thos. Burnett Camp S. W. V.
J. Wiley Edmunds Camp S. of V.
Mrs. Cunningham Tent, D. of V.
City Government in carriages.

At the Cemetery unusually large crowds were gathered to witness the ceremonies. These were opened by Past Commander W. W. Montgomery and prayer was offered by Chaplain Putnam.
General orders for observance of the day were read by Past Commander W.
A. Wetherbee. Reports were then received from post details after which Past Commander Henry Haynie read Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Flowers were placed on the monument by the city government, the daughters of veterans and the members of the post. The beautiful salute to the dead, followed by taps on the bugle with an echo from a distant part of the cemetery, closed the exercises.

The procession was then reformed and marched thru Walnut street, being received by the Chief Marshal and staff at Cobot street to the post hall in the Masonic building.

An hour of sociability preceded the formal dinner which was served at five o'clock in Temple hall. Fully 250 sat down to the bountifully spread tables,
after grace had been said by the chaplain. Seated at the head table were Commander Montgomery, Chief Marshal Sanborn, Chief of Staff Edes, Mayor Warren, Hon. Seward W. Jones of the Governor's Council, Representative E. B. Bishop, Hon. G. D. Gilman, Rev. A. L. Hudson, Dr. F. E. Spaulding, ex-alderman G. H. Mellen, and Comrades R. E. Ashenden and Erastus Moulton.

The crowd was splendidly served by the young ladies from Tent 2, Daughters of Veterans.
After cigars had been lighted a potpourri of national airs by the band broke the ice for the more formal part of the banquet.

Commander Montgomery made an excellent presiding officer, first introducing Mayor Warren.

The mayor briefly extended the greetings of the city and then presented ex-alderman Mellen as a substitute.

Mr. Mellen said in part. No single fact of human history stands alone—every event is associated with every other event. The world advances because everything which has gone before paves it forward. We do not always recognize the strides the world is making in its onward march, just as you cannot mark the advance of the incoming tide in five minutes. Slavery, he declared, which was abolished by the Civil war was potentially abolished many years before in the birth and education of the men of the North. Continuing he said, George Washington was the Moses of this country appointed to lead it thru the Red Sea of revolution. Abraham Lincoln, was its Messiah in a new birth of freedom, and today we have in the White House
a worthy successor to both Washington and Lincoln. (Applause). Theodore Roosevelt, he declared, will not be best known to history because he caused the Panama canal to be dug, nor because he was the pacificator between Russia and Japan, nor because he curbed the trusts,
but because he gave everyone a "square deal." It is for every citizen to follow his lead and prove themselves worthy of his high ideals.

Lieut. Col. Sanborn spoke of the debt
the younger men owe the Grand Army, who so gloriously achieved the salvation of this nation. He said it was a great privilege to take part in the exercises of such an occasion.
Rev. Mr. Hudson said it was an impressive sight to witness 96 veterans marching thru our city streets. He believed the central thought of the day was education in patriotism. We need to learn what patriotism means. We lag behind in this country in religion and patriotism. The world has outgrown a religion of fear and a patriotism of the battlefield alone. We have buried prejudice and animosity and our former enemies are now our brothers. This is not a weak, sickly sentiment, it is because our victories in 1865 meant the uniting of the whole country that now unites by brotherhood. We have a generous patriotic friendship for the men of the South and all join to swell one grand chorus of universal liberty and common brotherhood.
Patriotism does not cease when the uniforms are laid aside and the drum is silent. The greatest victory you men have won has been during the past 40 years as you have quietly done your duty in times of peace. Mr. Hudson cited Mrs. Julia Ward Howe as a patriot thru her noble womanhood and declared that every man, woman and child, doing the single duties of everyday life were patriots. A reference made to the absence of the high school boys was greeted with intense applause by the audience.

Councillor Jones said he was proud to be an associate member of the Post and of a camp of Sons of Veterans, and expressed the wish that Memorial Day might always be observed with interest and enthusiasm.

Mrs. Frisbee of South Boston was in charge of the program and addresses were made by Miss Helen Rice, the national superintendent, and Mrs. Norton of Auburndale, the county superintendent. Basket lunch was served at noon and was followed by a ball game and other games. At the business session Miss Clara Bruce was elected secretary of Middlesex County. In the oratorical contest, Winchester and Arlington were represented but the medals went to Ruth Dearborn and Howard Young, both of West Newton.

—Mr. G. E. B. Putnam of Newton Centre will deliver his lecture "Jamaica Before and Since the Earthquake" at the Lincoln Park Baptist church next Monday evening at 8 p. m. Mr. Putnam has just returned from a third tour of that interesting tropical island, and will give the results of his note book and camera. Mr. Putnam's manner of personally conducting an audience is most entertaining, carrying the spectators from one end of the island to the other, showing on the screen all the principal points of interest including many of the scenes not usually brought to the attention of the average tourist. This lecture is given by the Men's Club and is free to the public.

High School Notes

Newton defeated Waltham last Friday at the Bicycle Park, Waltham, by the score of 1 to 0. In the second inning Desmond was hit by a pitched ball and O'Neil ran for him, making third by careful base running and then scoring on a fly to left field. This was the only run of the game, which proved to be one of the most interesting this year. Over 600 people witnessed the game.

This Sweet Memorial Day

By STEPHEN RICH.

(Late Captain 32nd Mass. Vols., Gloucester)

Today brings memories of the past
When valiant men and true,
A bulwark stood in Freedom's cause
In serried ranks of blue.
Today our stately Emblem floats
Throughout our cherished land
From East to West in North and South
Even to the Rio Grand.

Float they today on battle fields
O'er mounds ranged side by side
Where once the deadly volleys crashed
And flowed the crimson tide.
Some rest in lonely sepulchres
Beside the river's flow, Rest some upon the Ocean's bed
In its still depths below.

And some who've strayed from those They loved
In distant climes to roam,
Now lie beneath the sighing palms
Far from the scenes of home.

Sleep some beside the winding paths
In cemeteries where
The floral tributes of today
Are laid with loving care.

Today resounds the roll of drums
Shrill fife and bugles too,
Again is heard the martial tread
Of veterans in blue.
March they again where duty calls,
With flowers choice and rare,
The cynosure of Multitudes
That throng the Thoroughfare.

Some have their dead where sweet and soon
The summers come and go,
And some beneath the southern skies
Where Orange blossoms blow,
There 'mid the bloom and foliage
The song-birds pipe their lay
In unison with peans sung
This sweet Memorial day.

Gloucester, May 1907.

STEPHEN RICH,

Memorial Sunday

Memorial services for members of the Grand Army and kindred organizations in this city took place Sunday morning in the Church of the Messiah, Auburn-dale, there being a large congregation. The sermon was preached by Rev. John Matteson, the pastor. Assembling at Grand Army hall, Newtonville, the members of Charles Ward post 62, William W. Montgomery, commander, went to the church in a body. Members of Wiley Edmunds camp 31, S. of V., Edward F. Stevens, commander, and of Mrs. A. E. Cunningham tent 2, Daughters of Veterans, Miss Katherine R. A. Flood, president, also attended the services.

Seventeenth Annual Sale

The seventeenth annual sale for the Newton Vacation Week will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 5th, from 2 to 6. Last year through this agency, ten tired women were given vacation rest, in periods varying from a week to a month. Twelve groups of women and children, embracing eighty people enjoyed days' outings, either at seashore or park. A hundred electric rides were given to those who could not spare time for longer recreation, and three, old people had a month's rest at home. The ladies at our Old People's Home were made happy by the receipt of the proceeds of the table furnished by their own busy fingers. Donations were sent to Beachmont Seashore Institute, Sharon Farm, Princeton Home, and the Y. M. C. A. Camp, each of which places afforded pleasant holiday rest to some of our tired out working people. Such, in brief, has been the work of the past year. Could any investment be made of the two hundred and fifty dollars expended, that would yield more of solid enjoyment to numbers of our own worthy townspeople whose means for recreation are small and their needs great? The patronage is solicited of anyone who would like to aid in giving to invalid mothers, worn-out working girls, or sick children in our midst a taste of summer brightness.

Donations or contributions to the Useful and Fancy Tables of the sale, may be sent to Miss Spear, 89 Walnut park, Newton, before June 3rd, and of cake, confectionery, and flowers, of which a liberal supply is asked, to the Y. M. C. A. rooms, on the morning of the sale.

Y. M. C. A.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., held last week the following new officers were elected: Mrs. L. E. Moore, president; Mrs. E. J. H. Estabrooks and Miss Mary L. Spear, vice presidents; Mrs. Harry W. Savage, secretary; Miss Annie F. Norris, treasurer.

"HOLD THE FORT"

Newton Man Signalled This Famous Message

Much has been said and written about the famous dispatch sent by General W. T. Sherman to General Corse at the battle of Allatoona Pass, Ga., October 4-6, 1864.

Whatever has been published has never included the name and deeds of the man who, as a member of the signal corps attached to the headquarters of General Sherman, personally sent the dispatch.

The substance of this story was taken from the lips of James A. Graham, the man referred to, who vouches for the truth of the statement and is confirmed in his claim by his Grand Army comrades. Mr. Graham is a member of the Charles Ward Post, 62, Grand Army of the Republic, Newton, Mass.

Mr. Graham enlisted in the Sixteenth Massachusetts Regiment, July 2, 1861. He was but sixteen years and five months old, one of the many "boy soldiers" who helped to make up the Union army. He was transferred to the signal corps, on detached service, in December 1861.

His first experience in battle was in the action between the "Congress" and "Cumberland" and the Confederate iron-clad "Merrimac" at Newport News, Va., on March 8, 1862. He helped rescue the crew of the "Congress" while the "Merrimac" was firing hot shot at her in order to set her on fire. He witnessed the fight between the "Monitor" and "Merrimac."

The following May, Norfolk was evacuated by the Confederates, and in order to escape capture the "Merrimac" was blown up. It so happened that President Lincoln was visiting Fortress Monroe at time. About five o'clock on that May morning he came to the signal station where Graham was on duty and asked what was the news. Mr. Graham relates that he told him that a few hours earlier that morning he had seen a flash and heard a loud report from the direction of Norfolk, and he said, "Mr. President, I think that means that the 'Merrimac' is blown up."

Mr. Lincoln asked him to hasten to the wharf and see if he could get confirmation of his supposition. Thus Graham came to be the first to announce the destruction of the "Merrimac" to President Lincoln.

It was most interesting to hear Mr. Graham speak of the President as seen on that May morning and at another time. He described his appearance and address. He always spoke to the soldiers in a very kind and polite way, as, "Well, gentlemen, what is the news this morning?" And he asked many questions concerning the fleet in the harbor, questions Graham could answer, for he was in touch, not only with Fortress Monroe, but with Newport News, through the signal service corps to which he had been detailed.

In the autumn of 1862, Graham was assigned to the Army of the Cumberland, and he figured in all the engagements of that division. In connection with this assignment comes the story of his participation in the famous dispatch, "Hold the fort!"

General Corse was guarding at Allatoona Pass the million rations stored there for Sherman's army, to be used in his contemplated "march to the sea." The Confederates attacked Corse with great energy and a fierce fight followed. When the issue of the battle seemed somewhat uncertain, General Sherman saw that something must be done to encourage Corse to hold on until help should arrive. He came to the signal station, where Graham was in charge, and asked him for pencil and paper. This Graham produced, handing the General his own pencil.

Then General Sherman wrote the famous dispatch, giving it to young Graham to transmit to the Pass. He immediately wiggled it from headquarters at Ruff's Mills to another signal station on Kenesaw Mountain, and so it was sent on to the Pass. The dispatch read, "Hold the fort! I am sending reinforcements."

Back came the answer from Corse (Graham receiving it) assuring Sherman that he would withstand all attacks until help arrived. The victory was won. The enemy was repulsed, after seventeen hundred of the Confederates had fallen, Sherman's precious rations were saved, and the famous march to the sea made possible.

This is the true story of the famous dispatch. A soldier on Kenesaw Mountain, on the day and date of its sending (A. D. Frankenherry of Point Marion, Pa.), confirms the above statement in the recent letter to Mr. Graham which the writer of this paper has seen.

Quite an interesting incident connected with the sending of this dispatch is added by Mr. Graham. Whenever General Sherman wished to write a dispatch he seemed to forget that he had a pencil in his pocket, but would always borrow one, and promptly put it in his pocket. He never remembered to return a pencil. On this occasion he borrowed Graham's pencil, as usual, and after using it conveyed it to his own pocket. Being teased by Graham for pocketing his (and other) pencils, General Sherman good-naturedly replied, "We all have our faults, and that is one of my bad ones."

Mr. Graham was in the Union Army four years and four months, receiving his discharge September 2, 1865. His discharge gives him this character: "Prompt and faithful in the discharge of all duties assigned him—a good soldier." He was in fifteen fiercely fought battles and thirty-five engagements, that is, running fights, where he thinks, the Confederates did most of the running. Although experiencing many hairbreadth escapes yet he was never seriously wounded—a remarkable record.

The song of P. P. Bliss, the gospel song writer, entitled, "Hold the Fort," greatly aided in extending the fame of this dispatch, and stimulated the fidelity of the soldiers of the cross. This song was very popular in the Moody and Sankey meetings in the early seventies, and became almost as popular in England as in America.

Mr. Bliss succeeded in retaining a marching rhythm in this song, as also the military terminology. This is seen in the following stanza:

"Ho, my comrades, see the signal,
Waving in the sky,
Reinforcements now appearing,
Victory is nigh!
'Hold the fort, for I am coming!'
Jesus signals still:
Wave the answer back to heaven,
'By thy grace we will!'"

The song was No. 1 in at least one of the English editions of the "Gospel Hymns," "Sacred Songs and Solos," and was the appropriate introduction to a type of religious song hitherto unknown in Great Britain. But of the millions who sang it, scarcely one on that side of the Atlantic, and very few on this, have ever known the story of its origin.

Y. M. C. A. OUTDOOR GAMES

Fifth Annual Meet Will be Held at Riverside on June 15

The fifth annual outdoor games of the Massachusetts and Rhode Island Y. M. C. A. will be held Saturday, June 15, at the Riverside Recreation Grounds, Riverside. The committee has arranged a programme that includes a meet for boys, tennis championships, both in singles and doubles, the teams representing the Y. M. C. A. of the two States, a ball game between the Newton Y. M. C. A. and another Y. M. C. A. team, band concerts and water sports.

The handicap events will be as follows: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, half-mile run, one-mile run, 880-yard run, running broad jump, running high jump, 12-pound shot-put, mile team relay. Entries will close June 7, with L. F. LaRose, Newton Y. M. C. A. Cups will be given for the first, second and third in each event, excepting in the relay race. The winning relay team will be given a large display cup. The water sports will consist of the following: 50-yard swim for boys, 50-yard swim for men, swim under water, canoe-tilling match, 100-yard canoe singles, 220-yard canoe doubles.

The committee has arranged the boys' games as follows: Class A—50-yard dash, 220-yard dash, broad jump, 880-yard relay race. Class B—100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, high jump, 880-yard relay race.

New Manufacturing

While Newton is not considered as a manufacturing location yet it is a well known fact that in certain sections, we have a number of industries which are much needed and appreciated as furnishing employment to our citizens and adding to the tax list in a very satisfactory manner to the benefit of the whole.

Provided we can assimilate manufacturing in such ways as to still retain our prestige as a residential section of the higher class, it is to our advantage and we welcome the addition of a well known concern operated by a Newton man, Mr. Edward R. Metcalf, which has located on the Nonantum Worsted Mill property. This is the Knowlton Packing Company formerly located in South Boston and now through the efforts of Mr. W. V. Stall, President and Manager of the factory exchange of Boston placed in the number one mill for a term of years. Mr. Stall placed the Martin Piano Company on this same property about three years ago and the latter concern employs several hundred men of a high grade who make quite an acceptable addition to our citizens.

Everybody should see the beautiful display of new Gas and Electric Table Lamps, with new Amboy Art Glass, as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin, corner Congress St., Boston.

These lamps make beautiful sea-shore adornments and Wedding Gifts.

THEATRES

Orpheum Theatre.—Pauline, an eminent French hypnotist and purveyor of the occult, will be the big headline attraction at Percy Williams' Orpheum for the week beginning June 3. He will give demonstrations of his skill as a mind reader and as a hypnotist, giving an exhibition such as never before seen in Boston. While Dr. Pauline's demonstrations are in a nature scientific, psychology's funhouse is tickled by the scientist and his audiences find much to amuse them as well as to startle. The bill surrounding Pauline is one of unusual strength. Ye Colonial Septette, the most ambitious musical production ever made for vaudeville, is the big musical novelty on the bill. Welsh, Healey, and Hontrose, a troupe of novelty acrobats, will also appear. Other features on the bill are Lisle Leigh and Company who will be seen in a one act dramatic playlet "Kiddie Nani," a miniature drama of intense interest, "Happy Jack" Gardner, a black-face comedian of unusual worth; Barry and Halvers who appear in a comedy singing and dancing act; Reiffe Brothers, the nearest dancing act on the variety stage; Lawson and Nanton who will appear in a novelty bicycle and bag punching act. New moving pictures by the Kinetograph will complete the entertainment.

Keith's Theatre.—Another seasonable bill, full of bright, lively features, will be in evidence at Keith's next week. The most important event will be the farewell to the Boston vaudeville stage of those sterling entertainers, Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne. For their final appearances in the house where they have won so many triumphs "The New Depot," possibly the best and most characteristic of all Mr. Cressy's sketches, has been selected. The original Pony Ballet whose capital dancing act has been the chief feature of several musical comedies since they first came to this country and who recently finished a most successful engagement with "His Honor the Mayor," will surely prove a most attractive feature. It will be a pleasure for the Keithites to welcome Howard and North, for their conversational skit, "Those Were Happy Days," is easily the best thing in its line. Zeno, Jordan and Zeno have a very novel aerial act with a comedy element that is furnished by a female acrobat. An act that has scored very strongly in New York is McKenzie and Shannon's vocal sketch. This will be its first hearing in Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Allison in their droll character comedietta, "Minnie from Minnesota"; Elsie Faye and Bissett and Miller, in an attractive dancing act; the Martin Brothers, expert xylophonists; Dora Ronca, the Gipsy violinist; Irvin R. Walton, formerly a popular Boston stock company player, in a bright monologue; Gladys Clark, Bergman and Mahoney, also well known locally, in a sketch, Chick, a clever trick cyclist, and the Kinetograph, will complete the program.

Tremont Theatre.—Richard Carle, one of the conspicuous figures in the musical comedy field, will present a new play at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, next Monday night. It's title is "The Hurdy Gurdy Girl." H. L. Heartz who collaborated with Mr. Carle in "The Tenderfoot" has written the music. The story has a distinctly serious turn and while there is promised an abundant element of comedy the climaxes will be those of the drama. The three acts show Long-acre Square, New York City, a summer at Larchmont and the ballroom of a Fifth Avenue Palace. Mr. Carle took a long time in selecting his cast and will present this company; May Boley, Jacques Kruger, Henry Norman, Mrs. Annie Yeamans, Mae Botti, Walter Lawrence, Harry Stone, John E. Hazard, Adele Rowland, The Constantine Sisters, Sylvian Langlois, Arthur Conrad and Tony Sullivan. The chorus of "The Spring Chicken," an admirably trained organization, will be transferred to the new show. This is Mr. Carle's first important venture in which he has written no part for himself. Instead he has tried to divide the honors evenly and has so constructed his play that everybody will have a chance to make good.

Colonial Theatre.—It is good news to the theatre-going public of New England that arrangements have just been completed by which it will not be necessary for "The Time, The Place and The Girl" to leave Boston upon the conclusion of the original limit of the engagement as booked at the Tremont Theatre next Saturday night. When the sparkling musical comedy from Chicago first came here nobody thought that under any circumstances would it be necessary for the piece to stay here more than four weeks. Arrangements have been completed by which the transfer to the Colonial will be made immediately after the close of the original run of "The Time, The Place and The Girl." There will be no loss of performances and no interruption of the regular season of the play, the only difference being that it will be presented upon the stage of the Colonial Theatre instead of at the spot where it has been so greatly enjoyed for the last three weeks and more. Arthur Deacon, as the young gambler, Georgia Drew Mendum, as the pretty transferred nurse, Violet McMillen, Harriet Burt and all the other favorites of the cast and every one of the brothers will make the transfer and the piece will go more auspiciously than ever. Remember that the time will be any evening after next Monday, the place—the Colonial Theatre, and the girl—one of the charming creatures who have proved the delight of Boston for the past four weeks, and who should now stay on for the whole summer.

Globe Theatre—Never before in the history of Boston stock companies has a play been attended by such large audiences as has been the case with "The Darling of the Gods" which John Craig and his company have been playing so splendidly this past week. From the very day the first announcement was made that this wonderfully magnificent play of old Japan was to be produced at the Globe Theatre the sale of seats began with a rush and all this week more people have besieged the box office than possibly could be accommodated. By Wednesday it was evident that the play must be continued a second week and even with that announcement the sale of seats was nearly as large as for the first week. Consequently "The Darling of the Gods" will continue to be the attraction at the Globe throughout this coming week. Thursday June 6 promises to be an unusual occasion at the Globe for it will mark the 500th performance of the John Craig stock company, and the event will be commemorated by the distribution of souvenirs.

Park Theatre—Miss Lillian Lawrence and her company are crowding the Park Theatre "In The Bishop's Carriage." Beginning next Monday night "The Gay Lord Quex" by Arthur W. Pinero will inaugurate a week's run. This delightful comedy was produced in London by Mr. John Hare some ten years ago and had a most popular vogue. During Miss Lawrence's engagement in Boston last summer she put it on for one week and played to capacity audiences at every performance. Consequently it is not difficult to understand why this play was selected by a large majority of theatre-goers when Miss Lawrence made the fact known that she would produce whatever play was asked for by the majority of those participating. At the matinee performance on Tuesday June 4th beautiful pocket mirrors with an excellent photograph of Miss Lawrence on the reverse side will be given as souvenirs to all the ladies in attendance. The regular matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday will be given.

The Boston Biennial

While June, 1908, at present seems a long way off, yet every club woman who has ever attended a Biennial Convention of the General Federation knows that a great amount of work is involved in the preparations. The Massachusetts club women are not to be behind their enterprising sisters of the West and even at this early date plans are well in hand. As many have already heard the Ninth Biennial will be held in Boston during the week beginning June 22, 1908. Symphony Hall has been secured for the meetings with Chickering Hall, the rooms of the Emerson Club of Oratory, and the Woman's Club House as accessories. The Committee on Hotels has arranged for the Vendome as headquarters and has recently sent out a list of others in the immediate vicinity. Applications have begun to come in.

These Newton women have been appointed on committees: Mrs. F. E. Anderson, Newton Centre, Conveniences; Mrs. H. H. Carter, Newtonville, Hospitality; Mrs. Anna L. Bailey, Newton, chairman Committee on Hotels, also Mrs. Nellie E. Daggett; Mrs. Adelaide M. Goding, Registration; Mrs. Reita W. Wetherbee, Tickets.

Real Estate

Wm. H. Rand has sold the Joseph Howe estate numbered 1221 Washington street, West Newton, to Mrs. Anna Dubois of West Newton. The property consists of a brick house with about 20,000 square feet of land and is known by the old residents as the William Flagg estate.

The same broker has sold for Dr. Wm. Draper of Malden the house numbered 14 Highland Park, Newtonville. The estate consists of an attractive 10 room house with 3,000 square feet of land, the whole being assessed on a valuation of $4200. The purchaser's name will be given at an early date, he having bought for occupancy.

The same broker has sold for George H. Haynes his estate numbered 11 Eden avenue, West Newton. The property consists of a modern house with about 9,000 feet of land. Mr. Frank Stearns of Auburndale is the purchaser and will occupy as soon as he recovers from his illness.

The same broker reports the signing of agreements for the sale of the estate numbered 43 Warwick road belonging to the American Missionary Society. The estate consists of a 9 room house with 5,000 feet of land. The purchaser's name will be given when final papers are passed.

Through the office of John T. Burns, 363 Centre street, Newton, agreements have been signed for the sale of the estate situated at 11 Gramscree street, Newton, Mass. Mrs. Lydia P. Eaton of Malden is the grantor and Mr. Harry D. Smith of Newton the purchaser. The property consists of a 9 room house and 7197 square feet of land the whole being assessed for $6100. This estate is situated in the Hunnewell Hill district of Newton. Mr. Smith has purchased for a home and is now occupying the house.

Through the above office Mr. R. Ford has leased his house, 273 Tremont street, Newton, to Mr. W. H. Walley of Boston. Also the house in rear of 200 Church street has been rented to Mr. G. Williamson of Newton and the suite at 13 Maple street to Mr. J. Conant of Somerville.

Henry H. Read has leased Mr. D. E. Harlow's house situated No. 77 Lakewood road, Newton Highlands, to Mr. John Ross Bates, who moves from Allston.

ITS 11TH ANNIVERSARY

Over 1000 Guests at Norumbega Park Celebration

Although there was a tinge of winter in the air and frost nipped the early garden truck in neighboring farms, another summer season was officially ushered in here Tuesday night, when 1000 guests attended a private opening of Norumbega park at Auburndale.

Town officials from Middlesex and Norfolk county townships, well known steam and street railway men and a host of other guests who responded to the invitations were royally entertained. An inspection of the grounds, luncheon in the restaurant and a rattling performance in the pretty open air theatre were among the principal features of the evening's program. The evening marked the 11th anniversary of the park.

Guests began to arrive shortly after 6, many coming in special cars from the 22 cities and towns traversed by lines of the Newton street railway system. For an hour there was an inspection of the grounds, which have been considerably enlarged and beautified since the park was closed last autumn. A feature which aroused much favorable comment was the new river court, an acre of reclaimed land bordering the Charles river and providing a novel and beautiful promenade. Here the patrons will be given an admirable opportunity of watching the canoeists on the placid stream for a distance of a mile or more.

In the warmest weather the court will doubtless be the coolest spot in this vicinity, as it will surely be swept by breezes from almost any direction.

In the zoo the visitors saw many new animals. Notable among these was the baby buffalo, son of Mountain Chief, said to be the largest buffalo in captivity. Mountain Chief has for a number of years been a permanent inmate of the park's zoo, but this season he will be obliged to share honors with his little five-weeks old son.

Then there was a new Cuban bear, baby wolver from Cuba, peccary, beaver, two black apes and a little three-weeks' old monkey, hardly more than six inches overall, besides numerous other additions to the already large zoo.

Luncheon was served at 7, Manager Carl Alberte and Gen. Supt. Matthew C. Brush looking well after the interests of their many guests.

Mr. B. W. Hackett and family are moving this week into the Butler house on Vista avenue.

Good progress is being made on the two apartment house Mr. W. S. Fuller is having built on Commonwealth avenue. The roof is on and the exterior is nearly completed.

C. A. Headbrook of 297 Webster street and F. E. Aolson of 85 Crescent street, both jumped from the 3:15 outward train on the main line of the New York Central RR opposite the Auburndale station Friday afternoon. They each sustained severe injuries to their heads and arms and were removed to their homes.

An interesting Marathon race for the small boys of the village was run off yesterday morning with 35 entries. The course was from Camden road, thru Auburndale avenue, Lexington st. and Commonwealth avenue to the Weston bridge. The first prize was won by Kenneth Keyes, second by Arthur Hanlon, and the time prize by John Hanlon. In addition every boy who finished was remembered some way. Alderman Lyons was the starter and judge.

Captain Nash is best known to this city as the postmaster of Newton Highlands for many years prior to the consolidation and serving as clerk in charge of the office until about one year ago, when he resigned after 18 years of service.

He is survived by a widow and two sons, Walter H. Nash of Newton and New York and Arthur Nash of Chicago.
